FULL SLATE OF ENTERTAINMENT HIGHLIGHTS FINAL WEEKEND OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA FAIR

By Don Ray

The monster trucks have cleared out to make way this weekend for street stock car racing, super stocks, and the 'hold-your-breath' finale of figure eight races at the Southern California Fair on the outskirts of Perris.

Thursday night, Southern California native rapper-producer-actor Lil Rob took the main stage. West Coast hip-hop rapper DJ Quik (David Marvin Blake), a Compton native, headlines the Friday evening entertainment.

Street Stock Racing is Friday's automotive event on the oval track.

The Super Stocks will roar around the track on Saturday.

Saturday night's entertainment headliner is Dejuan Walker — better known as rapper Suga Free. He was born in Gardena, raised in Oakland, and is now based out of Pomona. He began his career as the producer on DJ Quik's debut album, "Street Gospel."

Lost Cat Reunited with Owners After 12-Year Disappearance

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - A cat who disappeared from his family's home a dozen years ago and then turned up out of the blue behind a Riverside County animal control officer's house is now back with the couple, who thought they would never see him again.

“IT was just unbelievable,” said Angelo Castellino of Stanwood, Wash. “I’m so grateful.”

Castellino and his wife, Shelley, were residing in San Diego when their cat Butters wandered away from their property in 2011 and never returned.

On Oct. 1, Riverside County Department of Animal Services Officer Dalton Churchwell looked out on the backyard of his Blythe home and spotted a cat poking around. Churchwell picked up the obviously domesticated feline and scanned him for a microchip, which was present, enabling nonprofit Animal Samaritans, which focuses on meeting animal welfare needs in the eastern Coachella Valley, provided a health examination, certifying Butters for travel, the nonprofit ASK Foundation, which regularly partners with the county on community-based pet assistance programs, stepped in and arranged for the long-lost cat to return to his owners.

“We were thrilled to work with the Department of Animal Services to make this reunion possible,” ASK Foundation President Carolyn Badger said.

“It was such a wonderful story.”

On Saturday, Department of Animal Services volunteer Larry Rudolph rode aboard a flight with Butters to Seattle, where he was reunited with the Castellinos.

The cat is now with his owners and brother, “Barnacles,” in Washington.

Officials pointed out the cat’s microchip registration ultimately made the reunion possible. More information on microchipping pets is available at <https://rcdas.org/microchip-registration-0>.

him to confirm the identity.

Churchwell was able to track down Butters’ owners, despite their having relocated roughly 1,300 miles to the north.

“The officer just really went out of his way,” Castellino said.

“You know, he did this on a Sunday night, on his time off.”

The man and his wife were overwhelmed to know Butters -- whom they described as an adventurer -- was found, but they weren’t able to arrange a trip to pick him up right away, according to the Department of Animal Services.

Drivers Advised to Seek Alternate Routes to Avoid Closure of Eastbound 91

CORONA (CNS) -

Motorists who travel the eastbound Riverside (91) Freeway in Corona during the overnight hours should make other plans next week and avoid the artery Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights due to construction-related lane closures that will create lengthy delays.

“MOTORISTS traveling eastbound are encouraged to avoid the area by using the northbound 57 to eastbound 60 to southbound 71 as routes to get around the closure,” according to a Riverside County Transportation Commission statement released Wednesday.

Nighttime closures are slated to begin at 11 p.m. Monday, with all eastbound 91 lanes out of service from Green River Road to Serfas Club Drive, on the west end of Corona. The lane closures will be in effect until 5 a.m. Tuesday. The same closures will be implemented again Tuesday and Wednesday nights, according to RCTC.

According to the agency, the Monday-to-Wednesday schedule will be maintained, weather-permitting, to the last week of November.

In addition to all general purpose lanes, the two toll lanes on the eastbound 91 will be shut down at the same time.

The closures are required for the “71/91 Interchange Project,” which entails replacing the current single-lane connector from the eastbound 91 to the Corona (71) Expressway with a two-lane connector loop, which will facilitate a larger volume of vehicles at one time, reducing congestion.

The $137 million project got underway in February.

