From automatically taking the wheel to keep drivers in their lane, to loudly sounding alarms of an impending collision, to involuntarily applying your brakes, automobile technology changes by the year and bears little resemblance to cars of only a decade ago.

DO you really know what all the lights on the dashboard mean or what each of the computer-driven controls do? While it can be overwhelming, the manufacturers' intent is to enhance safety.

Supervisors Approve Agreement for Patriotic Prado Dam Mural

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - The Board of Supervisors Tuesday signed off on contracts between the Riverside County Flood Control & Water Conservation District and a Corona nonprofit, permitting the latter to begin the process of recreating an iconic patriotic mural on the crest of the Prado Dam spillway.

``The mural serves as a beacon of pride and patriotism for the surrounding communities," Flood Control & Water Conservation District General Manager Jason Uhley said in a statement posted to the board's policy agenda.

In a 4-0 vote without comment, the supervisors authorized the district to enter into a four-month compact with the Bicentennial Freedom Mural Conservancy, establishing that the conservancy should have unfettered access to Prado Dam and that all rights and licenses stemming from the nonprofit's work on the spillway will be reserved to the district.

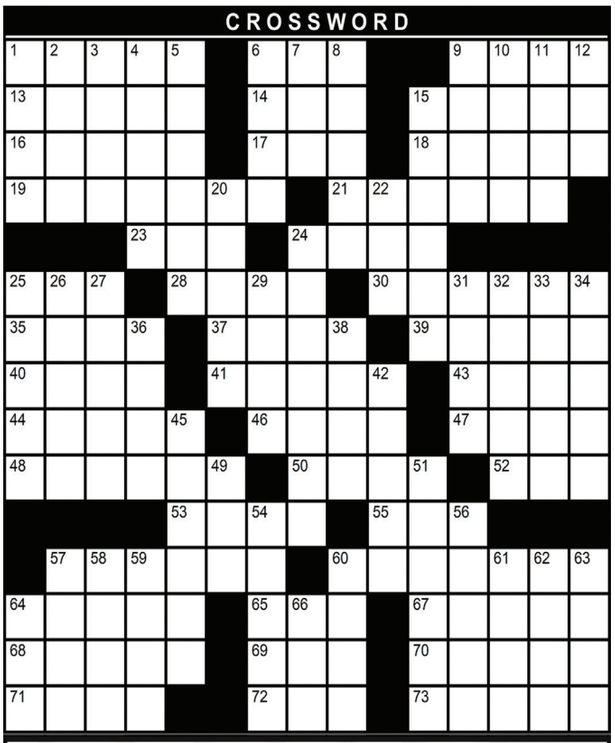

Prado Dam is the property of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, but the Flood Control & Water Conservation District operates within the space.

Rainstorm to Envelope Inland Region at Week's End

RIVERSIDE - Winter weather will close out the week, with a rainstorm forecast to sweep across the Inland Empire Friday night into Saturday morning.

"RAINFALL is expected ... across Southern California, with higher rainfall totals in portions of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties," the National Weather Service said in a statement. "The most widespread precipitation is expected Friday evening through overnight."

Forecasters said a trough of low pressure originating from the Pacific Northwest will roll into the region, blanketing the area with widespread rainfall, though the heaviest downpours are expected between the early evening and midnight hours Friday.

"Snow levels will be very high with this system, above 9,000 feet," the weather service said. "All the precipitation that occurs in the mountains will fall as rain."

The lack of freezing precipitation is likely to be welcome relief to residents of the mountain communities along Highway 243 in the San Bernardino National Forest, where cold storms in recent weeks increased snowpacks to the point that some roads were impassable.

Although most of the communities south of the San Gorgonio Pass and west of Palm Springs have dug out, residents of a few hamlets in the San Bernardino Mountains to the north remain buried.

Meteorologists said precipitation in the Riverside metropolitan area will be anywhere from a quarter to a half inch, while Riverside County locations closer to the mountains could receive up to an inch.

"Rainfall will end on Saturday morning, with dry and warmer days in store Sunday and Monday, as high pressure aloft pushes into the western states," the NWS stated.

Daytime temperatures in Riverside metro on Thursday will be near 70 degrees, while on Friday, the mercury will settle just below 60, with lows around 50 Thursday and Friday nights.

