PROJECT TO RECREATE FAMED PRADO DAM PATRIOTIC DISPLAY GETS UNDERWAY

CORONA (CNS) - A project to recreate an iconic patriotic mural that stretched across the crest of Prado Dam for almost 47 years got underway Wednesday.

THE Prado Dam Bicentennial Mural Restoration Painting Project" is expected to last two to three months, with people donating their time to remake the former mural, which was removed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in February. "The Prado Dam Bicentennial Mural is a symbol of our region's history and resilience," Riverside County Supervisor Karen Spiegel said. "The restoration project is a testament to our commitment to preserving our heritage and ensuring that future generations can appreciate the beauty and significance of this landmark. We are grateful to the talented painters leading this project and look forward to celebrating the completion of this important endeavor."

According to the county Flood Control & Water Conservation District, a fundraising effort by the Bicentennial Freedom Mural Conservancy and the Friends of the Prado Dam Mural generated $140,000 in donations for the project.

Last month, the Board of Supervisors authorized the district to enter into a four-month compact with the conservancy, establishing that the nonprofit should have unfettered access to Prado Dam and that all rights and licenses stemming from its work on the spillway will be reserved to the district.

Prado Dam is the property of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, but the Flood Control & Water Conservation District operates within the space to control Santa Ana River water flows.

The original Bicentennial Mural was painted in celebration of America's 200th birthday in 1976. The idea now is to create a mural that's virtually identical to the previous one, utilizing more environmentally friendly products.

"This project aims to restore the mural's vibrant red, white and blues," according to a district statement.

BOARD DECLARES LOCAL EMERGENCY STEMMING FROM STORM IMPACTS

RIVERSIDE - The Board of Supervisors today unanimously approved a resolution declaring a state of emergency in Riverside County stemming from the winter storm series that has caused millions of dollars in damage.

In a 5-0 vote without comment, the board signed off on Emergency Management Department Director Bruce Barton's request for recognition of the emergency declaration that he proclaimed under his own authority on March 23.

The county's head of emergency services can unilaterally declare a local emergency anytime, but it must be formally ratified by the board within seven business days in order to remain valid.

Emergency Declaration

The board's authorization of the declaration will enable the county to apply for state and federal relief funds.

According to the EMD, the storm series that started in mid February and continued almost weekly until the end of March due to jet stream-driven ``atmospheric rivers" flowing across California has caused an estimated $4.4 million in damage.

The estimate is derived from infrastructure impacts to county facilities, farms, tribal land, special districts and school districts, officials said.

Among the worst impacts was a breach of the levee along the San Jacinto River, according to the EMD.

The hole that developed allowed water to flood farmlands, the county Flood Control & Water Conservation District said. The agency said that the breach has since been sealed, but it's requiring constant attention to fortify, with fears that additional storms could compromise the levee again.

``Winter storms have brought unforeseen and unprecedented snow and rainfall within multiple jurisdictions in the county that caused damage to transportation, water conveyance systems and critical infrastructure, delivering an imminent threat to life, property and the environment," according to the resolution.

Roads in cities and unincorporated communities countywide have been washed out and flooded, prompting closures on numerous occasions. However, most of those corridors have been repaired and are open.

In the San Bernardino National Forest, more than 50 dirt roads leading to camping, hiking, hunting and other recreational sites were declared off limits last month because of snow packs and other winter hazards.

They may not reopen until June, according to the U.S. Forest Service.

This winter's storm series is similar to the one that walloped the Inland Empire in 2019, though most of the damage then was due to back-to-back storms during one week in February that caused significant flooding and debris flows on state Routes 74, 111 and 243 near Idyllwild, Mountain Center and Palm Springs. Mud and debris flows also damaged the Horsethief Canyon Storm Drain, the Leach Canyon Dam and the McVicker Debris Basin.

California Gov. Gavin Newsom has signed emergency declarations five times over the last month, covering 43 counties. According to the governor's office, $60 million has already been spent on direct aid and response commitments.

With the board's ratification of the local emergency proclamation, Riverside County will be included on the list of eligible recipients for future aid.

Report: Access to Home Ownership Encouraging for Blacks/Latinos in County

CORONA - Riverside County was among the most affordable counties statewide for Black and Latino home buyers, even as home prices soared and interest rates jumped throughout California, the California Association of Realtors reported Wednesday.