“Full closures will allow for the safe construction of support structures that will extend across the entire width of the 91,” RCTC said. “To achieve height clearance on the 91, the structures will reach approximately 30 feet high. Crews will also be placing beams across the 91 that will measure about 120 feet long and weigh 18 tons each. More than 200 beams will be placed over the freeway, forming a tunnel-like structure, which will be used to support the new bridge while it is being constructed.”

The Green River Road on-ramp to the eastbound 91 will also have to be shut down during the work.

Officials said motorists who choose to use the eastbound 91 and enter Corona from Orange County will be crammed into a single lane, taken off the freeway at Green River and funneled through the city to downtown, where drivers can rejoin the eastbound 91.

“Drivers who need to reach Green River Road, or choose to use the local detour, should plan for heavy delays,” RCTC said.

The Pomona (60) Freeway will be the more viable eastbound route to get around the closure, according to officials.

Along with expanding the connector itself, the 71/91 Interchange Project also involves adding an eastbound auxiliary lane to the 91 and realigning the Green River on-ramp. The expressway, too, will be realigned to create space for the new connector.

Officials said a wildlife crossing will be one of the other features of the reconfigured interchange.

The project is expected to conclude sometime in 2025.

More than one-third of the project funding -- $58.1 million -- is being provided by the California Road Repair & Accountability Act of 2017, which hiked gasoline taxes to pay for infrastructure and other projects. The county's Measure A revenue, which is generated by a half-cent sales tax, is also covering a share of the expense, while federal and other sources make up the difference.

Updates on the project are available at rctc.org/7191closures and www.rctc.org/71-91interchange.

“Everyone, everywhere, should know how to protect themselves during an earthquake -- at work, at school, at home, or even while traveling,” according to a statement posted to ShakeOut.org.

“Great ShakeOut earthquake drills are a once-a-year chance for everyone to practice ‘drop, cover, and hold on’ and learn other earthquake safety tips.”

The ShakeOut website indicated that 9.2 million Californians are slated to participate in the drill. During last year's event, about 9.5 million statewide registered to take part.

The exercises began in 2008.

In Riverside County, 591,276 people have registered so far for the drill.

Municipalities whose local government employees will be involved include Coachella, Eastvale, Indio, Menifee, Murrieta, Norco, Palm Desert, Rancho Mirage, Riverside and Temecula.

Multiple Riverside County agencies are also signed up, including the Assessor-Clerk-Recorder's Office, Emergency Management Department and the Riverside University Health System.

College of the Desert, Norco College, Riverside City College and UC Riverside will also join the drill.

Most kindergarten through 12th grade school districts countywide, along with private and charter schools, will have students and staff participating.

According to ShakeOut.org, the objective is to emphasize precautions during a 7.8-magnitude or larger quake along the southernmost portion of the San Andreas fault.

Officials believe that such a tectonic shift could produce waves of movement for hundreds of miles, over four minutes. According to the U.S. Geological Survey, some 2,000 people would die, tens of thousands would be injured and more than $200 billion in damage would result. The cataclysm would have 50 times the intensity of the Jan. 17, 1994, Northridge earthquake.

Hundreds of aftershocks would ensue -- a few of them nearly as big as the original quake, according to the USGS.

The drill in 2019 came just over three months after the early July quakes that struck Ridgecrest. The 6.4-and 7.1-magnitude shakers caused significant damage to roads and structures in the hamlet, which lies just south of the China Lake Naval Air Weapons Station.

Californians should be prepared to be self-sufficient for 72 hours following a major disaster. That includes having a first-aid kit, medications, food and enough water for each member of a household to drink one gallon per day, according to local and state officials.

Homeowners and renters should also know how to turn off the gas in their residences in case of leaks.

The Little Airport That Could, Perris Valley Airstrip celebrates its 90th Birthday

An airport's 90th birthday party? How the heck could that happen?

IT all started when the Perris Valley Historical Museum's Director, Katie Keyes, was pouring through eBay offerings looking for anything that might have a connection with Perris and its environs.

Bingo.

Keyes pounced on a "special dedication" envelope prepared by the Perris Chamber of Commerce about the October 8, 1933, grand opening of what would become known as the Perris Valley Airport.

