Carriers Feeling Cheery About On-Time Holiday Deliveries

By David Sharp,
Associated Press

The nation's major shipping companies are in the best shape to get holiday shoppers' packages delivered on time since the start of the pandemic, suggesting a return to normalcy.

Carriers like the U.S. Postal Service, FedEx and United Parcel Service project to have enough capacity after struggling under the holiday crush for the past two years, when many people hunkered down at

DEMOCRAT WILL ROLLINS CONCEDES ELECTION FOR 41ST CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Democrat Will Rollins has conceded to Republican Ken Calvert in the race for the 41st Congressional District, and called his opponent to congratulate him.

ROLLINS said in a statement released Monday on social media that, "we are in a moment of uncertainty, because America is divided. And there are a lot of people out there who benefit -- financially, militarily, politically -- when Americans turn against one another."

Rollins was trailing Calvert by 10,364 votes with 98% of precincts reporting in the district as of Monday. Calvert had 52% of the vote to 48% for Rollins.

Rollins said in a Twitter post he called Calvert to offer his congratulations.

"I had hoped for a different result, but I respect our democratic system and am sure that our fine election workers did their jobs honestly and responsibly, and I accept the count. Thank you to the hundreds of thousands of you who voted," Rollins said.

Rollins led by more than 10,000 votes when results were released on election night. But Calvert slowly chipped away at Rollins' lead and declared victory on Nov. 15.

"This election demonstrated that Riverside County voters are more interested in people serious about solving our challenges, than personal politics. In the end, it's clear that voters sent a strong message rejecting the gutter politics of lies and personal attacks from an out-of-town extremist liberal," Calvert said.

Calvert has represented parts of Riverside County in Congress since 1993, previously for the 44th, 43rd and 42nd districts before it was reconfigured for the 2022 election.

Gas Prices Continue Holiday Season Decreases

RIVERSIDE (CNS) -

The average price of a gallon of self-serve regular gasoline in Riverside County recorded its largest decrease since Oct. 20 Tuesday, dropping 6.2 cents to $5.137, its lowest amount since Sept. 2.

THE average price has dropped 45 times in 48 days since rising to a record $6.373 on Oct. 5, decreasing $1.236, including 1.4 cents Monday, according to figures from the AAA and the Oil Price Information Service.

It is 21.3 cents less than one week ago and 53.8 cents lower than one month ago, but 51.1 cents more than one year ago.

The national average price dropped for the 13th consecutive day, decreasing 2.6 cents to $3.636. It is 12.3 cents less than one week ago and 16.7 cents lower than one month ago, but 22.7 cents more than one year ago.

The national average price has dropped 16.9 cents over the past 13 days, including nine-tenths of a cent Monday. It is $1.38 lower than the record $5.016 set June 14.

California gas prices are customarily substantially higher than the national average because the state has the highest gas taxes in the nation, along with refinery cap and trade fees, higher general cost of living, a shrinking number of refineries producing gasoline, and the high cost of importing gasoline to the state when the state's refineries can't produce enough gas due to breakdowns, Marie Montgomery, a public relations specialist with the Automobile Club of Southern California told City News Service.

Health Officials: 4-Year-Old Child Dies From RSV-Associated Illness

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Riverside University Health System Public Health announced today that a 4-year-old child from eastern Riverside County died from an illness possibly linked to respiratory syncytial virus.

THE loss of a child is devastating, and all of Public Health sends its heartfelt condolences to the family, loved ones and anyone impacted by this tragic event," Riverside County Public Health Officer Dr. Geoffrey Leung said.

The child's identity and city of residence will not be released, RUHS health officials said.

As officials observe an increase in influenza and RSV in young children, various precautions can help prevent the spread.

Leung recommends parents and their children practice frequently washing hands, covering coughs and sneezes, keeping sick children home, indoor masking, and disinfecting surfaces.

RUHS health officials said parents who are concerned about their child's risk of a severe RSV infection can speak to a healthcare provider about receiving a medicine called palivizumab, which is typically given to premature infants and young children with heart and lung conditions.

RSV season started slightly sooner this year and is expected to last through March, according to RUHS health officials. Though it causes mild, cold-like symptoms, it can be serious for infants and older adults in the winter.

