KAISER PERMANENTE REACHES A TENTATIVE DEAL WITH HEALTH CARE WORKER UNIONS AFTER RECENT THREE-DAY WALKOUT

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Unions representing 85,000 health care workers have reached a tentative agreement with industry giant Kaiser Permanente following a strike over wages and staffing levels, the parties announced Friday.

The deal includes setting minimum hourly wages at $25 in California, where most of Kaiser's facilities are located, and $23 in other states. Workers will also see a 21% wage increase over four years. The ratification process is scheduled to begin next week.

Both sides said they prioritized patient health care during their talks. Steve Shields, Kaiser's senior vice president of labor relations, said the deal will not effect rates.

COUNTY AGREES TO NEAR $5 MILLION STATE FUNDING FOR NEW CARE COURT LEGAL SERVICES

By PAUL J. YOUNG
City News Service

RIVERSIDE - The Board of Supervisors Tuesday approved a funding agreement with the California State Bar for $4.98 million to cover costs incurred by the Riverside County Office of the Public Defender in handling a program that seeks to treat mentally ill individuals who are on the streets, at risk of homelessness, or likely to end up behind bars.

“THE people who benefit from this are needy people, sick people in many ways,” Public Defender Steve Harmon told the board. “This is an attempt to help them. It's new. It may be successful; it may not be successful. We'll do everything we can to make it successful.”

The Bar funding compact tied to the Community Assistance, Recovery & Empowerment (CARE) Act is the first direct allotment received in Riverside County since the program went into effect on Oct. 1. The act, signed into law as Senate Bill 1338 in 2022, establishes new protocols for placing those with behavioral health disorders in treatment regimens operated by the county.

The new CARE courts are currently designated in Riverside, Glenn, Orange, San Diego, San Francisco, Stanislaus and Tuolumne counties. California's remaining counties will be required to establish protocols by December 2024.

The $4.98 million provided via the state Bar's Legal Services Trust Commission will go directly to funding positions in the Office of the Public Defender to render legal aid to CARE Court recipients, responding to “their stated interests” at every stage of proceedings.

Newsom Signs Law to Slowly Raise Health Care Workers' Minimum Wage to $25 Per Hour

By ADAM BEAM
Associated Press

SACRAMENTO
- California will raise the minimum wage for health care workers to $25 per hour over the next decade under a new law Democratic Gov. Gavin Newsom signed Friday.

THE new law is the second minimum wage increase Newsom has signed. Last month, he signed a law raising the minimum wage for fast food workers to $20 per hour.

Both wage increases are the result of years of lobbying by labor unions, which have significant sway in the state's Democratic-dominated Legislature.

"Californians saw the courage and commitment of healthcare workers during the pandemic, and now that same fearlessness and commitment to patients is responsible for a historic investment in the workers who make our healthcare system strong and accessible to all," said Tia Orr, executive director of the Service Employees International Union California.

The wage increase for health care workers reflects a carefully crafted compromise in the final days of the legislative session between the health care industry and labor unions to avoid some expensive ballot initiative campaigns.

Several city councils in California had already passed local laws to raise the minimum wage for health care workers. The health care industry then qualified referendums asking voters to block those increases. Labor unions responded by qualifying a ballot initiative in Los Angeles that would limit the maximum salaries for hospital executives.

The law Newsom signed Friday would preempt those local minimum wage increases.

It was somewhat unexpected for Newsom to sign the law. His administration had expressed concerns about the bill previously because of how it would impact the state's struggling budget.

California's Medicaid

program is a major source of revenue for many hospitals. The Newsom administration had warned the wage increase would have caused the state to increase its Medicaid payments to hospitals by billions of dollars.

Labor unions say raising the wages of health care workers will allow some to leave the state's Medicaid program, plus other government support programs that pay for food and other expenses.

A study by the University of California-Berkeley Labor Center found almost half of low-wage health care workers and their families use these publicly funded programs. Researchers predicted those savings would offset the costs to the state.

Kaiser

The three-day strike last week involving 75,000 workers in multiple states officially ended last Saturday and workers returned to their jobs in Oakland, California-based Kaiser's hospitals and clinics that serve nearly 13 million Americans. Union members said understaffing is boosting the hospital system's profits but hurting patients, and executives had been bargaining in bad faith during negotiations.