In the Coachella Valley, temperatures will top out in the low to mid- 70s Thursday and Friday, with lows in the mid-50s, while in the Temecula Valley, temps will peak in the upper 60s on Thursday and the upper 50s on Friday, with lows in the mid to upper 40s, according to the NWS.

Department of Waste Resources Seeks Volunteers for Recycling Programs

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Riverside County residents who want to make a hands- on difference promoting and demonstrating the benefits of recycling can sign up to volunteer for the Department of Waste Resources' composting and recycling programs.

``Outreach volunteers assist with classes or events by interacting with the public, answering questions on outreach programs and distributing materials," according to an agency statement. ``The ideal volunteer enjoys meeting people, likes to learn new things and is passionate about the environment."

Volunteer opportunities include participation in classes countywide that can ultimately lead to certification and hosting seminars in schools and community gardens, officials said.

``Outreach volunteers can choose to attend extra training and volunteer more hours to become a master composter," the DWR said. ``Outreach volunteers are integral to the success of recycling and composting programs and are recognized by the county annually for their dedication and hours worked."

Volunteers can chose the dates and times that are best for them to help the agency with events.

For information on how to register, residents are asked to visit www.rcwaste.org/volunteer, or call 951-486-3200.

Tax Deadlines Extended to October for Most Californians Due to Storms

RIVERSIDE - California is extending the state tax filing and payment due dates to Oct. 16 for Californians impacted by this winter's storms, aligning with the IRS, which previously extended the federal tax filing deadline to Oct. 16 for the same reason.

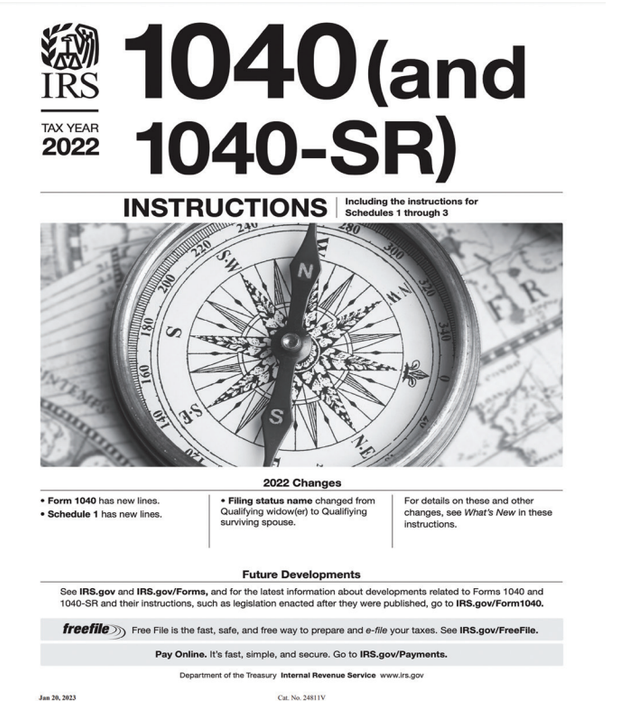

"AS communities across the state continue recovering from the damage caused by the winter storms, California is working swiftly to help recovering Californians get back on their feet," Gov. Gavin Newsom said. "The state is aligning with the Biden Administration and extending the tax filing deadline in addition to the tax relief announced earlier this year."

Last month, Newsom announced that those impacted by winter storms could claim a deduction for disaster loss, and extended filing and payment deadlines for individuals and businesses in California to May 15.

The tax relief applies to nearly all of the state's 58 counties, including Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties. Imperial County in the southeastern part of the state is not included.

The relief applies to deadlines falling on or after Jan. 8, 2023, and before Oct. 16, 2023, including the 2022 individual income tax returns that would have been due on April 18 and the quarterly estimated tax payments that would have been due on Jan. 17 and April 18, 2023.

California announced the extension Thursday. The IRS announced its extension in January.

Millennial Money: As Fed Rates Rise, Save at a Credit Union

By MELISSA LAMBARENA of NerdWallet

In the past year, the Federal Reserve has employed several interest rate hikes in an effort to stabilize the U.S. economy. Depending on your situation and financial institution, your debt may have gotten more expensive or your savings might have grown. As rates continue to change, it's worth exploring whether you're still getting the best offer around.

Compared with big banks, a credit union can offer decent rates for stashing your cash or borrowing money, especially during these economic times.