It is spread through coughs, sneezes and direct contact with an infected surface or with someone who has RSV, RUHS health officials said. Contagiousness can last for up to eight days and could begin two days before symptoms start.

Symptoms include shallow or difficulty breathing, coughing, poor appetite, and listlessness or irritability. Additionally, it can cause bronchiolitis and pneumonia.

Riverside County Sees Increase in COVID Hospitalizations

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - The number of people hospitalized with a coronavirus infection in Riverside County has risen to 119, an increase of 10 over the previous day, according to the latest state data released today.

Of those patients, nine were being treated in intensive care, down from 12 the previous day.

The number of statewide COVID-positive patients increased by 98 to 2,581.

About one month ago, 65 people were hospitalized throughout the county with a COVID infection, five of whom were ICU patients, according to the Riverside University Health System.

County health officials said last week that the aggregate number of COVID cases recorded since the pandemic began in March 2020 is 702,343, with 6,686 deaths.

The county updates its COVID data on Thursdays but did not do so this week because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Christmas Celebration Set for County's Foster Care Youth

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - A Christmas celebration will be held Dec. 3 for about 1,000 of Riverside County youths in foster care who will receive meals and gifts and participate in a variety of activities.

THE second annual "Winter Wonderland" event at Harvest Christian Fellowship conducted by the Riverside County Office of Education will include ice skating, a musical light show, a sledding hill containing real snow, carnival games, gift giveaways, photos with Santa Claus, food booths and related activities. "This event represents an opportunity to wrap our community's collective arms around students who are deserving of positive reinforcement, loving kindness and a fresh reminder of the importance of hope for the future," Superintendent of Schools Edwin Gomez said.

Candyland Christmas Parade Comes to Hemet

HEMET - Candy canes, sugars, plums, gingerbread and other Christmas sweets will be featured in the Hemet Candyland Christmas Parade in early December.

The event is scheduled for 5 p.m. on Dec. 3, beginning at the intersection of Florida Avenue and Gilbert Street. It will run west to east, covering roughly 1 1/2 miles, ending at Florida and Santa Fe Street.

The nighttime parade will showcase floats celebrating the festive atmosphere of the holiday.

Following the parade, festivities will continue in Weston Park, at Florida and Taylor Street, where there will be winter-themed activities, including hot cocoa, pictures with Santa Claus and other family-oriented fare.

speeders and other traffic violators.

The MEP will conclude on Sunday night.

"As with every holiday, the CHP will work to keep motorists safe as they travel to gatherings with friends and family," Commissioner Amanda Ray said Monday. "Our officers will be on patrol to take enforcement action as necessary and to provide assistance to motorists who are stranded or in need of help on the side of the road."

"Enjoy your Thanksgiving festivities, but please celebrate responsibly, wear your seatbelt and always designate a sober, non-drinking driver," she said.

Officers from the Riverside, Blythe, Beaumont, Indio and Temecula CHP stations will be on inland freeways, highways and unincorporated roads, looking to snare scofflaws.

During last year's Thanksgiving maximum enforcement campaign, the CHP arrested 1,033 people statewide on suspicion of driving under the influence, compared to 868 arrests during the previous Thanksgiving holiday period -- a 19% increase.

A total of 42 people died in collisions and other incidents on roads and highways under the CHP's jurisdiction over Thanksgiving weekend 2021. The fatalities included 16 pedestrians and one bicyclist, the agency said.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, half of the vehicle passengers killed in collisions nationwide during the Thanksgiving holiday period in 2020 -- the latest year for which data was available -- were not wearing seatbelts.

The 41st District includes several Coachella Valley cities -- Palm Springs, Rancho Mirage, La Quinta, Palm Desert and Indian Wells -- along with Corona, Menifee and Norco in western Riverside County.

The district is nearly split evenly between registered Democrats and Republicans, and non-party voters make up about 20% of the eligible voters.

home and turned to online shopping.

The system is already being put to the test ahead of big shopping days on Black Friday and Cyber Monday, when retailers entice shoppers with bargains. Amazon held a second Prime Day in October to jumpstart early holiday sales, but some shoppers are still holding out for deals in the coming days.