"Millions of Americans are safer today because tens of thousands of dedicated healthcare workers fought for and won the critical resources they need and that patients need," said Caroline Lucas, executive director of the Coalition of Kaiser Permanente Unions, in a statement Friday. "This historic agreement will set a higher standard for the healthcare industry nationwide."

The tentative agreement also includes protective terms around subcontracting and outsourcing, as well as initiatives to invest in the current workforce and address the staffing crisis. The workers' last contract was negotiated in 2019, before the COVID-19 pandemic.

"We have an interest in helping build the health care workforce of the future," Shields said during a news briefing Friday with both sides.

President Joe Biden applauded the tentative deal in a statement Friday, echoing his support for the health care unions. The president last month joined picketing United Auto Workers in Michigan on the 12th day of their strike against major carmakers, becoming the first known sitting president in U.S. history to join an active picket line.

"We owe a tremendous debt to health care workers and the hard-working men and women who make their work possible," Biden said Friday in a statement. "Health care workers and support staff kept our hospitals — and our nation — going during the dark months of the pandemic. They had our backs during one of our nation's toughest times. We must continue to have theirs."

Acting U.S. Labor Secretary Julie Su participated in the negotiation sessions.

California Gov. Gavin Newsom signed a law Friday night to raise the minimum wage for health care workers to $25 per hour over the next decade.

Hospitals and labor unions agreed to the wage increase during the final weeks of the legislative session. Newsom had previously signed a law increasing the minimum wage to $20 per hour for fast food workers, which takes effect in April. California's minimum wage for all other industries is $15.50 per hour.

The Kaiser strike for three days in California, as well as in Colorado, Oregon and Washington was a last resort after the health system's executives ignored the short-staffing crisis worsened by the coronavirus pandemic, union officials said.

The coalition had given the company notice that another strike from Nov. 1 to Nov. 8 was possible and the Oct. 31 expiration of a contract covering the Seattle area would enable another 3,000 workers to join picket lines.

Their goal was to bring the problems to the public's consciousness for support, according to the Coalition of Kaiser Permanente Unions. Some 180 workers from facilities in Virginia and Washington, D.C., also picketed but only on Wednesday.

The strikers include licensed vocational nurses, home health aides and ultrasound sonographers, as well as technicians in the radiology, X-ray, surgical, pharmacy and emergency departments.

"No health care worker wants to go on strike," Lucas said Thursday. "I hope that the last few days have helped escalate this issue."

The company warned the work stoppage could cause delays in people getting appointments and scheduling non-urgent procedures.

Unions representing Kaiser workers in August asked for a $25 hourly minimum wage, as well as increases of 7% each year in the first two years and 6.25% each year in the two years afterward.

Kaiser, which turned a $2.1 billion profit for the quarter, said in a statement last week that it proposed minimum hourly wages between $21 and $23 depending on the location. The company said it also completed hiring 10,000 more people, adding to the 51,000 workers the hospital system has brought on board since 2022.

Social Security Benefits Will Increase by 3.2% in 2024 as Inflation Moderates

By FATIMA HUSSEIN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Millions of Social Security recipients will get a 3.2% increase in their benefits in 2024, far less than this year's historic boost and reflecting moderating consumer prices.

people and children __ receive Social Security benefits.

Thursday's announcement follows this year's 8.7% benefit increase, brought on by record 40-year-high inflation, which pushed up the price of consumer goods. With inflation easing, the next annual increase is markedly smaller.

Still, senior advocates applauded the annual adjustment.

"Retirees can rest a little easier at night knowing they will soon receive an increase in their Social Security checks to help them keep up with rising prices," AARP CEO Jo Ann Jenkins said. "We know older Americans are still feeling the sting when they buy groceries and gas, making every dollar important."

Social Security is financed by payroll taxes collected from workers and their employers. The maximum amount of earnings subject to Social Security payroll taxes will be $168,600 for 2024, up from $160,200 for 2023.

Nancy Altman, president of Social Security Works, an advocacy group for the social insurance program, said that the COLA is a "reminder of Social Security's unique importance" and that "Congress should pass legislation to protect and expand benefits."

But the program faces a severe financial shortfall in coming years.

The annual Social Security and Medicare trustees report released in March said the program's trust fund will be unable to pay full benefits beginning in 2033. If the trust fund is depleted, the government will be able to pay only 77% of scheduled benefits, the report said.