THE affordability factor for both groups bucked a trend seen throughout the state, where just 12% of Black and Latino households could afford an $822,320, median-priced single-family home in 2022, based on a 20 percent down payment, the association found.

In Riverside County, a minimum annual income of $139,600 was needed to qualify for the purchase of a $615,000 median-priced, existing single-family home in 2022. The monthly payment, including taxes and insurance on a 30-year, fixed-rate loan, would be $3,490,

Google Earth

CAR determined.

The association found that, with an affordability index of 31% for Black people -- the same figure as whites -- Riverside was among the most attractive counties in the state for the Black home buyers. Asians and Latinos, too, had high affordability numbers, at 36 and 24, respectively. The index measures the degree to which a typical family can afford the monthly mortgage payments on a typical home.

Throughout the state, 21% of residents earned the minimum income needed to purchase an $822,320, median-priced home in 2022, down from 27% in 2021. At the same time, housing affordability for white/non-Latino households fell from 32% in 2021 to 26% last year, according to the association.

Meanwhile, 12% of Black and Latino households could afford the same median-priced home in 2022, down from 16% and 17% in 2021, respectively. The significant difference in housing affordability for Black and Latino households illustrates the homeownership gap and wealth disparity for communities of color, which could worsen as the economy slows and rates remain elevated this year, CAR said.

Housing affordability was better for Asians but also declined from the prior year, with the index registering 31% of Asian home buyers who could afford the median-priced home in 2022, down from 38% in 2021, according to the association's Housing Affordability Index.

CAR reported that, statewide, the housing affordability gap between Blacks and the overall population in California improved from 11.7 percentage points in 2021 to 9.8 percentage points in 2022, while the gap for Latinos improved from 10.5 percentage points in 2021 to 9.4 percentage points in 2022.

According to the Census Bureau's American Community Survey, the 2021 homeownership rate for all Californians was 55%, 63% for whites, 60% for Asians, 44% for Latinos and 37% for Blacks.

A minimum annual income of $186,800 was needed to qualify for the purchase of the $822,320 median-priced, existing single-family home in 2022 in the state, CAR determined.

The monthly payment, including taxes and insurance on a 30-year, fixed-rate loan, would be $4,670, assuming a 20% down payment and an effective composite interest rate of 5.47%. The 2022 California median income for whites was $105,640, $120,040 for Asians, $76,310 for Latinos and $64,190 for Blacks -- an income gap of nearly one-third that of the overall population, which was $93,380, CAR reported.

Melissa Bauman, was 24 years old when she died of a drug overdose at the Arlington Recovery Center on County Farm Road in Riverside last July. The license of MFI Recovery Center Inc., which was operating the facility since 2021, was revoked in December.

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - The Board of Supervisors today approved a $3.64 million contract with a substance abuse treatment provider to take over a facility managed by Riverside County officials that was slapped with state penalties last year over deficient services.

The board, without comment, signed off on the compact between Bloomington-based Cedar House Life Change Center and the county Department of Behavioral Health, which applies to the current fiscal year. An automatic renewal is set for fiscal year 2023-24 at a cost of $6.32 million, and additional renewals will be permitted in 2024-25 and 2025-26 at the same cost, as long as there's no breach of the contract terms.

Cedar House will assume operational control of the Arlington Recovery Center on County Farm Road in Riverside. The 54-bed drug rehabilitation and alcohol sobering treatment center, which opened in 2021, had been managed by MFI Recovery Center Inc., but MFI was the target of an investigation by the California Department of Health Care Services, culminating in an on-site license revocation action last December.

State inspectors uncovered "deficiencies" tied to staffing and other factors, after which the recovery center was shuttered, according to officials.

MFI and the county have since been sued by the mother of a 24-year-old woman, Melissa Monique Bauman of Riverside, who died at the facility last July, shortly after she checked in to receive help with drug addiction. Bauman succumbed to a drug overdose.

Her family's attorney, Elan Zekster, alleged in court papers that staff members failed to conduct routine surveillance of the patient, as required by their protocols, and that she was unconscious for an extended period before employees came to her aid and attempted in vain to resuscitate her. MFI CEO Jonathan Delgado told

Advocates: Think Again Before Buying Bunnies as Easter Gifts

RIVERSIDE - Rabbit rescue groups across Southern California are urging people not to purchase bunnies as Easter gifts for children, saying that what begins as a well-intentioned gesture often leads to abandoned animals when the novelty wears off and families realize they're not equipped to properly care for the pets.