Brie Carere, chief customer care officer at FedEx, told The Associated Press she's not worried: "The network is running the best that it has since COVID. We're confident and ready."

There are several factors at play: Consumers have gotten an early start, done more shopping in stores and moderated spending because of inflationary pressures, thus reducing shipping volume and spreading out shipments over a longer period. An extra shipping day between Thanksgiving and Christmas helps, too.

The outlook could be a win for carriers who need fewer temporary workers, retailers who face fewer peak surcharges, and shoppers whose gifts are more likely to be delivered on time, said Satish Jindel, president of Pennsylvania-based ShipMatrix.

The overall optimism represents a sharp contrast to holiday seasons in 2020 and 2021 when more everyday items were shipped during the pandemic, supply chain problems were a concern, and shipping companies struggled to keep up.

Carriers that reached their capacity limit dumped their excess parcels on the struggling U.S. Postal Service in 2020, when more than a third of Postal Service first-class mail was late by the time Christmas arrived. Back then, the Postal Service battled through despite thousands of quarantined workers.

Performance improved last year. And Postmaster General Louis DeJoy said the situation is even better now, with the installation of 137 new package-sorting machines ahead of the holiday season, bringing the total to 249 additional package-processing machines since March 2021.

That boosts the Postal Service's daily package processing ability to 60 million, and staffing improvements allowed the Postal Service to reduce seasonal hiring by half.

"Our customers and the American people should feel confident in the service we will provide for the holiday season," he said.

All told, shipping companies are projected to have excess capacity of 10 million to 20 million parcels beyond what's needed each day at peak shipping time, providing a buffer and lowering peak surcharges, Jindel said.

And they continue to line up extra workers to help with peak demand. Amazon, which operates its own fleet of delivery vehicles, said it's once again hiring 150,000 employees for full-time, part-time and seasonal roles in the United States. United Parcel Service planned to hire upward of 100,000 seasonal workers to get over the hump while stressing that it's still a good idea to avoid waiting to the last minute.

"Shopping, buying and shipping early continue to be important to avoid the busiest times of peak season," said UPS spokesperson Jim Mayer.

CONNOR COOKS

Ground Turkey Fried Rice

I have been trying to cut down on my red meat consumption overall. Ground turkey is a great alternative to ground beef. So I have been experimenting with how I can use ground turkey in nontraditional ways. I love a good turkey burger, but I also love to vary my meals as much as I can. And for this meal, I had one day old white rice in my refrigerator, and a 1.5 lb of ground turkey that I needed to use. And thus was born, ground turkey fried rice. Let's make some easy fried rice.

Ingredients

- 1.5 lb ground turkey (or leftover thanksgiving turkey)
- 4 cups 1 day old cooked rice
- 1 small white onion, diced
- 1 egg
- ¼ cup green onion, chopped
- 1.5 tbsp soy salt
- 1 tsp salt

- 1 tbsp sesame oil, split To Make

Heat a pan on high. Add half the sesame oil into a pan until shimmering. Add ground turkey. With a spatula pat flat. Let cook undisturbed for 4 minutes. Add ½ tbsp of soy sauce all over the turkey. Chop with spatula. When there is no more pink, pull the turkey out of the pan a set aside. (For leftover thanksgiving turkey- Cut into desired size, sear in a pan with sesame oil for 2 minutes before adding the soy sauce and removing from the pan). Carefully pat dry pan and add the rest of the sesame oil. Add onion and cook until translucent. Crack the egg in the pan over the onion and scramble with your spatula. Add in the rice and cook for a couple of minutes. Add in the ground turkey back in. Add the rest of the soy sauce. Mix. Finish with green onion and EAT!

Why

You Should Step Up Your Self-Care Game During the Holiday Season

While the holiday season is full of fun, festivities and meaningful time spent with family and friends, it's often accompanied by work and school deadlines, tedious to-do lists and shopping stress.