There have been legislative proposals to shore up Social Security, but they have not made it past committee hearings.

The COLA is calculated according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Consumer Price Index, or CPI. But there are calls for the agency to instead use a different index, the CPI-E, which measures price changes based on the spending patterns of the elderly, like health care, food and medicine costs.

Any change to the calculation would require congressional approval. But with decades of inaction on Social Security and with the House at a standstill after the ouster of Speaker Kevin McCarthy, R-Calif., seniors and their advocates say they don't have confidence any sort of change will be approved soon.

The cost of living adjustments have a big impact for people like Alfred Mason, an 83-year-old Louisiana resident. Mason said that "any increase is welcomed, because it sustains us for what we are going through."

As inflation is still high, he said, anything added to his income "would be greatly appreciated."

Inflation Rose Modestly Last Month as Fed Signals No Rate Hike Likely

By CHRISTOPHER RUGABER
AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON - Inflation in the United States likely eased again last month, though the decline might have slowed since summer, a reminder that the outsize price pressures of the past two years will take more time to cool.

Consumer prices are forecast to have risen 0.3% from August to September, according to economists surveyed by the data provider FactSet. Such a rise would be much slower than the previous month's 0.6% price increase but still too fast to match the Fed's 2% inflation target.

Excluding volatile food and energy costs, "core" prices likely also rose 0.3% in September, the same as in August. The Federal Reserve tracks the core figure in particular as a good indicator of the likely future path of inflation.

Thursday's inflation data could bolster __ or undercut __ the growing belief that the Fed can tame inflation through the series of 11 interest rate hikes it imposed beginning in March 2022 without causing a recession.

Hiring surged unexpectedly in September, the government reported last week, and job gains in July and August were also revised higher. More people earning paychecks should help fuel consumer spending, the principal driver of the economy. Yet the report also showed that wage growth slowed __ a trend that, if it continues, should help ease inflationary pressures.

The decline in inflation from a peak of 9.1% in June 2022, without a spike in layoffs or a recession, has confounded economists' expectations that widespread job losses would be needed to slow price increases.

The latest consumer price figures follow a recent surge in longer-term interest rates that has inflated borrowing costs for mortgages, auto loans and business loans. The yield, or rate, on the 10-year Treasury note was just below 4.6% Wednesday, down from a peak of nearly 4.9% Friday but still up from 3.3% in April. Several Fed officials in the past week have suggested that higher long-term rates could help cool the economy, lessening the need for the central bank to further raise its key short-term rate.

"They're going to do some of the work for us" in attacking inflation, Christopher Waller, an influential member of the Fed's Board of Governors, said Wednesday, referring to higher longer-term bond yields.

Several factors have combined to force up longer-term rates. They include the belated acceptance by financial markets of the likelihood that the economy will remain on firm footing and avoid a recession. That would mean that the Fed would probably keep its short-term rate higher for longer than investors had expected last summer.

The government's budget deficit is also worsening, requiring more Treasury debt to fund it. The result has been an increased supply of Treasuries, which means a higher yield is needed to attract enough buyers.

A larger reason, though, is that investors regard the future path of inflation and interest rates as increasingly uncertain and demand a higher long-term Treasury yield to compensate for that risk.

Economists expect Thursday's inflation report to show that on a year-over-year basis, consumer prices rose 3.6% in September, down from a 3.7% annual increase in August, according to a survey by FactSet. On an annual basis, core price increases are expected to have slowed to 4.1% from 4.3%.

More expensive gas probably helped drive up overall inflation from August to September, though those prices have fallen since then. On Wednesday, the national average price was $3.66 a gallon, according to AAA, down from more than $3.80 a month ago.

Economists note that some wild-card factors might have caused inflation to come in higher or lower than expected in September. One such factor is used car prices. Some economists expect such prices to have tumbled from August to September, though others envision a small increase.

Today in History

By the Associated Press

Today's Highlight in History: On October 20, 2018, Saudi Arabia announced that U.S.-based journalist Jamal Khashoggi (jah- MAHL' khahr-SHOHK'-jee) had been killed in Saudi Arabia's consulate in Istanbul; there was immediate international skepticism over the Saudi account that Khashoggi had died during a "fistfight." (A U.S. intelligence report later concluded that Saudi crown prince Mohammed bin Salman had likely approved Khashoggi's killing by a team of Saudi security and intelligence officials.)