INSTEAD, rescue groups recommend buying a stuffed toy bunny or chocolate candy rabbit for kids' Easter baskets.

Retail sales of rabbits, dogs and cats are prohibited in California, but direct sales are still permitted, including online, and illegal street sales also occur in which baby bunnies are sometimes deceptively marketed as adult "dwarfs."

"Every year, we receive numerous reports of bunnies who were bought for Easter and then discarded once their cuteness or novelty wore off, which is why we adamantly advocate against buying live animals as Easter gifts," PETA's Catie Cryar told City News Service.

More information from PETA can be found at www.peta.org/features/reasons-never-buy-bunny/.

Jude Ferguson, who runs Kribs for Kritters, a rabbit rescue group based in Lake Elsinore, says her group always sees an increase in dumped rabbits after Easter.

"The increase usually comes in the summer after baby buns start growing up and getting hormonal," she told CNS.

She warned people to never release a domestic bunny in the wild. Domestic and wild rabbits are different species, and domestic bunnies will die very quickly if left outside.

"Just because they see wild cottontails outside doesn't mean they can dump their domestic rabbits outside," Ferguson said. "Personally, I keep tabs on locations where there are naturally occurring cottontails because undoubtedly it's a place where people dump domestics."

Ferguson advises people who do keep their rabbits to reach out to local rescues for resources on low-cost spay and neuter surgeries.

"That's a big deal for people who are trying to do the right thing and simply call their local vet and are surprised by the sticker shock," she says. "I know I help many people with spay/neuter referrals."

More information can be found at kribsforkritters@hotmail.com.

Kerri Mabee of the Riverside County Department of Animal Services told City News Service that the department does not see an increase in rabbits being adopted from the shelter before Easter, or a huge rush of people surrendering rabbits after the holiday.

"We do, however, recommend that residents be thoughtful on the matter of adopting a rabbit to make sure it would be a good fit for the family," she said. "Rabbits require exercise and a diet that are unique, so it's a good idea to research what's involved with having a rabbit as a pet."

Advocates for the animals do want them to be adopted into loving homes, saying they can be wonderful companions for those who are serious about the commitment. Advocates say the animals are gentle creatures that offer many benefits over other pets, including their quiet nature and a diet of hay and vegetables that avoids adding to the suffering and environmental harm inherent in factory farming that produces dog and cat food.

Rabbits are not low-maintenance pets. They require feeding, cleaning, and humane indoor housing in a bunny-proofed room, and veterinary care can be expensive, advocates note.

They're also not ideal pets for small children, as they respond best to quiet energy and can be easily spooked by the hyperactivity of a child.

The House Rabbit Society also has resources for learning about proper rabbit care, which can be found at rabbit.org.

Rehab Overhaul

City News Service in February that the company went through a shake-up afterward, with firings and other changes intended to improve standards. MFI continues to operate private treatment facilities in Banning, Hemet and Murrieta.

According to the Department of Behavioral Health, Cedar House was selected after a vetting process that involved three competitors.

Under the new contract, the treatment provider will render services to those struggling with addiction for up to 60 days at a time, though the goal will be to promote recovery in 30 days.

"Matching treatment settings, interventions and services with strengths, needs and preferences of the individual consumer and his or her family is imperative," according to the terms. "Treatment outcomes will be assessed over time, and individualized treatment and recovery service plans will be modified to ensure they meet the consumer's changing needs and resources."

Medi-Cal recipients with no other means to pay will be eligible to receive the full range of treatment options.

The contract costs will be covered by state and federal appropriations, with no county General Fund revenue expended, according to the Riverside University Health System.

Today in History

By the Associated Press

Today's Highlight in History: On April 7, 1984, the Census Bureau reported Los Angeles had overtaken Chicago as the nation's "second city" in terms of population.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1862, Union forces led by Gen. Ulysses S. Grant and Maj. Gen. Don Carlos Buell defeated the Confederates at the Battle of Shiloh in Tennessee.

In 1915, jazz singer-songwriter Billie Holiday, also known as "Lady Day," was born in Philadelphia.