HERE are a few reasons to step up your self-care routine during this busy period so you can usher in the new year, happily and healthily:

CATCH SOME Z'S

The holidays come on the heels of the end of Daylight Saving Time, and your body may still be adjusting to the time change. Plus, with all the commitments of the season, you may be more likely to be pulling early mornings and late nights. These factors combined could be leaving you feeling drowsy during the day. Even more concerning, lack of sleep over time can contribute to a number of chronic health issues. Set yourself up for greater alertness and better health this winter by carving out time for sufficient, high-quality sleep. Having trouble nodding off? Check out sleep aid apps that offer soundtracks, guided meditation and breathing exercises.

GAIN SMILE CONFIDENCE

According to a 2020 Cigna Dental Report, smile satisfaction is one of the top three drivers of self confidence among U.S. adults. So while practicing good oral care and maintaining a solid beauty and self-care routine is always important, it's especially so during a time of year when you may be eating extra sweets and smiling more for the camera.

The good news is that you can give yourself the gift of a healthy, beautiful smile you can feel confident about, starting at an affordable price with the new Oral-B iO4 + iO5 electric toothbrush series. Multiple brushing modes offer a personalized clean, and when you brush for 2 minutes, which is what the American Dental Association recommends, the brush lights up to celebrate the accomplishment. What's more, the iO Series 5 provides you with real-time tracking and coaching via the Oral-B app, helping you commit to better oral care throughout the holidays and beyond.

The many innovative features of an Oral-B iO toothbrush, which include a pressure sensor that helps guide optimal brushing to protect gums and teeth, will help ensure you get a purifying, clean feel like you just left the dentist. In fact, 96% of Oral-B iO users feel more confident about their oral health when using an iO brush. To learn more, visit oralb.com.

REDUCE STRESS

The holidays are supposed to be fun, and yet, stress often creeps its way into the festivities. To be more present for all the joyful moments the season has to offer, keep your stress levels in check by prioritizing a bit of "me time" each day. Whether you use that time to take a brisk walk around the neighborhood, check out that fitness class you've been wanting to try or to curl up with a good book, you'll be giving your mind and spirit the mental refresh that it needs.

During the season of giving, don't neglect your own needs. For greater health and happiness, give your beauty and self-care routine a tune-up over the holidays. (StatePoint)

5 Ways to Protect Your and Loved Ones Health This Holiday Season

The holidays are right around the corner, and experts are already seeing a rise in respiratory illnesses like influenza (flu) and respiratory syncytial virus (RSV). In addition, COVID-19 continues to be a serious health threat in the United States.

As you gather with family and friends this holiday season, remember that one of the most important gifts you can give your loved ones is the gift of health. For a healthier, happier season, the American Lung Association offers these five tips:

1. Get your COVID-19 and flu shots: The single best way to stay healthy and protect others is to be up to date on your recommended COVID-19 vaccinations and make sure all of your loved ones – from those aged 6 months to 100+ years – are also up to date on theirs. This includes the new COVID-19 booster shot, which is expected to provide protection against the most recent variants and subvariants. It's also time for your annual flu shot.

Staying current with all your vaccinations is key to protecting your health.

2. Keep your medications and mask with you: If you are traveling, make sure to keep your regular medications and a mask with you (not in your checked luggage). It is good to have a mask on hand if you are with someone who is immunocompromised and prefers you to wear one.

3. Consider testing: Before large gatherings, consider doing an at-home COVID-19 test as an added layer of confidence that you are healthy. The average cost of a two-pack self-test at the

HOW TO PROTECT YOUR HOME and VALUABLES THIS HOLIDAY TRAVEL SEASON

Whether you're visiting your in-laws or taking a tropical vacation over the holidays, you'll likely be leaving your house and the majority of your belongings unattended while you're gone. Recent research suggests that if you're like many Americans, you may not be doing enough to protect your assets when you hit the road.

ACCORDING to a study conducted by The Harris Poll on behalf of Selective Insurance, 59% of U.S. homeowners have a home security system or device, yet less than half (49%) use one to protect their unoccupied homes when they are on vacation.

However, most homeowners do take some safety measures before departing for extended periods. For instance, 68% lock all their windows when they leave town. Additional precautions include having someone check their home (61%), setting lights on a timer (39%), shutting off water (21%), and hiring a house sitter (13%).

Nevertheless, risk experts say you're best off with a system that monitors for break-ins and other mishaps, including fire and flooding from storms or leaky pipes.