On this date:

In 1803, the U.S. Senate ratified the Louisiana Purchase.

In 1947, the House Un-American Activities Committee opened hearings into alleged Communist influence and infiltration in the U.S. motion picture industry.

In 1967, a jury in Meridian, Mississippi, convicted seven men of violating the civil rights of slain civil rights workers James Chaney, Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner; the seven received prison terms ranging from 3 to 10 years.

In 1973, in what would become known as the "Saturday Night Massacre," special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox was dismissed and Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson and Deputy Attorney General William B. Ruckelshaus resigned.

In 1976, 78 people were killed when the Norwegian tanker Frosta rammed the commuter ferry George Prince on the

Jamal Khashoggi seen entering the Saudi Embassy in Istanbul, Mississippi River near New Orleans.

In 1977, three members of the rock group Lynyrd Skynyrd, including lead singer Ronnie Van Zant, were killed along with three others in the crash of a chartered plane near McComb, Mississippi.

In 1979, the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum was dedicated in Boston.

In 1990, three members of the rap group 2 Live Crew were acquitted by a jury in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., of violating obscenity laws with an adults-only concert in nearby Hollywood the previous June.

In 2001, officials announced that anthrax had been discovered in a House postal facility on Capitol Hill.

In 2004, a U.S. Army staff sergeant, Ivan "Chip" Frederick, pleaded guilty to abusing Iraqi detainees at Abu Ghraib prison. (Frederick was sentenced to eight years in prison; he was paroled in 2007.)

In 2011, Moammar Gadhafi, 69, Libya's dictator for 42 years, was killed as revolutionary fighters overwhelmed his hometown of Sirte (SURT) and captured the last major bastion of resistance two months after his regime fell.

In 2020, two weeks before Election Day, President Donald Trump called on Attorney General William Barr to immediately launch an investigation into unverified claims about Democrat Joe Biden and his son Hunter, effectively demanding that the Justice Department abandon its historic resistance to getting involved in elections.

In 2021, Nikolas Cruz pleaded guilty to murdering 17 people during a February, 2018, rampage at his former high school in Parkland, Florida.

Care Court

Officials said the preference is for nonprofit legal clinics to step in and represent parties, but when those services aren't available, deputy public defenders will have to be appointed.

Harmon said that in the last two weeks since the program went live, four referrals have been received by the Office of the Public Defender.

"The numbers are very low, but it's just getting off the ground," he told the board. "We're only hiring as necessary. We'll watch this very carefully and err on the side of bringing less people in than more. If all funding stops, and we have these additional county employees ... we will absorb them into our regular operations."

The office intends to hire a new supervising deputy public defender, two line deputy public defenders, four social services practitioners, four legal support assistants and two paralegals, according to Harmon.

"It's going to be just the public defenders in court, working to encourage clients to receive these services," he said. "There won't be a lot of contesting moments. It's social worker-intensive. And it's completely voluntary. There are no repercussions if someone falls out of the program."

The aim is to prevent mentally ill people from falling through the cracks of the social service system, ending up in a correctional facility or living on the streets without any help toward rehabilitation. The CARE Court is designed for those "in the schizophrenia spectrum and other psychotic disorders," according to documents posted to the board's agenda.

If they're not in a voluntary treatment plan, patients can be processed by the court. The prospect must meet the following criteria, according to the legislation: "is unlikely to survive safely in the community without supervision, and the person's condition is substantially deteriorating; the person is in need of services in order to prevent a relapse or deterioration that would likely result in grave disability or serious harm to the person or others."

Through civil proceedings, relatives or close friends of mentally ill residents, doctors who have interfaced with them, law enforcement officials and other first responders can initiate CARE Act cases by submitting referrals or petitions seeking to commence proceedings. The idea is to establish customized treatment plans, using all available public resources.

The Riverside University Health System-Department of Behavioral Health will serve as the lead agency responding to cases.

Judges can refer cases to the CARE Court if they determine a criminal defendant is "mentally incompetent."

A "CARE agreement" will be necessary before any treatment plan could move forward, with progress hearings scheduled to determine whether the party is benefiting from treatment or cannot be helped. A treatment plan will specify psychiatric services, including "stabilization medications," bridge or transitional housing available for the party, as well as other social safety net options.