In 1922, the Teapot Dome scandal had its beginnings as Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall signed a secret deal to lease U.S. Navy petroleum reserves in Wyoming and California to his friends, oilmen Harry F. Sinclair and Edward L. Doheny, in exchange for cash gifts.

In 1945, during World War II, American planes intercepted and effectively destroyed a Japanese fleet, which included the battleship Yamato, that was headed to Okinawa on a suicide mission.

In 1949, the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical "South Pacific" opened on Broadway.

In 1954, President Dwight D. Eisenhower held a news conference in which he spoke of the importance of containing the spread of communism in Indochina, saying, "You have a row of dominoes set up, you knock over the first one, and what will happen to the last one is the certainty that it will go over very quickly." (This became known as the "domino theory,"

Thirty-nine years ago today, the U.S. Census Bureau announced that Los Angeles was the second most populated state in the country. The region last hosted the Summer Olympics that summer and will again in 2028.

although Eisenhower did not use that term.)

In 1957, shortly after midnight, the last of New York's electric trolleys completed its final run from Queens to Manhattan.

In 1959, a referendum in Oklahoma repealed the state's ban on alcoholic beverages.

In 1962, nearly 1,200 Cuban exiles tried by Cuba for their roles in the failed Bay of Pigs invasion were convicted of treason.

In 1966, the U.S. Navy recovered a hydrogen bomb that the U.S. Air Force had lost in the Mediterranean Sea off Spain following a B-52 crash.

In 1994, civil war erupted in Rwanda, a day after a mysterious plane crash claimed the lives of the presidents of Rwanda and Burundi; in the months that followed, hundreds of thousands of minority Tutsi and Hutu moderates were slaughtered by Hutu extremists.

In 2020, acting Navy Secretary Thomas Modly resigned after lambasting the officer he'd fired as the captain of the USS Theodore Roosevelt, which had been stricken by a coronavirus outbreak; James McPherson was appointed as acting Navy secretary.

The Corps has granted the district a license for re-painting the mural, which will be permitted to remain in place for at least five years, though that period could be extended.

The Corps was impervious to requests for the original mural to remain, citing lead paint hazards and related reasons. Preservation advocates sued in federal court seeking to prevent the Corps from proceeding with dismantling the display, but the litigation ended in 2021 in favor of the Corps.

Efforts to have the National Park Service declare the former spillway display a national landmark did not gain traction. Keeper of the National Register of Historic Places Joy Beasley said in 2019 that it did not qualify for special protected status because there had been "massive over-painting, loss of original paint through normal wear, and the addition of other non-historic graffiti."

In 2017, the Corps received more than 200 letters and a petition containing 30,000 signatures, urging the government to find exceptions that would permit the Bicentennial Mural to be maintained. According to the Corps, the first criterion for preservation was that the structure be at least 50 years old, and the old mural fell short of that.

Officials further stated that the commemorative aspects of the original mural, which was 106 feet tall and stretched 2,280 feet across, were insufficient for federal recognition because it was created to honor one thing -- the nation's 200th birthday -- and that was done with celebratory intent, not because the people behind the artwork were endeavoring to create something permanent.

In July 2015, the Mural Conservancy of Los Angeles federally sued the Corps to halt moves toward removing the mural. A U.S. District Court judge in Riverside issued an injunction barring any work at the site until all options for the mural's future were explored. The injunction was lifted in 2021.

The original mural was painted in May 1976, when more than 30 Corona High School students spent several weekends voluntarily working on the project. Upon completion, it read "200 Years of Freedom," with a space depicting the Liberty

CONNOR COOKS

HOMEMADE Pizza Sauce

I love pizza night. It is so fun to fire up the regular oven or pizza oven and have delicious homemade pizzas. In the past I have bought pizza sauce and dough from the store. However, the last time I made pizza, I made the dough and sauce from scratch. And boy did they deliver. It made the pizza that much better knowing I had made that much more of the pizza on my own. I was saying I need to learn how to make mozzarella next to have a totally from scratch pizza. Anyways, this tomato sauce recipe is pretty straight forward but you will need about an hour and a half before you make the pizza to get it done. Or you can make it a day or two before pizza night and refrigerate it until you are ready. It should last about a week refrigerated.