"Vacations are a great time to create new memories, but they are quickly forgotten if you return to a damaged or burglarized home. Taking sensible home safety preparations before leaving is as important as packing the right items in your suitcase," says Allen Anderson, senior vice president of Personal Lines at Selective Insurance. "Our research shows that home security systems and devices are widely under-used across the country, but they are powerful tools to mitigate against unoccupied home theft, fire and water leaks."

According to Anderson, here are some steps you can take this holiday travel season for greater peace of mind:

- Install and use a smart home security system or device. Doing so provides a vital line of defense and could save you money. Many insurers, including Selective Insurance, will provide a homeowners policy discount to policyholders with a professionally monitored security system.

- Lock your garage and all of your doors and windows – and double-check them.

- Install outdoor lights. Use an automatic timer to set your interior and exterior lights and give your home the appearance of occupancy.

- Stop your mail, package and news deliveries.

- Stow away your valuables.

- Consider waiting until you return from your trip to share vacation photos to social media, or use privacy settings to control who sees your posts.

- Unplug all unnecessary electronics.

- Bring all house keys with you, or leave one with a trusted friend to check up on your home while you're gone.

- Turn off your water! Some of the most frequent and costly homeowners' claims are due to water damage.

As you make your holiday travel arrangements, think beyond airline tickets and hotel bookings. Be sure that your plans also include home protection in your absence. (StatePoint)

Cut the Stress out of Holiday Travel Planning

The holiday travel season is just around the corner, and experts are expecting it to be a busy and expensive one, with airline ticket prices for the winter holidays increasing nearly 30% since last year. While travel experts recommend you start organizing trips at least three months in advance, do not fret if you're a last-minute planner. There are still a few ways to maximize your travel plans and save a few dollars while you're at it.

Hit the Highway: For those planning on taking a road trip this season, make sure your vehicle is up to date on all registrations and maintenance so you don't experience any road bumps. If you're planning a road trip and you're a T-Mobile customer, you get a year of AAA membership for free with all Magenta plans. This means you can get from point A to point B with the confidence and safety of 24/7 roadside assistance, if you need it. Plus, T-Mobile customers also save $0.10 per gallon of gas from Shell via the T-Mobile Tuesdays App.

Opt for Low Traffic Travel Days: When booking airline travel, CheapAir.com recommends avoiding Thursdays-Sundays. Instead, book airline travel on Tuesdays or Wednesdays if possible, as those are the slowest travel days of the week. According to CheapAir.com, traveling on actual holidays like Thanksgiving Day or Black Friday can save you $75-$90 in flight ticket prices. Christmas Eve and Christmas Day are also expecting lower airfare prices this year.

Check the Cancellation Rules: Make sure you can cancel your hotel, airline, or car rental reservations if you need to, and understand what additional fees you may be subject to if you do need to adjust your trip. Plans can change at the drop of a hat, especially in the post-COVID world.

Use Those Travel Perks: Many credit card companies offer benefits like points and frequent flier miles, which you can redeem on flights, hotels and more. If you're a T-Mobile customer, you can save up to 40% on select hotels and car rentals by booking through T-MobileTravel.com. Most come with free, flexible cancellations. You can also save your travel perks to use for your holiday travel plans and save even more.

Stay Connected: The internet can be hit or miss when traveling abroad, so make sure you're well-versed in the details of your data plan before logging on. Luckily, T-Mobile customers with Magenta MAX plans can get 5GB of free high-speed data worldwide in more than 215 countries and destinations, plus free in-flight Wi-Fi and streaming all flight long on four of the biggest U.S. airlines. "THE MENU"

BY BOB GARVER

Like the cozy restaurant setting of "The Menu," the theater at my screening of the film this past Friday was sparsely populated. But though the attendance was small in number, there was an unusual sense of kinship in the air. Laughs and groans could be attributed to individual audience members, as well as occasional biting comments (including one of my own, after the movie), and I think we all got a sense of what made one another tick. One thing was for certain: like the characters in the movie, we were all in this intense experience together.