Department 12 of the Riverside Historic Courthouse has been designated as the county CARE Court. Hearings will be held Monday to Friday in the afternoons.

The state Bar funding agreement runs to the end of fiscal year 2024-25.

The Legislature allocated $39.5 million in General Fund appropriations to support CARE Act applications in the current fiscal year. Ongoing funds will be generated, in part, by the imposition of fines on counties that don't comply with provisions of the act. However, Harmon noted that secure long-term funding sources haven't been identified going forward.

"The program may lose political favor (with the Legislature)," he said.

The county's CARE line is 800-499-3008. Additional information is also available at ruhealth.org/behavioral-health/care-court.

Suzanne Somers, Sitcom Star-Turned Self-Help Author, Dead at 76

ACTRESS & ENTREPRENEUR WAS A LONGTIME PALM SPRINGS RESIDENT

By LINDSEY BAHR
AP Film Writer

Suzanne Somers, the effervescent blonde actor known for playing Chrissy Snow on the television show “Three’s Company” and who became an entrepreneur and New York Times best-selling author, has died. She was 76.

Playing the elusive blonde driving a Ford T-Bird, Suzanne Somers revealed that in casting her, fledgling director George Lucas only asked if she was able to drive? She had no speaking lines in the role she credited with changing her life forever. But she did mouth the words, “I love you,” to the obsessed teenage character played by Richard Dreyfuss.

SOMERS had breast cancer for over 23 years and died Sunday morning, her family said in a statement provided by her longtime publicist, R. Couri Hay. Her husband Alan Hamel, her son Bruce and other immediate family were with her in Palm Springs.

“Her family was gathered to celebrate her 77th birthday on October 16th,” the statement read. “Instead, they will celebrate her extraordinary life, and want to thank her millions of fans and followers who loved her dearly.”

In July, Somers shared on Instagram that her breast cancer had returned.

“Like any cancer patient, when you get that dreaded, ‘It’s back’ you get a pit in your stomach. Then I put on my battle gear and go to war,” she told Entertainment Tonight at the time. “This is familiar battleground for me and I’m very tough.”

She was first diagnosed in 2000, and had previously battled skin cancer. Somers faced some backlash for her reliance on what she’s described as a chemical-free and organic lifestyle to combat the cancers. She argued against the use of chemotherapy, in books and on platforms like “The Oprah Winfrey Show,” which drew criticism from the American Cancer Society.

Somers was born in 1946 in San Bruno, California, to a gardener father and a medical secretary mother. Her childhood, she’d later say, was tumultuous. Her father was an alcoholic, and abusive. She married young, at 19, to Bruce Somers, after becoming pregnant with her son Bruce. The couple divorced three years later and she began modeling for “The Anniversary Game” to support herself. It was during this time that she met Hamel, who she married in 1977.

She began acting in the late 1960s, earning her first credit in the Steve McQueen film “Bullitt.” But the spotlight really hit when she was cast as the blonde driving the white Thunderbird in George Lucas’s 1973 film “American Graffiti.” Her only line was mouthing the words “I love you” to Richard Dreyfuss’s character.

At her audition, Lucas just asked her if she could drive. She later said that moment “changed her life forever.”

Somers would later stage a one-woman Broadway show entitled “The Blonde in the Thunderbird,” about her life, which drew largely scathing reviews.

She appeared in many television shows in the 1970s, including “The Rockford Files,” “Magnum Force” and “The Six Million Dollar Man,” but her most famous part came with “Three’s Company,” which aired on ABC from 1977 to 1984 — though her participation ended in 1981.

On “Three’s Company,” she was the ditzzy blonde opposite John Ritter and Joyce DeWitt in the roommate comedy.

“Creating her was actually intellectual,” she told CBS News in 2020. “How do I make her likable and loveable ... dumb blondes are annoying. I gave her a moral code. I imagined it was the childhood

I would’ve liked to have had.”

In 1980, after four seasons, she said she asked for a raise from $30,000 an episode to $150,000 an episode, which she described as comparable to what Ritter was getting paid. Hamel, a former television producer, had encouraged the ask.

“The show’s response was, ‘Who do you think you are?’” Somers told People in 2020. “They said, ‘John Ritter is the star.’”