Ingredients

- 6 Roma tomatoes cut in half
- 1 head of garlic, whole
- ½ brown onion, cut into 1/3s
- 1 tbsp salt, split in half

- 1 tsp oregano
 - 1 tsp thyme
- To Make

Preheat the oven to 475°. On a baking pan lay the tomatoes, whole garlic head, and onions. Salt them with half the salt. Bake for 45 minutes to an hour. In a blender, add the tomatoes, onions, and squeeze out the garlic from the cloves. Add the oregano, thyme, and rest of the salt. Blend until your desired texture. I like it smooth. Refrigerate for half an hour or until ready to use. Enjoy on your next homemade pizza!

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS: HONOR AMONG THIEVES

By Bob Garver

Let me begin by saying that I did not go into "Dungeons & Dragons: Honor Among Thieves" familiar with the source material. I certainly knew "of" the famous tabletop game and that it takes place in a world of wizards and magic, but I only knew the broadest of strokes.

If more education on the game would have helped me enjoy the movie more, then I'm sorry I didn't do my homework. Then again, I see and enjoy movies based on unfamiliar source material all the time. I've never once bought a Marvel comic, and even with the MCU's more subpar efforts, I usually feel that they do a good job establishing the characters and their worlds. But I spent almost all of "Honor Among Thieves" feeling left in the dust by all the fantasy creatures, spells, and rules. That feeling, combined with derivative characters and unfunny humor, made the movie a slog.

We first meet Edgin (Chris Pine) and Holga (Michelle Rodriguez) in prison, which explains the "Dungeons" portion of the title. They go to a parole hearing, where Edgin fills us in on backstory as he nervously awaits a specific board member. He used to be a professional peacekeeper until he started turning to light thievery to support his wife and daughter. His wife was killed, so he turned to heavy thievery along with Holga, aspiring sorcerer Simon (Justice Smith), and con artist Forge (Hugh Grant). The team did a risky job for witch Sofina (Daisy Head), that led to Edgin and Holga's capture, though Forge was able to escape, promising to take care of Edgin's daughter Kira (Chloe Coleman). The conclusion of the hearing does admittedly make for a funny gag.

Edgin and Holga reunite with Forge, now a powerful lord that basically rules the kingdom. He kept his word about protecting Kira, but has otherwise turned on his old friends, joining forces with Sofina for an upcoming scheme to create an army of the undead. Sofina tries to have Edgin and Holga eliminated, but they escape and start working on a counter-scheme to get Kira back, along with a relic that can bring back Edgin's wife.

Edgin and Holga's scheme requires more members on the team. Simon can do a scant little magic, which barely rises above the level of parlor tricks. Doric (Sophia Lillis) can transform into any animal, and single-handedly carries the best action sequence of the movie. Xenk (Regé-Jean Page) is a mighty, benevolent warrior that Edgin doesn't trust. The movie doesn't want to admit it, but with these three on the team, the movie barely needs Edgin and Holga. Actually, the movie doesn't need anyone besides Doric. This movie could have been called "Doric & Dragons" and things probably would have been wrapped up much more efficiently.

The team goes through adventures where they encounter various creatures and deal with a series of obstacles and enchantments. The film falls into the trap that many fantasies do, where everything is magic, so the rules and stakes aren't clearly defined. There are several points where the team is faced with a challenge and Edgin will ask, "Is there a spell for that?" We don't know magic, so the answer is strictly at the mercy of the movie's writers (or the game's creators).

"Dungeons & Dragons: Honor Among Thieves" is a perfectly average fantasy movie, dragged below average by bland characters (the ones with useful skills have no personality, and vice versa) and painful humor (especially with Simon, Justice Smith is a specialist at the sort of forced awkwardness that plagues many a movie of this era). It doesn't make me want to take up the game or see any more movies in this series. We're getting a new "Guardians of the Galaxy" movie in a few weeks, hopefully that will be a better movie about supposedly-lovable thieves where the self-appointed leader is an unremarkable smooth-talker played by a guy named Chris.

Grade: C-

"Dungeons & Dragons: Honor Among Thieves" is rated PG-13 for fantasy action/violence and some language. Its running time is 134 minutes.

'Dungeons & Dragons' Opens Atop Box Office With $38.5 Million

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - "Dungeons & Dragons: Honor Among Thieves" opened with $38.5 million this weekend to lead all films in North America, according to industry estimates released today.