She'd been friends for decades with the airport's subsequent owners, Ben and Diane Conatser and their children; Patrick and Melanie, who now run the airport and its world famous 1933 envelope found on eBay, by Perris Valley Historical Society President Katie Keyes commemorating the opening of what is now the Perris Valley Airport.

Skydive Perris.

"So, I gave it to them," Keyes said.

Patrick (Pat) Conatser thought it was amazing.

"So, I did a little research," he said, "and, come to find out, that the airport, early on, was basically an airfield — like they all were in the day — a big, dirt strip. At some point, it had a couple of cross dirt runways.

A decade later, "during World War II, it was used for glider training when they were getting ready for the D-Day Invasion," Conatser said.

It also became an alternate area for glider pilots to land, he says, if they couldn't make it all the way to March Airfield.

With the 90th anniversary of that "grand opening" approaching, Conatser decided to team up with today's Greater Perris Valley Chamber of Commerce and throw an airport's 90th birthday bash last Sunday, October 8, 2023, ninety years to the day after the opening.

"After the war," he said, "it was a small, agricultural-type airport. The city of Perris probably used it for mail and that kind of stuff."

In 1962, Conatser says, some former military guys created a parachutists' drop zone, where one of them made the first jump. A couple of families owned it then, he said, and flew mostly small, single-engine Cessna-type aircraft there and some crop dusters.

104-Year-Old Chicago Woman Dies Days After Making a Skydive

By RICK CALLAHAN
Associated Press

Dorothy Hoffner, a 104-year-old Chicago woman whose recent skydive could see her certified by Guinness World Records as the oldest person to ever jump from a plane, has died.

Hoffner's close friend, Joe Conant, said she was found dead Monday morning by staff at the Brookdale Lake View senior living community. Conant said Hoffner apparently died in her sleep on Sunday night.

Conant, who is a nurse, said he met Hoffner -- whom he called Grandma at her request -- several years ago while he was working as a caregiver for another resident at the senior living center. He said she had amazing energy and remained mentally sharp.

"She was indefatigable. She just kept going," he said Tuesday. "She was not someone who would take naps in the afternoon, or not show up for any function, dinner or anything else. She was always there, fully present. She kept going, always."

On Oct. 1, Hoffner made a tandem skydive that could land her in the record books as the world's oldest skydiver. She jumped out of a plane from 13,500 feet at Skydive Chicago in Ottawa, Illinois, 85 miles southwest of Chicago.

"Age is just a number," Hoffner told a cheering crowd moments after landing. It was not her first time jumping from a plane -- that happened when she was a spry 100 years of age.

Conant said he was working through paperwork to ensure that Guinness World Records certifies Hoffner posthumously as the world's oldest skydiver, but he expects that will take some time. The current record was set in May 2022 by 103-year-old Linnéa Ingegård Larsson of Sweden.

Conant said Hoffner didn't skydive to break a record. He said she had so thoroughly enjoyed her first jump that she just wanted to do it again.

"She had no intention of breaking the record. And she had no interest in any publicity or anything. She wasn't doing it for any other reason than she wanted to go skydiving," he said.

Skydive Chicago and the United States Parachute Association celebrated Hoffner in a joint statement

Tuesday.

"We are deeply saddened by Dorothy's passing and feel honored to have been a part of making her world-record skydive a reality."

"Skydiving is an activity that many of us safely tuck away in our bucket lists. But Dorothy reminds us that it's never too late to take the thrill of a lifetime. We are forever grateful that skydiving was a part of her exciting, well-lived life," they said.

Conant said Hoffner worked for more than four decades as a telephone operator with Illinois Bell, which later became AT&T, and retired 43 years ago. The lifelong Chicago resident never married, and Conant said she had no immediate family members.

A memorial service for Hoffner will be held in early November. "She was a dear friend who was an inspiration," Conant said.

Today is the 286th day of 2023. There are 79 days left in the year.

Today in History

By the Associated Press

Today's Highlight in History: On October 13, 1775, the United States Navy had its origins as the Continental Congress ordered the construction of a fleet., the precursor of the United States Navy. The vessels, the 24-gun frigates Alfred and Columbus, the 14-gun brigs Andrew Doria and Cabot, as well as three schooners, the Hornet, the Wasp and the Fly, became the first ships of the Navy's fleet.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1792, the cornerstone of the executive mansion, later known as the White House, was laid by President George Washington during a ceremony in the District of Columbia.