"For folks who are looking for loans, they can often find a credit union with lower rates because credit unions are willing to spend some of their would-be profits on lower rates," says Andrew Leventis, chief economist at the National Credit Union Administration, or NCUA. " That's one way, traditionally, credit unions have helped out their members, particularly in times when you have rising rates and there's more of an urgency to getting the best deal."

Here's what you should know about these not-for-profit cooperative financial institutions and their potential to offer big savings.

HOW CREDIT UNIONS WORK

Unlike banks that have shareholders to consider, credit unions return their profits to members like you.

They offer many of the same products and services that banks do, but those might go by different names. For instance, a checking account may be referred to as a "share draft account." Credit unions may also belong to an ATM network that allows you to perform transactions beyond a specific branch.

Generally, credit unions allow you to join based on where you live, work or worship. Other avenues may include joining through a family member or making a small donation to a charitable partner organization.

"We're required to have a field of membership, so the member coming in to open an account has to provide proof of that affiliation," says Jim Norris, president and CEO of SkyPoint Federal Credit Union, an institution that serves counties in Maryland, Washington, D.C., and Virginia.

There's typically a one-time membership fee to join a credit union, sometimes as low as $5, which may be used to open a savings account.

HOW CREDIT UNION RATES COMPARE

Profits at credit unions are returned to members in the form of low fees, better rates on loans and higher rates on savings.

The rates for specific products will vary by credit union. For instance, in the last quarter of 2022, the national average rate for a "classic" credit card was 11.96% at credit unions and 13.34% at banks, according to data extracted by the NCUA from S&P Global Market Intelligence databases, a provider of financial information services.

And while rates may be lower at credit unions, they can still rise when the Fed makes increases. At SkyPoint Federal Credit Union, rates are automatically adjusted within a month based on Fed rates, Norris says, but there's a limit.

Federal law caps the interest rate on most loans and credit cards at federally chartered credit unions at 15%, although the NCUA can raise that limit temporarily "if interest-rate levels could threaten safety and soundness of individual credit unions," according to an NCUA bulletin. For several years, the NCUA has maintained an 18% cap, extending it through Sept. 10, 2024, this year.

The cap is not affected by the Fed's interest rate hikes, so the limit can be helpful for borrowers with variable interest rates that might exceed that amount. If you tend to carry a balance, it's one way a credit union credit card can lower costs.

Credit unions may also offer higher savings rates than big banks, depending on the account. For instance, in the last quarter of 2022, the national average rate for a five-year certificate of deposit was 2.33%, compared with 1.58% at banks, according to that same data set extracted by the NCUA. You're likely to find

Supervisors OK Physician Sharing Program Between County, Loma Linda

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Riverside County supervisors Tuesday approved an agreement between the Riverside University Health System and Loma Linda University Health to maintain a physician sharing program, facilitating the rotation of doctors between the county public hospital and the Loma Linda medical center for enhanced training and learning opportunities.

IN a 5-0 vote without comment, the board authorized the $34.54 million compact, which will expire on June 30, 2027.

"The benefits of this agreement and these (physician) rotations include that they provide more qualified, fellowship-trained attending physicians to the Inland Empire," according to an RUHS statement posted to the board's agenda.

The RUHS operates the Riverside University Medical Center in Moreno Valley, where Loma Linda has engaged in resident physician rotations since fiscal year 2011-12.

The sharing program will enable physicians in residency from the county hospital to train at the Loma Linda medical campus, while new doctors from Loma Linda additionally obtain hands-on training at the Moreno Valley hospital, broadening their skill sets in the areas of cardiology, emergency medicine, family medicine, internal medicine, neonatal care, obstetrics, pediatrics, rheumatology and other fields, officials said.

"To achieve proficiency in these areas of specialization, resident physicians must participate in clinical experiences in various settings," according to the RUHS. "By providing rotation opportunities at its facilities, RUHS increases the likelihood that the rotating physicians will either stay and continue practicing in this area after residency, or return after further training."

The agency noted that the principal goal is "improving the health and safety of patients and the community."

Loma Linda will be providing compensation to the county for its part of the program, while the RUHS will be drawing on internal accounts to cover its expenses. No county General Fund revenue will be required, according to county documents.

Lilly Plans to Slash Some Insulin Prices, Expand Cost Cap

By TOM MURPHY
AP Health Writer

Eli Lilly will cut prices for some older insulins later this year and immediately expand a cap on costs insured patients pay to fill prescriptions.