THE film follows audience surrogate Margot (Anya Taylor-Joy) as she journeys with her date Tyler (Nicholas Hoult) to a private island that boasts the upscale restaurant Hawthorne. Other diners include a food critic (Janet McTeer), a movie star (John Leguizamo), and other affluent types. The group is greeted by no-nonsense maitre d' Elsa (Hong Chau), who leads them into the dining room, where they meet world-renowned chef Julian Slowik (Ralph Fiennes). Slowik will be in charge of everything this evening, from the food to the entertainment. Both may be suited more to his tastes than the guests.

Opinions are mixed on a first course that includes a rock and a second course of absent bread. Everybody is uncomfortable with a third course of incriminating tortillas and a story of violence from Slowik's past. The real game-changer comes with the fourth course, which includes a demonstration of violence rather than a story. Slowik's intentions soon become clear: he and the staff of Hawthorne are going to kill everyone, including themselves and all the customers. But first, he's going to break his elitist guests' spirits, "play with his food" as it were, though I will shoot down a popular theory and say that his plan does not involve cannibalism.

Simply put, Julian Slowik is the most memorable movie villain of the year – maybe of the last several years. Fiennes imbues the character with menace, wit, humor, and most of all, charisma. He has an entire kitchen staff under his thumb, and seemingly an entire restaurant full of victims as well. Nobody besides Margot makes a whole-hearted attempt to escape. Nobody even needs to be tied down. Heck, nobody even complains when they're billed before dessert. It could be argued that the patrons know they're no match for the large henchmen stationed at the exits, or that they realize that they deserve what they're getting, but I think it has more to do with them all wondering with morbid curiosity what's coming next from Slowik's kitchen of surprises. That's why the rushed ending was such a disappointment for me. I was hoping Slowik's plan for the characters' fates would be a little more... individually catered.

While Fiennes does give the standout performance in "The Menu," I don't want to short-change Taylor-Joy and Hoult. Margot doesn't fit in with the crazed staff or the snooty guests and Slowik's one imperfection is that he himself doesn't know what to do with this fellow member of the service industry. As for Tyler, he's more excited about being allowed to dine under Slowik's roof than with the beautiful woman sitting across from him. In a movie where half the characters are trying to commit murder, he's somehow the most detestable for his simple condescension. The characters' eccentricities, mind games, and dark humor all come together to make "The Menu" one of the best films of the year. Not bad for a movie whose entire point is that cheeseburgers are a joy and an honor to serve.

Grade: B

"The Menu" is rated R for strong/disturbing violent content, language throughout and some sexual references. Its running time is 107 minutes.

'Wakanda Forever' Grosses Another $67.3 Million to Top Box Office

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - "Black Panther: Wakanda Forever" easily kept its spot atop the box office, grossing $67.3 million in its second weekend at North American theaters, according to industry estimates released today.

The sequel to 2018's blockbuster Marvel Comics adaptation was far ahead of "The Menu," which opened with $9 million, Comscore reported.

"The Chosen Season 3: Episodes 1 & 2," a faith-based series being screened in theaters beginning this weekend, captured third place with $8.2 million.

"Black Adam" was fourth with $4.48 million Friday through Sunday in its fifth week, followed by "Ticket to Paradise" with $3.2 million in its fifth week.

Rounding out the top 10 domestic releases, as estimated by Comscore, were "She Said" ($2.25 million), "Lyle, Lyle, Crocodile" ($1.9 million), "Smile" ($1.15 million), "Drishyam 2" ($1.025 million) and "Prey for the Devil" ($935,000).

This weekend's overall three-day box office haul was estimated at $101.9 million. The year-to-date total is up to $6.612 billion -- an increase of 94% over the figure at this time last year, according to Comscore.

4. Wash your hands often: Scrub with soap and water for at least 20 seconds. If you're unable to wash your hands, using hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol is a good alternative. Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth, as it allows the germs on your hands to reach moist, porous surface tissue where the germs can enter your body and cause infection.

5. Stay home if you're sick: Stay home when you are feeling ill. If you have symptoms of COVID-19 or flu, you should test immediately and contact your healthcare provider if you are at high risk for severe illness to discuss possible treatment options.

With COVID-19, the flu and other seasonal illnesses spreading nationwide, take

The total amount of the unpaid balance of the have no further recourse. Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Auction.com at 800.280.2832 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Website address www.Auction.

information is to attend the scheduled sale.