In 1932, President Herbert Hoover and Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes laid the cornerstone for the U.S. Supreme Court building in Washington.

In 1943, Italy declared war on Germany, its one-time Axis partner.

In 1960, the Pittsburgh Pirates won the World Series, defeating the New York Yankees in Game 7, 10-9, with a home run hit by Bill Mazeroski.

In 1972, a Uruguayan chartered flight carrying 45 people crashed in the Andes; survivors resorted to feeding off the remains of some of the dead in order to stay alive until they were rescued more than two months later.

In 1974, longtime television host Ed Sullivan died in New York City at age 73.

In 1999, in Boulder, Colorado, the JonBenet Ramsey grand jury was dismissed after 13 months of work with prosecutors saying there wasn't enough evidence to charge anyone in the 6-year-old beauty queen's slaying.

In 2003, the U.N. Security Council approved a resolution expanding the NATO-led peacekeeping force in Afghanistan.

In 2007, Secretary of State

Condoleezza Rice, after meeting with human-rights activists in Moscow, told reporters the Russian government under Vladimir Putin had amassed so much central authority that the power-grab could undermine its commitment to democracy.

In 2010, rescuers in Chile using a missile-like escape capsule pulled 33 men one by one to fresh air and freedom 69 days after they were trapped in a collapsed mine a half-mile underground.

In 2011, Raj Rajaratnam (rahj rah-juh-RUHT'-nuhm), the hedge fund billionaire at the center of one of the biggest insider-trading cases in U.S. history, was sentenced by a federal judge in New York to 11 years behind bars.

In 2016, Bob Dylan was named winner of the Nobel prize

In 2017, President Donald Trump accused Iran of violating the 2015 nuclear accord, but did not yet pull the U.S. out of the deal or re-impose nuclear sanctions. (Trump would pull the U.S. out of the deal the following May and restore harsh sanctions.)

In 2021, U.S. officials said they would reopen land borders to nonessential travel starting in November, ending a 19-month freeze because of the coronavirus pandemic.

In 2022, the House Jan. 6 committee voted unanimously to subpoena Donald Trump, demanding the former president's personal testimony as it unveiled startling new video from his closest aides describing his multi-part plan to overturn his 2020 election loss.

Perris Airport

"In about 1976, my dad and mom were looking for an airport to build houses on," Conatser said, "and have your own, fly-in community, so you could pull up to your house in your airplane and park it in the garage."

But the Perris Planning Department wasn't taking flight with the idea, deciding it may end up under water.

The airport is in a flood plain.

So, what were the Conatser's to do? As is often said, the rest is history.

As son Pat now explains of his father, "he's got this drop zone and there were some skydivers, but he didn't have a plane."

His parents needed a way to pay the bills, he says, so they bought a plane and started serving the local skydivers.

"One thing led to another," Conatser says, "and basically, we built that into the world's largest parachute center."

Today, he said, Skydive Perris does 130,000 jumps a year and trains parachutists from all over the world — many of them military members sponsored by their governments.

Taylor Swift Film Premiere Shuts Down The Grove Shopping Center

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - People who were hoping to shop at The Grove in the Fairfax District Wednesday were forced to make other plans, thanks to Taylor Swift, who invited a few thousand fans to attend the premiere of her concert tour movie and then showed up to greet them and snap selfies on the red carpet.

THE upscale mall was closed for the day to accommodate the premiere of the highly anticipated movie "Taylor Swift: The Eras Tour." The invitation-only event was being held at the 14-screen AMC theater in the shopping mall.

Earlier in the day it was unclear if Swift herself planned to attend, but that question was answered by late Wednesday afternoon when the superstar showed up on the expansive red carpet in a light blue gown. Video from the scene showed her slowly making her way along the red carpet, greeting fans and stopping to take selfies, much to the delight of her passionate supporters.

Swift is still touring, but she's on a performance break until the tour picks up again next month in Argentina.

The movie is set to screen at 7 p.m., but those who received invitations were told to show up at around 2 p.m., according to TMZ. Crowds were seen amassing along the extensive red carpet by mid-afternoon.