She was promptly phased out and soon fired; Her character was replaced by two different roommates for the remaining years the show aired. It also led to a rift with her co-stars; They didn’t speak for many years. Somers did reconcile with Ritter before his death, and then with DeWitt on her online talk show.

But Somers took the break as an opportunity to pursue new avenues, including a Las Vegas act, hosting a talk show and becoming an entrepreneur. In the 1990s, she also became the spokesperson for the “ThighMaster.”

The decade also saw her return to network television in the 1990s, most famously on “Step by Step,” which aired on ABC’s youth-targeted TGIF lineup. The network also aired a biopic of her life, starring her, called “Keeping Secrets.”

Somers was also a prolific author, writing books on aging, menopause, beauty, wellness, sex and cancer.

She was in good spirits and surrounded by family before her death, even giving an interview to People Magazine about her birthday plans to be with her “nearest and dearest.”

Hamel, in the People story, said she’d just returned from the Midwest where she had six weeks of intensive physical therapy.

“Even after our five decades together, I still marvel at Suzanne’s amazing determination and commitment,” Hamel said.

She told the magazine that she had asked for “copious amounts of cake.”

“I really love cake,” she said.

The $25 minimum wage had been a point of negotiations between Kaiser Permanente and labor unions representing about 75,000 workers. Those workers went on strike for three days last week. Both sides announced a tentative deal Friday.

The strike came in a year when there have been work stoppages within multiple industries, including transportation, entertainment and hospitality. The health care industry has been confronted with burnout from heavy workloads, a problem greatly exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Copyright 2023

THE ERAS TOUR

By Bob Garver

Taylor Swift is the single most powerful force in pop culture at the moment. Every other musical artist is eating her dust on the charts. Television, upended by writers' and actors' strikes, is only doing well with sporting events where the topic of conversation is Taylor and her possible relationship with Kansas City Chiefs tight end Travis Kelce. On the big screen, audiences' summer fling with Barbenheimer has cooled off with no heir apparent... except for Taylor, of course.

HER concert movie "The Eras Tour" doesn't play by conventional rules. It doesn't have the backing of a major studio. As of this writing, it is scheduled to only run for only four weeks. It only plays Thursdays through Sundays. It was officially announced only six weeks before its release, sending all competition running ("The Exorcist: Believer" forfeited a Friday the 13th opening to get out of its way). And it is still the theatrical event of the season.

As far as box office records for concert movies, forget it, this one already blows everything else out of the water. Domestically, its opening weekend take of nearly $100 million already makes it the #1 of all time, beating previous record-holder "Justin Bieber: Never Say Never" by over $20 million. Worldwide, it merely has to roughly double its haul to take the crown away from "Michael Jackson: This Is It," though some will say that the posthumous documentary doesn't count as a "concert film." My guess is that by this time next week, it isn't going to matter.

I saw the movie on a Thursday night, at a screening that was added just a day before. Because of the short notice, the large theater was uncrowded, with less than ten people in attendance. This could have made the film less enjoyable, since large crowds of passionate fans make for a wave of enthusiasm. But Taylor was thinking ahead and brought her own crowd. Okay, that's not exactly true, but the in-movie crowd of screaming fans at SoFi Stadium in Inglewood, CA more than adequately compensated for the lack of fans in the theater. By the way, that crowd deserves credit for keeping its energy up for the entire show. Cheering as loud as they do would have shredded my voice after about five minutes.

From a technical standpoint, the movie does everything pretty much perfectly. Every image is crisp, every note is clear. Taylor usually takes up the whole frame, so even in smaller theaters, her presence is towering. On something like an IMAX, I'm sure she really is the monster she appears to be in the "Anti-Hero" music video. For better or worse, Taylor is in your face for nearly three hours. And the movie is loud. I imagine theaters were specifically instructed to crank up the volume at least a few notches. The night after my screening, I went back to the theater for another movie, and I must have walked past six houses that were blasting music from this movie. It was a weird experience, hearing that much Taylor Swift music in such short order.