The moves announced Wednesday promise critical relief to some people with diabetes who can face annual costs of more than $1,000 for insulin they need in order to live. Lilly's changes also come as lawmakers and patient advocates pressure drugmakers to do something about soaring prices.

Lilly said it will cut the list price for its most commonly prescribed insulin, Humalog, and for another insulin, Humulin, by 70% in the fourth quarter, which starts in September. The drugmaker didn't detail what the new prices would be.

List prices are what a drugmaker initially sets for a product and what people who have no insurance or plans with high deductibles are sometimes stuck paying.

Patient advocates have long called for insulin price cuts to help uninsured people who would not be affected by price caps tied to insurance coverage.

Lilly's planned cuts "could actually provide some substantial rice relief," said Stacie Dusetzina, a health policy professor at Vanderbilt University who studies drug costs.

She noted that the moves likely won't affect Lilly much financially because the insulins are older and some already face competition.

"It makes it easier for Lilly to go ahead and make these changes," she said.

Lilly also said Wednesday that it will cut the price of its authorized generic version of Humalog to $25 a vial starting in May.

The cost of a prescription for generic Humalog ranges between $44 and close to $100 on the website GoodRx.

Lilly also is launching in April a biosimilar insulin to compete with Sanofi's Lantus.

Lilly CEO David Ricks said in a statement that it will take time for insurers and the pharmacy system to implement its price cuts, so the drugmaker will immediately cap monthly out-of-pocket costs at $35 for people who are not covered by Medicare's prescription drug program.

The drugmaker said the cap applies to people with commercial coverage and at most retail pharmacies.

Lilly said people without insurance can find savings cards to receive insulin for the same amount at its InsulinAffordability.com website.

The federal government in January started applying that cap to patients with coverage through its Medicare program for people age 65 and older or those who have certain disabilities or illnesses.

American Diabetes Association CEO Chuck Henderson said in a statement he applauded the steps Lilly was taking and called for other insulin makers to also cap patient costs.

Aside from Eli Lilly and the French drugmaker Sanofi, other insulin makers include the Danish pharmaceutical company Novo Nordisk.

Insulin is made by the pancreas and used by the body to convert food into energy. People who have diabetes don't produce enough insulin.

People with Type 1 diabetes must take insulin every day to survive. More than 8 million Americans use insulin, according to the American Diabetes Association. Research has shown that prices for insulin have more than tripled in the last two decades, and pressure is growing on drugmakers to slow the increases.

The state of California has said it plans to explore making its own cheaper insulin. Drugmakers also may face competition from companies like the nonprofit Civica, which plans to produce three insulins at a recommended price of no more than $30 a vial, a spokeswoman said.

Drugmakers may be seeing "the writing on the wall that high prices can't persist forever," said Larry Levitt, an executive vice president with the nonprofit Kaiser Family Foundation, which studies health care.

"Lilly is trying to get out ahead of the issue and look to the public like the good guy," Levitt said.

Indianapolis-based Eli Lilly and Co. became the first company to commercialize insulin in 1923, two years after University of Toronto scientists discovered it. The drugmaker then built its reputation around producing insulin even as it branched into cancer treatments, antipsychotics and other drugs.

Humulin and Humalog and its authorized generic brought in a total of more than $3 billion in revenue for Lilly last year. They rang up more than $3.5 billion the year before that.

"These are treatments that have had a really long and successful life and should be less costly to patients," Dusetzina said.

LEMON, ROSEMARY & Sage Chicken

Connor Forbes

By Connor Forbes

In my quest to make chicken more interesting and less bland we adventure today to Lemon Rosemary and Sage Chicken. Lemon makes everything better and helps brighten any dish.

As an acid it is the all-important ingredient to make the flavor of a dish pop. Herbs add another element of flavor. Rosemary and sage are very flavorful herbs that have rich earthy notes. Sage has some lemon balm notes and rosemary is characterized by lemon and pine flavors. With their powers combined, we are looking at a citrus chicken explosion. Let's make chicken!

Ingredients

- 2 lbs chicken
- 1 Tbsp crushed or chopped rosemary
- 1 tbsp crushed or chopped sage
- 1 tbsp olive oil
- 2 lemons juiced
- 1 tsp Salt

To Make

In a large zip locked bag, combine the chicken, rosemary, sage, olive oil, salt and lemon juice. Marinate over night. At the least, marinate for 4 hours. Grill, pan fry, or bake at 425$^0$ until chicken has reached a minimum of 165$^0$ internal temperature. Although, I normally cook chicken to 175$^0$. I cooked these thighs on a baking steel in the oven at 425$^0$ for 11 minutes. Remove from heat and let rest under foil for 10 minutes. EAT!