Swift has been making waves in the NFL recently thanks to her apparently budding romance with Kansas City Chiefs tight end Travis Kelce. The singer has been spotted hanging out in stadium luxury boxes with Kelce's mother and other celebrities, including Ryan Reynolds, Hugh Jackman and Blake Lively.

Her concert movie chronicles Swift's highly successful Eras Tour, which included six performances at SoFi Stadium in Inglewood. Analysts have said more than $100 million in advance tickets have already been sold for the film.

The film was expected to open on Friday, but Swift herself took to social media Wednesday afternoon to announce that the opening was being advanced to Thursday.

"I can't really wrap my head around this but Look what you genuinely made me do: Due to unprecedented demand we're opening up early access of showing of The Eras Tour Concert Film on THURSDAY in America and Canada!! As in TOMORROW. We're also adding additional showtimes Friday and throughout the weekend," Swift wrote on her

"... I can't thank you enough for wanting to see this film that so vividly captures my favorite adventure I've ever been a part of: The Eras Tour. And the best part is, it's an adventure we're still on together."

She ended the post by writing, "Getting in the car now..." as she prepared to head to The Grove for the premiere.

TMZ reported that 2,200 fans received invitations for Wednesday's premiere event. Various media outlets reported that the owner of The Grove, former Los Angeles mayoral candidate Rick Caruso, is reimbursing the mall's tenants for lost revenue they will suffer due to the daylong closure of the shopping center.

The Original Farmers Market adjacent to The Grove remained open. The market proclaimed on its social media pages that it would be open normal hours from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. People heading to the market, however, may want to plan on some extra travel time due to the traffic restrictions in the area.

The oval racetrack will become a dangerous figure 8 raceway on Sunday. Drivers will have to negotiate the dangerous, center intersection to avoid crashing into other drivers. Some spectators will want to cover their eyes, while others may hope they'll get to see more than a few collisions, crashes and close calls at the intersection.

Sunday evening, pop singer and songwriter Paula Deanda will perform her songs of love and relationships. She's from San Angelo, Texas.

Kids of all ages will have more rides to enjoy this year because additional space became available after

Southern California Fair officials removed some of the older buildings on the grounds.

And the animals? Visitors can step away from the sounds of music and motors and watch the young farmers and ranchers put the final grooming touches on the animals before they present them to the judges.

Fairgoers may be able to witness the bittersweet moments when the young competitors accept ribbons and trophies for the animals they've lovingly raised, and then say goodbye to their furry friends that are going on the auction block.

Each day, visitors will be able to sit in the shade and watch cultural performances on the smaller stage throughout the days and evenings.

What would a fair be without dozens of food options from a variety of vendors who assemble tasty victuals in bowls, on rolls or on a stick? It can be fun discovering this year's innovations.

Another way to avoid the sun and the sounds is to visit the indoor displays and look at the wares of the vendors. This year there's only one exhibit hall.

The fair runs from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday, 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday, and 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday. The operators of the fair, Helms and Sons Amusements, set the admission price at $10 that includes access to all of the concerts as well as the Speedway events. Parking, however, costs $20.

The fairgrounds are at 118700 Lake Perris Drive. More information is available at SoCalFair.com or on the Southern California Fair's Facebook page.

THE EXORCIST

BELIEVER

By Bob Garver

The creative, commercial, and overall cultural impact of 1973's "The Exorcist" cannot be overstated.

Every Halloween, you're bound to see and hear references to the film, from facsimiles of Linda Blair's otherworldly-affected face to recreations of the iconic head-spinning scene to quotes of demonic threats that can't be repeated here.

THE film spawned both sequels and prequels, none of which I've seen, but critical consensus indicates paled in comparison to the original. Now, a nice round 50 years after the original, comes "The Exorcist: Believer." It pales in comparison to the original so badly that it's worse than "pale," it's the putrid yellow color of the possessed girls' flesh. Come to think of it, the phrase "beyond the pale" works very nicely here.