Did I enjoy the movie? I'm a casual Taylor Swift fan and I enjoyed the movie on a casual level. It makes for a heck of a party (even without a big crowd), and I cheered for my favorite hits (especially the third verse of "Anti-Hero"). But I also thought that it went on too long, and I'm in no hurry to spend that kind of time on it again. If you're decidedly not a Taylor Swift fan and you got dragged to this movie by a partner, family member, or friend, you're probably in for a long three hours. For the Swifties, enjoy your Taylor Swift concert, it's everything you could possibly want.

Grade: B

"Taylor Swift: The Eras Tour" is rated PG-13 for some strong language and suggestive material. Its running time is 168 minutes. Reminder: the film only plays Thursdays through Sundays and is currently only scheduled for a limited engagement of three more weekends.

'Taylor Swift: The Eras Tour' Opens with $96 Million

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - "Taylor Swift: The Eras Tour" is making beautiful music at the box office, opening with $96 million this weekend to easily lead all films in North America, according to industry estimates released Sunday.

The concert film beat out "The Exorcist: Believer," which took in $11 million Friday through Sunday, one week after opening in first place, Comscore reported.

"Paw Patrol: The Mighty Movie" was third with $7 million in its third week.

"Saw X" was fourth with $5.7 million in its third week, followed by "The Creator," which grossed $4.3 million in its third week.

Rounding out the top 10 domestic releases, as estimated by Comscore, were "A Haunting in Venice" ($2.05 million), "The Blind" ($2.02 million), "The Nun II" ($1.6 million), "The Equalizer 3" ($960,000) and "Dumb Money" ($920,000).

This weekend's overall three-day box office haul was estimated at $135.1 million. The year-to-date total is $7.437 billion -- an increase of 26% over the figure at this time last year, according to Comscore.

veggies VS TAKEOUT

By Joanna Barajas

Do you know someone who hates veggies but needs them? Lol.

MINE'S my boyfriend. He was only used to eating things out of paper bags (take out). Until I got him hooked on the veg!

Now he wants veggies with every meal. So if you wanna eat healthier this is a great first recipe to get you started. It's packed with flavor and easy to make.

Let's get into it.
Rainbow Soba Bowl

Ingredients (serves 6)
* 8 ounces soba noodles or spaghetti noodles of choice
* 2 cups shelled edamame, boiled
* 2 1/2 cups thinly sliced red cabbage (about 1/4th medium cabbage)

* 3 whole carrots, peeled and then sliced into ribbons with vegetable peeler (about 1 1/2 cups)
* 1 red bell pepper, sliced into very thin strips
* 1 bunch green onions, chopped
* 1/2 cup chopped cilantro
* 1/4 cup sesame seeds

Dressing:
* 1/4 to 1/3 cup reduced sodium tamari (or soy sauce)
* 2 tsp. sugar, honey or agave

* 1/4 cup toasted sesame oil
* 2 tablespoons lime juice (about 1 medium lime)
* 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger
* 2 cloves garlic, pressed or minced
* 1/2 teaspoon red pepper flakes, to taste (scale back or omit if sensitive to spice)

Directions:

1. Bring a large pot of water to the boil. Add the edamame and cook for 1 minute. Then, add soba noodles and cook for 4 minutes or just tender to the bite.
2. After noodles are done, drain noodles and edamame together. Put them in a colander and rinse them well under cool water. Transfer the drained noodles and edamame to a large serving bowl and set aside.
3. In another bowl, whisk dressing ingredients. Set aside.

4. To assemble, add remaining ingredients to noodles and edamame. Drizzle in the dressing. Add all of the sesame seeds, and use tongs to toss until the mixture is fully combined. Serve immediately, or refrigerate for later. This salad is best consumed within a couple of days, but it will keep for up to 5 days.

EASY CHEESY POTATOES

By Connor Forbes

Who doesn't love potatoes. In fact, the average American eats about 120 pounds of potatoes a year, according to the farmers almanac. It's the most consumed vegetable in our diets far ahead of lettuce, number 2 on that list. And while I imagine a large amount of those pounds are consumed via French fries, there are so many ways to enjoy a potato.

I love potatoes just like the next person. And even though non-French fried potatoes are a tough sell on my kids, I keep trying. And this recipe was a winner for at least my older kid. So that's a victory in my book.

Let's make some easy cheesy potatoes!