Tribes Bury Southern California's Famed Mountain Lion, P-22

By STEFANIE DAZIO
Associated Press

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Tribal leaders, scientists and conservation advocates buried Southern California's most famous mountain lion Saturday in the mountains where the big cat once roamed.

AFTER making his home in the urban Griffith Park - home of the Hollywood Sign - for the past decade, P-22 became a symbol for California's endangered mountain lions and their decreasing genetic diversity. The mountain lion's name comes from being the 22nd puma in a National Park Service study.

Some representatives of the Chumash, Tataviam and Gabrielino (Tongva) peoples argued that samples taken during the necropsy should be buried with the rest of his body in the ancestral lands where he spent his life. Some tribal elders said keeping the specimens for scientific testing would be disrespectful to their traditions. Mountain lions are regarded as relatives and considered teachers in LA's tribal communities.

Tribal representatives, wildlife officials and others discussed a potential compromise in recent weeks, but a consensus was not reached before P-22 was buried in an unspecified location in the Santa Monica Mountains on Saturday.

"While we have done everything we could to keep the carcass intact, the Tribes and agencies involved are still working toward a conclusion about some of the samples," the state Department of Fish and Wildlife said in a statement Monday. "What is important to understand is that the Tribes and agencies involved all agreed on moving forward with the burial and it was a moving ceremony. We have come to a better place of understanding and we look forward to continued growth from this place."

It was not clear whether the unspecified samples might also be buried with the animal in the future or if the tribes have agreed to let scientists keep some specimens for additional testing.

Saturday's traditional tribal burial included songs, prayers and sage smoke cleansings, according to Alan Salazar, a tribal member of the Fernandeño Tataviam Band of Mission Indians and a descendent of the Chumash tribe.

The Natural History Museum of Los Angeles County, where the cougar's remains had been kept in a freezer before the burial, called the burial a "historically significant ceremony."

"The death of P-22 has affected all of us and he will forever be a revered icon and ambassador for wildlife conservation," the museum said in a statement Monday.

Salazar, who attended the ceremony, said he believes P-22's legacy will help wildlife officials and scientists realize the importance of being respectful to animals going forward.

Beth Pratt, the California executive director for the National Wildlife Federation who also attended the ceremony, wrote on Facebook that the burial " helped me achieve some measure of peace" as she grieves the animal's death.

"I can also imagine P-22 at peace now, with such a powerful and caring send-off to the next place," she wrote. "As we laid him to rest, a red-tailed hawk flew overhead and called loudly, perhaps there to help him on his journey."

Los Angeles and Mumbai are the world's only major cities where large cats have been a regular presence for years - mountain lions in one, leopards in the other - though pumas began roaming the streets of Santiago, Chile, during pandemic lockdowns.

Wildlife officials believe P-22 was born about 12 years ago in the western Santa Monica Mountains but left because of his father's aggression and his own struggle to find a mate amid a dwindling population. That drove the cougar to cross two heavily traveled freeways and migrate east to Griffith Park, where a wildlife biologist captured him on a trail camera in 2012.

His journey over the freeways inspired a wildlife crossing over a Los Angeles-area highway that will allow big cats and other animals safe passage between the mountains and wildlands to the north. The bridge broke ground in April.

P-22 was captured last December in a residential backyard following dog attacks. Examinations revealed a skull fracture - the result of being hit by a car - and chronic illnesses including a skin infection and diseases of the kidneys and liver. The city's cherished big cat was euthanized five days later.

Los Angeles celebrated his life last month at the Greek Theater in Griffith Park in a star-studded memorial that featured musical performances, tribal blessings, speeches about the importance of P-22's life and wildlife conservation, and a video message from Gov. Gavin Newsom.

To honor the place where the animal made his home among the city's urban sprawl, a boulder from Griffith Park was brought to the gravesite in the Santa Monica Mountains and placed near P-22's grave, Salazar said.

"CREED III"

By Bob Garver

As popular as it is to complain about Hollywood's lazy reliance on reboots, re-imaginings, spinoffs, and legacy sequels to older properties, all evidence suggests that "Rocky" continuation "Creed" has worked out for the best. I'm not just talking about the first "Creed" from 2015, but the entire "Creed" sub-franchise, including the first sequel from 2018, and of course, new movie "Creed III."