13-year-old Angela (Lidya Jewett) lives a disorganized life with her widowed, atheist father Victor (Leslie Odom Jr.). Her best friend Katherine (Olivia O'Neill) seems to have the more organized household with two Christian parents (Jennifer Nettles and Norbert Leo Butz). But both girls are at a rebellious age, so they sneak off after school one day to perform a ritual to contact Angela's late mother. We're not privy to what happens to them next, but their parents notice when they don't come home that night. After a three-day, community-wide search, the girls are found in a barn 30 miles away from their school. The good news is that they're healthy aside from some scarring, the bad news is that burning questions remain about what happened to them in those three days – and they don't remember.

The parents try to return the girls to their normal lives, but of course it's not that easy. The girls hear nonexistent noises, they bleed terrible CGI blood, they attack people in cheap jump scares. Eventually they both have to be restrained at a hospital. Katherine's parents believe demonic forces may be at work, but Victor just thinks they're panicking. His nurse neighbor Ann (Ann Dowd) gives him a book on possession – written by Chris MacNeil (Ellen Burstyn), the mother of Regan MacNeil (Linda Blair), the possessed girl from the first movie. He goes to visit Chris, who agrees to help. She confronts the possessed Angela for about a minute before being taken out of the action, if not out of the movie.

To save the girls, the parents will have to do a proper exorcism. They'll have to tie the girls to chairs and bring in at least four different religious officials. The local Catholic diocese insists on non-involvement, and there's an eye-rolling subplot about a priest (E.J. Bonilla) and his willingness to help. Victor will have to get over his disillusionment with faith. It's all typical exorcist-movie stuff, relying on a formula instead of recognizing a responsibility to write (or rewrite) the formula. Oh, and one character is definitely going to be a candidate for those "Biggest Idiots in Horror Movies" lists that are all over YouTube. They will be right at home alongside the mayor from "Jaws" and Paul Reiser in "Aliens."

The best thing I can say about "The Exorcist: Believer" is that some of the cast members are trying hard. I can't find fault with the kids, Odom leans into his heavier scenes, Burstyn nails her cameo, and Ann Dowd, as always, steals the show. At first I thought her character was going to be the typical grouchy neighbor that gets killed early to illustrate that the evil entity is indeed dangerous (I have to be honest, even "M3GAN," my favorite horror movie of 2023 so far, wasn't above this lazy trope), but I was glad to see her stick around. But the film's pacing, predictability, and special effects are a mess, and ultimately make this official "Exorcist" entry no better than any number of knockoffs of the classic.

Grade: C-

"The Exorcist: Believer" is rated R for some violent content, disturbing images, language and sexual references. Its running time is 111 minutes. Contact Bob Garver at rrg251@nyu.edu.

'The Exorcist: Believer' Opens in First Place with $27.2M

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - "The Exorcist: Believer" opened atop the box office this weekend with $27.2 million in North America, according to industry estimates released Sunday.

Blumhouse and Universal's reboot of director William Friedkin's 1973 horror classic overcame poor reviews to beat out "PAW Patrol: The Mighty Movie," which took in $11.7 million one week after opening in first place, Comscore reported.

"Saw X" was third with $8.1 million Friday through Sunday in its second weekend in theaters.

"The Creator" was fourth with $6 million in its second week, followed by "The Blind" with $3.1 million in its second week.

Rounding out the top 10 domestic releases, as estimated by Comscore, were "A Haunting in Venice" ($2.7 million), "The Nun II" ($2.5 million), "Dumb Money" ($2.1 million), "The Equalizer 3" ($1.8 million) and a re-release of 1993's "Hocus Pocus" ($1.5 million).

This weekend's overall three-day box office haul was estimated at $72.8 million. The year-to-date total is $7.274 billion -- an increase of 26% over the figure at this time last year, according to Comscore.

Chef and TV Personality Michael Chiarello Dies at 61 After Being Treated for Allergic Reaction

By MARK KENNEDY
AP Entertainment Writer

NEW YORK - Michael Chiarello, a chef known for his Italian-inspired Californian restaurants who won an Emmy Award for best host for "Easy Entertaining With Michael Chiarello" and appeared on Bravo's "Top Chef" and "Top Chef Masters," has died. He was 61.

CHIARELLO died Friday at Queen of the Valley Medical Center in Napa due to an allergic reaction that resulted in anaphylactic shock, according to Chiarello's restaurant group Gruppo Chiarello. He had been at the hospital receiving treatment for the allergic reaction over the past week. Details on how he developed the allergic reaction were not immediately available.