Palm Springs Art Museum to Offer Artist-Led Workshops April 16

PALM SPRINGS (CNS) - The Palm Springs Art Museum announced Wednesday it will offer two free artist-led workshops later this month as part of its free series of Family+ events.

THE workshops will take place at three different times between 1:15 and 4:45 p.m. April 16. The Family+ series is held every third Sunday of the month, according to the Palm Springs Art Museum.

Museum officials said attendees can register for one of the three time slots -- 1:15 to 2:15 p.m., from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., and from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m.

During the workshops, Ryan Campbell will help attendees create their own mini "Sky Torus" hanging mobile sculptures in the museum's Rich Studio as they explore light and color through Phillip K. Smith III's exhibition, according to museum officials. Frank Lemus will teach attendees a Pre-Columbian pottery-inspired clay hand-building technique to create ceramic figurative sculptures in the museum's Rubenstein Studio.

"Whether you're a seasoned artist or a curious beginner, you'll find something to inspire you," Palm Springs Art Museum officials said in a statement. "Explore our galleries, participate in hands-on art-making, enjoy live music, and connect with like-minded people."

Throughout the day, attendees can also indulge in activities like face painting, a 360 photobooth, a family workbook, coloring, balloon creations and music, museum officials said. Cotton candy by Cool Cactus and coffee by Cafe Empatia will also be offered through the afternoon.

Attendees must register for admission and activities -- children under 18 years old must be accompanied by an adult, according to museum officials.

More information about the workshops and afternoon at the museum can be found at psmuseum.org.

CITY OF CORONA
OFFICE OF THE CITY CLERK
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

This is a public notice that the City Council will conduct a public hearing in the City Council Chambers at 400 S. Vicentia Ave., on Wednesday, April 19, 2023, at 6:30 p.m. or thereafter upon the following:

SPA2022-0008: Specific Plan Amendment application to amend the sign regulations under Section 4.3.6 of the Dos Lagos Specific Plan (SP-99-03) for freewayoriented pylon signs and monument signs for commercial centers 20 acres in size or larger.

CEQA: A Notice of Exemption has been prepared for the project because the project qualifies as a Class 1 categorical exemption under Section 15301 (Existing Facilities) of the State Guidelines for the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and Section 3.27 (Class 1: Existing Facilities) of the City of Corona adopted Local Guidelines for Implementing CEQA. The project is a text amendment to the Dos Lagos Specific Plan to allow for minor alterations in the development standards for signage, which will accommodate technological upgrades (digital copy) to existing onpremise monument and pylon signs for commercial centers 20 acres in size or larger. The proposed changes will involve negligible expansion of use from that already authorized by the Dos Lagos Specific Plan, and therefore, there is no possibility that the proposed changes to the sign standards will have a significant effect on the environment.

The Planning and Housing Commission at its meeting on March 20, 2023, held a public hearing and at the close of the hearing recommended that the application be denied. The public is invited to attend the City Council meeting and comment on the application described above. Due to time constraints and the number of persons wishing to give oral testimony, each speaker will be limited to three minutes. You may wish to make your comments in writing and submit them to the City Clerk for inclusion into the public record. If you challenge any portion of these projects in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered at, or prior to the public hearing. Any person unable to attend the public hearing may submit written comments to the City Clerk, 400 S. Vicentia Ave., Corona, CA 92882. If you have questions regarding this notice or the applications to be heard, please call the Planning & Development Department at (951) 736-2262.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF BRANDON R. STILES aka BRANDON RUSSELL STILES
Case No. PRR12300605
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of BRANDON R. STILES aka BRANDON RUSSELL STILES.
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by RUSSELL D. STILES in the Superior Court of California, County of Riverside.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that RUSSELL D. STILES be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 5/5/2023 at 8:30 AM in Department 8 located at 4050 Main St, Riverside, CA 92501.
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

All right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to a Deed of Trust described as:

More fully described in said Deed of Trust.
Street Address or other common designation of real property: 1175 VIA BLAIRO CIRCLE, CORONA, CA 92879

The beneficiary of the Deed of Trust has executed and delivered to the undersigned a written request to commence foreclosure, and the undersigned caused a Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site https://www.altisource.com/LoginPage.aspx using the file number assigned to this case 2022-01693-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction, if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (877)-518-5700, or visit this internet website https://www.realtybid.com/, using the file number assigned to this case 2022-01693-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