THESE movies have done well creatively (all above 80% with both critics and audiences on Rotten Tomatoes) and commercially, with the first two making over $100 million at the domestic box office, and the third almost certain to follow suit after a $58 million opening weekend. Keeping in mind that I'm calling the whole trilogy is a success, I don't think it's out of line to say that "Creed III" is the weakest entry.

Michael B. Jordan is back as boxer Adonis "Donnie" Creed, son of the legendary Apollo Creed. He's certainly done an excellent job of carrying on his late father's legacy, even surpassing it in many ways. He's retired at the top of his game and is an attentive father to Amara (Mila Davis-Kent), his daughter with his wife Bianca (Tessa Thompson). Apollo wasn't much of a father, with Donnie not even knowing about him until after his death. He lived in a group home until he was a teenager, when he was taken in by Mary Anne (Phylicia Rashad), Apollo's wife. He mostly left his old life behind, save for maintaining a friendship with aspiring boxer Damian Anderson. An altercation a few years later saw a gun-toting Damian arrested, while Donnie fled and was allowed to continue on his path to greatness. Now "Dame" (Jonathan Majors) is out of prison and looking to make a name for himself as a boxer. The odds are against him, given his age and record, but at least he has a connection with the former champion – a connection he's not afraid to exploit.

Donnie tries to be helpful, but reasonable, getting his old friend sparring work with current champion Felix Chavez (Jose Benavidez Jr.), despite the protests of his business partner Duke (Wood Harris). But Dame isn't satisfied with sparring. He wants a shot at the title. He even sabotages a highly-promoted upcoming fight to create an opening for a Rocky-like underdog challenge. And after he takes the belt from Felix, there's the matter of the personal score to settle with Donnie. Let's just say the two aren't eager to talk it out. Cue training montages and pageantry of the big fight.

The good news is that Dame is a particularly well-written and acted character. It isn't far-fetched that Donnie has been keeping this skeleton in his closet through two films, as he's clearly been struggling to leave various traumas behind. And I was much happier with the talented Majors as the villain in this movie than I was with him as the bland Kang in "Ant-Man and the Wasp: Quantumania" a few weeks ago. The scenes where he plays head games with Jordan are the film's highlights, along with emotionally-charged scenes involving Jordan, Thompson, and Rashad.

The bad news is that there aren't a whole lot of other things that work about "Creed III." Thompson gets an arc where she encourages nonviolence, but nothing ever comes of it. It seems like the whole world of title contenders is limited to Donnie's circle of friends in L.A. A death scene feels wedged in because there's an unofficial rule that these movies have to kill off one important character per entry. A gimmick used for the final fight scene is laughably heavy-handed, and I don't mean in the good way that's advantageous in boxing. Plus there's no Rocky to be found, as Sylvester Stallone has had a falling-out with this franchise. Director Ryan Coogler is out as well, though Jordan himself does an admirable job of carrying the franchise to a satisfying conclusion. But I think "Creed" needs to end here before it loses the upper hand.

Grade: B-

"Creed III" is rated PG-13 for intense sports action, violence and some language. Its running time is 116 minutes.

`Creed III' Bests Competition With $58.6 Million Opening

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - ``Creed III'' came out swinging at the box office this weekend, opening with $58.6 million in North America to lead all films, according to industry estimates released today.

The latest entry in the ``Rocky'' franchise, directed by star Michael B. Jordan, beat out ``Ant-Man and the Wasp: Quantumania,'' which grossed $12.4 million in its third week in theaters, Comscore reported.

``Cocaine Bear'' was third, making $11 million Friday through Sunday in its second weekend in theaters in the United States and Canada.

The anime film ``Demon Slayer: Kimetsu no Yaiba -- To the Swordsmith Village'' opened in fourth place with $10.1 million, followed by ``Jesus Revolution,'' which grossed $8.6 million in its second week.

Rounding out the top 10 domestic releases, as estimated by Comscore, were ``Avatar: The Way of Water'' ($3.5 million), ``Operation Fortune: Ruse de Guerre'' ($3.1 million), ``Puss in Boots: The Last Wish'' ($2.7 million), ``Magic Mike's Last Dance'' ($1.1 million) and ``80 for Brady'' ($845,000).

This weekend's overall three-day box office haul was estimated at $116.45 million. The year-to-date total is $1.229 billion -- an increase of 37% over the figure at this time last year, according to Comscore.