"We deeply mourn the loss of our beloved patriarch Michael.

His culinary brilliance, boundless creativity, and unwavering commitment to family were at the core of his being," the restaurant group said in a statement.

Chiarello, a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America in New York, opened his first restaurant at just 22 — Toby's, in Miami. He would go on to open various restaurants around Napa Valley and San Francisco, including Tra Vigne Restaurant, Coqueta, Ottimo and Bottega. He also owned the Chiarello Family Vineyards in Yountville, California.

Bottega was named Best Newcomer by Zagat in 2008 and was selected as one of America's best new restaurants by both Forbes and Esquire. At the restaurant, he served Lasagnetta di Zucchini, Pesce alla Milanese and Pollo alla Diavola. Ottimo had paninis and family dishes that served four, like tomato-braised and roasted whole chicken.

In 1985, Food & Wine Magazine named Chiarello Chef of the Year and in 1995, he received the Culinary Institute of America's Chef of the Year Award. In 2011, he was part of Food Network's "Next Iron Chef" competition, "Supermarket Superstar" on Lifetime and a judge on "Chopped." He was named Esquire magazine's Chef of the Year for 2013.

In 2016, Chiarello was accused of sexual harassment by two former Coqueta employees. Lawsuits filed by the former employees were settled the following year.

His books included "LiveFire Cookbook," "The Tra Vigne Cookbook," "Michael Chiarello's Bottega," "Michael Chiarello's Casual Cooking," "Napa Stories" and "Flavored Vinegars."

He is survived by his wife, Eileen, and four children.

"In remembrance, we ask that you join us in celebrating his remarkable journey and the incredible impact he had on the world of food, wine, and family by inviting you to share a meal with your family and friends to remind all of us that the bonds forged over a meal are among life's most precious treasures," Gruppo Chiarello said.

It's October! And I love getting creative with Halloween-themed foods for the season. So, this week, I'm sharing a breakfast recipe that always gets me in the spirit.

They're spooky pumpkin and bat pancakes. You make them using metal cookie cutters or silicone pancake molds. And they're served with a berry sauce to give them a "bloody" look.

They're delicious and everybody loves them. (No one knows they're vegan).

So give it a try for your next spooky brunch.

BEST VEGAN PANCAKE

Ingredients:

(Serves 4-6)

Batter:

- * 2 cups (10oz) all-purpose flour
- * 2 Tbsp. Organic sugar (brown or raw)
- * 1 Tbsp. Baking powder
- * ½ tsp. Baking soda
- * 1 tsp. Ground flax seeds
- * ¾ tsp. Salt
- * 2 cups unsweetened oat milk, room temp

- * 3 Tbsp. Coconut oil, melted and cooled plus 2 tsp. Coconut oil
- * 2 Tbsp. Lemon juice

Raspberry Sauce:

- Handful of fresh or frozen raspberries
- 1 tsp. Maple syrup or honey

FLIPPING FUN: S

Equipment:

- Silicone or metal Halloween themed pancake molds

Directions:

1. Whisk flour, sugar, baking powder and soda, ground flax and salt together in a bowl.

2. Whisk oat milk, 3 Tbsp. melted coconut oil and lemon juice in a second bowl. Make a well in the center of the flour and pour wet mixture until incorporated. S (Don't over mix).

3. Heat 1 tsp. coconut oil in a skillet and spoon ¼ cup batter into the pan. Keep heat at medium until edges start to dry and surface start to break.

4. Flip pancakes and cook for more. Repeat with remaining batter. Serve with berries and maple syrup.

AVOCADO CORN

By Connor Forbes

Corn is a popular vegetable around my house. It's a hit with the kiddos and parents alike. Variations of my corn salad are a sure-fire way to please the family and get great nutrients into our bodies.

NOW I'm not sure I want to even get started about avocado. But since this is a food column, I guess I will. My house goes through at least an avocado a day. It may be our number 1 household expense. I kid, but only a little bit. I've been trying to cultivate avocado seeds into avocado trees to help ease this financial burden. But alas, Avocados take a very long time to grow and I'm probably about 10 years away from having a viable tree. Soooo anyways, corn and avocados are very popular in my house so I decided they should get together.