Now imagine you are a first responder trying to quickly affect a rescue after a collision that has trapped the inhabitants inside crumpled and twisted metal. And you face real dangers yourself from, for example, exploding airbags, electrical circuitry, and the like.

The City of Corona Fire Department has been at the forefront in training first-responders for more than four decades, in best, quickest and safest methods of extricating accident victims from their vehicles.

And last weekend, 120 firefighters from Gig Harbor, Washington to Tijuana, Mexico, Oakland to Corona, attended the 43rd Auto Extrication Seminar put on by the Corona Firefighters Association. The event doubles as a fundraiser for the association.

A $180 thousand Mercedes Coupe was among the 100 vehicles of all shapes, sizes and vintages that were employed to teach both current and aspiring firefighters, the latest techniques in extracting victims from vehicles.

Aspiring firefighter, Corona Cadet Kendal Bengston, sweeps the grounds for glass and shards of metal after cars were sheared apart during training at the Auto Extrication seminar put on by the Corona Firefighters Association last weekend.

One such participant was Kendal Bengsten, a Temecula area resident. At the age of 29, she left her career managing a winery to begin studying for a career in firefighting as a Corona Fire Cadet.

"Service has been in my heart since I was young," Bengsten offered, adding that the dangers of the profession do not alarm her.

"I was aware of the risks,"

Literally sweeping the 'floors' of broken auto glass to begin her ascent up the ladder, Bengsten valued learning which tools to apply to the many potential realities.

"I learned how to read the wreck and implement safety procedures in different scenarios," she said.

The participants trained on a variety of potential circumstances, including cars leaning against utility poles, or trapped beneath larger vehicles, from cement trucks to busses.

There is no telling how many serious injuries will be abated and lives saved, by the lessons learned in Corona last weekend.

Credit Unions

higher savings rates at an online bank, but credit union rates make it easy to house accounts under one roof, if that's your preference.

OTHER CREDIT UNION PERKS

Profits are also returned to members through educational programs. SkyPoint Federal Credit Union, for example, works with a credit counseling agency to help members struggling to pay off debts. SkyPoint also offers Banzai, a financial education program for students.

Jayah Kai-samba, a credit union member based in Texas, has also seen many programs offered at his institution.

"They do a good job of educating their consumers, so they are always offering webinars or in-person sessions to do trainings on financial education," he says.

Credit unions may also offer more options to save. SkyPoint Federal Credit Union, for instance, offers savings accounts for different goals including holidays and special occasions.

Kai-samba uses similar options at his credit union to save for specific goals like vacations, home expenses or holidays. He has automatic payments set up to each account from every paycheck.

"I can have it split up separately, and it clearly shows how I'm progressing in each one of those distinct accounts," Kai-samba says.

Prado Dam Mural

of the nearly five-decade-old Bicentennial Mural painted on the spillway crest in celebration of America's 200th birthday in 1976. The Bicentennial Freedom Mural Conservancy intends to create a mural that's virtually identical to the previous one, utilizing more environmentally friendly products and relying on mostly private funds to complete the project.

``The mural will be restored to its bright red, white and blue hues ... for another generation to enjoy," according to a district statement released in September.

The Corps has granted the district a license for repainting the mural, which is expected to require at least two months' work, entirely through volunteer labor. The new display will be permitted to remain in place for at least five years.

The Corps was impervious to requests for the original mural to remain in place, citing lead paint hazards and related reasons. Preservation advocates sued in federal court seeking to prevent the Corps from proceeding with dismantling the display, but the litigation ended in 2021 in favor of the Corps.

Efforts to have the National Park Service declare the former mural a national landmark did not gain traction. Keeper of the National Register of Historic Places Joy Beasley said in 2019 that it did not qualify for special protected status because there had been ``massive over-painting, loss of original paint through normal wear, and the addition of other non-historic graffiti."

The original mural, which had been situated inside the flood control channel for the Santa Ana River, was painted in May 1976, when more than 30 Corona High School students spent several weekends voluntarily working on the project.

Upon completion, it read ``200 Years of Freedom," with a space depicting the Liberty Bell, followed by ``1776-1976" painted in red, white and blue.

The spillway is visible from portions of the Corona (71) Expressway and the Riverside (91) Freeway.