So let's make a Avocado Corn Salad

Ingredients

- 3 ears of corn
- 1 avocado
- 1.5 Tbsp mayonnaise

 Connor Cooks

- 1 tsp paprika
- Salt and pepper to taste

To Make

Boil the corn for 6-8 minutes. Let cool. With a knife carefully cut corn off the cob. Place corn in fridge for ½ an hour. Dice the avocado. In a bowl combine the corn with mayo, paprika, salt and pepper and mix. Then add the avocado and give a gentle stir to mix. EAT!

nd cook 1-2 minutes remaining batter. Serve ple syrup. Garnish with berries and granola if desired.

To make raspberry sauce: microwave raspberries and maple syrup for 30 seconds to 1 minute.

Note: The cookie cutters I used were made of silicone so they could withstand the heat. Please don't use plastic cookie cutters if you have them because they will probably melt. Metal ones are okay to use. Grease them with a little coconut oil so the batter doesn't stick to the metal.

I hope you love this new recipe! Snap a picture and tag me @chefjoannas on Instagram so I see how yours came out.

Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Auction.com at 800.280.2832 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Website address www.Auction.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA09000107-23-1. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Notice to Tenant NOTICE TO TENANT FOR FORECLOSURES AFTER JANUARY 1, 2021 You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. Respected Football Coach and Basketball Official Don Johnson Sr. Memorialized

Reported by Jerry Soifer

Don Johnson Sr. knew well the nomadic life of an assistant football coach, from college to the pros, positively touching many lives at each stop. And when he returned home, it was often to Corona, where he and his high school sweetheart wife of 51 years, Deborah, primarily raised their 4 children.

LAST FRIDAY, several hundred of those family, colleagues, players, and friends gathered at Corona's Crossroads Christian Church, to honor and pay their respects to Mr. Johnson, who passed away last month at the age of 68.

Interment was at Pierce Brothers Crestlawn Cemetery in Riverside.

An employee of the Department of Defense, Johnson began coaching high school football in his native Newark, NJ and later coming west to Santa Ana Valley High. He turned to the college ranks and was an assistant at the briefly renamed Riverside Community College, when RCC captured the 1989 National Juco Championship. Then Tigers head coach, Barry Meier and fellow assistant Bill Brown were among the mourners.

Now pursuing coaching full-time, Johnson was an assistant in the final years of Cal State Fullerton football, which afforded his three eldest children the opportunity to complete their high school education at Corona High.

After a return to RCC, he spent five years as a defensive end and special team's assistant for the University of Nevada Reno.

In 2000, Johnson returned to Southern California, continuing to coach the defensive line, now for UCLA. While with the Bruins, he turned down an opportunity to return to Nevada Reno as defensive coordinator.

But other teams were noticing his talents as well and in 2005, Johnson began a 14-year NFL career with the Chicago Bears. He reached the apex of the sport, coaching in Super Bowl XLI in February 2007, when Payton Manning and the Indianapolis Colts topped the Bears 29-17.

He continued coaching with the Oakland Raiders, San Diego Chargers, Arizona Cardinals, and Carolina Panthers.

In the off-season, the hard-working Johnson spent 25 years as a high school and college basketball official, including eight years at the Division I level. He served 4 years as president of the Orange County Basketball Officials Association and two more as president of the state association.

Johnson was a linebacker for Jersey City State (now New Jersey City University). After a tryout with the NY Jets, he went on to spend some time with the New Jersey Generals of the now defunct USFL. A team that featured former Heisman winner and future NFL star, Herschel Walker and future NFL quarterback Brian Sipe.

Former UCLA players Kevin Brown and David Ball were among the hundreds paying their respects. In his eulogy, Ball spoke of the inspiration he gleaned from his late coach.

Johnson was preceded in death by his youngest son Duane LeVar Johnson, who was tragically killed as a passenger in an automobile accident in 2002.

Don Johnson Sr. is survived by his wife of 51 years Deborah Fuller Johnson, Daughter Denise Johnson-Scott (Gary Scott), Son Donald Johnson Jr., Daughter Leanna Catron; 6 grandchildren and one great grandson.