You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 855 238-5118 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-22-939620-AB. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 855 238-5118, or visit this internet website http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-22-939620-AB to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE OWNEROCCUPANT: Any prospective owneroccupant as defined in Section 2924m of the California Civil Code who is the last and highest bidder at the trustee's sale shall provide the required affidavit or declaration of eligibility to the auctioneer at the trustee's sale or shall have it delivered to QUALITY LOAN SERVICE CORPORATION by 5 p.m. on the next business day following the trustee's sale at the address set forth in the below signature block. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real property only. An ordinance adding Chapter 10.47 to the Corona Municipal Code Regarding Unlawful Possession of Catalytic Converters. The City has seen a significant increase in the thefts of catalytic converters and is seeking the adoption of an ordinance added to the municipal code to make the unlawful possession of a catalytic converter a crime, even when the original victim cannot be identified.

Ordinance No. 3365 First reading of an ordinance of the City of Corona, California, amending Corona Municipal Code Chapter 8.02 relating to a renaming of the Chapter and the inclusion of a declaration of nuisance for secondhand smoke. The proposed ordinance would allow a private residence to abate secondhand smoke that encroaches upon his or her property. The City Council will consider adopting a City enforcement policy that states that the City will not expend staff time or other resources to enforce the nuisance declaration, clarifying that enforcement is solely a private matter.

A certified copy of the full text of this ordinance(s) is available for review in the Office of the City Clerk, City of Corona, 400 S. Vicentia Avenue, Suite 115, Corona, CA 92882

The City Council meets the first and third Wednesday of the month at 6:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers located at City Hall.

If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916) 939-0772 or visit this Internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 131956-5. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. IF THE SUBJECT PROPERTY CONTAINS FROM ONE TO FOUR SINGLE FAMILY RESIDENCES, THE FOLLOWING WILL APPLY: NOTICE TO TENANT OR ELIGIBLE BIDDER: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916) 939-0772, or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 131956-5 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. PUBLIC NOTICE

This is a public notice that the City of Corona's Planning and Housing Commission will conduct a public hearing in the City Council Chambers at 400 S. Vicentia Ave., on Monday, April 10, 2023, at 6:00 p.m. or thereafter upon the following:

TTM 36864: A Tentative Tract Map application to subdivide 2.09 acres into six (6) lots for single family residential purposes in the R-1-7.2 Zone (Single Family Residential, 7,200 square foot minimum lot size) and two (2) lettered lots for a street dedication and water quality basin purposes, located on the south side of Corona Avenue and west of Interstate 15, and consideration of a mitigated negative declaration regarding potential environmental impacts associated with the proposed project.

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) – An Initial Study has been prepared for the project pursuant to Section 15063 of the State Guidelines for Implementation of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). The Initial Study prepared by the City, as the lead agency, determined that the project may have potentially significant effects, but these significant effects are capable of being mitigated to a point where clearly no significant effects would occur; and there is no substantial evidence, in light of the whole record before the City, that the project may have a significant effect on the environment. Therefore, per CEQA Section 15070(b), the City has prepared a Mitigated Negative Declaration for the project. The Mitigated Negative Declaration and Mitigated Monitoring Report for the project is being considered by the Planning and Housing Commission at a public hearing on April 10, 2023.

PUBLIC NOTICE

This is a public notice that the City of Corona's Planning and Housing Commission will conduct a public hearing in the City Council Chambers at 400 S. Vicentia Ave., on Monday, March 20, 2023, at 6:00 p.m. or thereafter upon the following:

SPA2022-0008: Specific Plan Amendment application to amend the sign regulations under Section 4.3.6 of the Dos Lagos Specific Plan (SP-99-03) for freewayoriented pylon signs and monument signs for commercial centers 20 acres in size or larger.

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) – A Notice of Exemption has been prepared for the project because the project qualifies as a Class 1 categorical exemption under Section 15301 (Existing Facilities) of the State Guidelines for the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and Section 3.27 (Class 1: Existing Facilities) of the City of Corona adopted Local Guidelines for Implementing CEQA. The project is a text amendment to the Dos Lagos Specific Plan to allow for minor alterations in the development standards for signage, which will accommodate technological upgrades (digital copy) to existing onpremise monument and pylon signs for commercial centers 20 acres in size or larger. The proposed changes will involve negligible expansion of use from that already authorized by the Dos Lagos Specific Plan, and therefore, there is no possibility that the proposed changes to the sign standards will have a significant effect on the environment.