Ingredients
• 6-8 red skinned potatoes
• 1 yellow onion (optional)
• 1 tbsp olive oil
• 3/4 cup shredded cheddar cheese
• 1/3 cup water

• Salt and pepper to taste

To Make

Cube the red skinned potatoes into 1/2 inch cubes. Dice the onion. Heat a large skillet on medium heat and add the oil. Add the potatoes and mix into the oil. After a couple of minutes add the onions. Stir onions in. Add the water and cover. This will help steam the potatoes and make them soft and tender. Once fork tender, 10 minutes or so, remove the cover and let any remaining water to boil off. Add salt and pepper to taste and give one last stir. Add the cheese on top and let melt for a minute or two. Turn off the heat and enjoy!

Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call Auction.com at 800.280.2832 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Website address www.Auction.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA09000107-23-1. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Corona will hold a public hearing to consider the following:

ANNEXING TERRITORY TO IMPROVEMENT AREA NO. 3 AND IMPROVEMENT AREA NO. 4 OF COMMUNITY FACILITIES DISTRICT NO. 2018-1 (BEDFORD) OF THE CITY OF CORONA, COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE, STATE OF CALIFORNIA (ANNEXATION NO. 1).

On September 20, 2023, the City Council (the "City Council") of the City of Corona (the "City") adopted Resolution No. 2023-094 (the "Resolution of Intention") declaring its intention to annex territory to Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4 of Community Facilities District No. 2018-1 (Bedford) of the City of Corona, County of Riverside, State of California (the "District") and setting a public hearing on the Resolution of Intention with respect to the annexation of territory to the District.

Resolution No. 2023-094 provides in summary as follows:

1. The City Council declared its intention to conduct proceedings for the annexation to Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4 of the District of the territory described in Exhibit "A" to the Resolution of Intention. The City Council determined that the public convenience and necessity require that such territory be annexed to the District.
2. The territory that is included in the District and each existing improvement area is described on the boundary map of the District entitled "Proposed Boundary Map Community Facilities District No. 2018-1 (Bedford) of the City of Corona, County of Riverside, State of California" recorded on May 9, 2018 in Book 82 of Maps of Assessment and Community Facilities Districts at Page 45, and as Document No. 2018-0180699, in the Office of the County Recorder, in the County of Riverside, State of California.. The territory proposed to be annexed to Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4 of the District is shown and described on the map thereof entitled "Proposed Boundaries of Annexation Map No. 1, Community Facilities District No. 2018-1 (Bedford) of the City of Corona, County of Riverside, State of California," which is on file with the City Clerk (the "Annexation Map").
3. The types of facilities authorized to be financed by the District include the construction, purchase, modification, expansion and/or improvement of certain roadways and roadway improvements, tunnels, regional hiking and biking trails, storm drain facilities, flood control facilities, water and wastewater facilities (including, without limitation, domestic and recycled water facilities, water tank facilities, wells, reservoirs, pipelines, waterlines, storm and sewer drains and related infrastructure and improvements), wet and dry utilities, bridges and pedestrian bridges, parks, street lights, traffic signals, aquatic center facilities and equipment, fire protection facilities and equipment, law enforcement facilities and equipment, library facilities and equipment, public meeting facilities and equipment, radio communication facilities and equipment, sewer facilities and equipment and related infrastructure improvements, both onsite and offsite, and all appurtenances and appurtenant work in connection with the foregoing (including utility line relocations and electric, gas and cable utilities) (the "Facilities"), and to finance the incidental expenses to be incurred. The types of services authorized to be financed by the District are as follows: The services which are to be funded with the revenues from Special Tax B which are to be levied on parcels of taxable property within the community facilities district, include, but are not limited to, (i) maintenance and lighting of parks, parkways, streets, roads and open space; (ii) maintenance and operation of water quality improvements; (iii) maintenance and operation of traffic signals; (iv) public street sweeping; and (v) a reserve fund for replacement (the "Special Tax B Services"). The services which are to be funded with the revenues from Special Tax C which are to be levied on parcels of taxable property within the community facilities district include all costs attributable to maintaining, servicing, cleaning, repairing and/or replacing water quality improvements in public street rightofways, public landscaping, public open spaces and other similar landscaped areas officially dedicated for public use (the "Special Tax C Services" and together with the Special Tax B Services, the "Services"). The costs associated with the determination of the amount of and the levy and collection of special taxes that are levied to provide such services and costs otherwise incurred in order to carry out the authorized purposes of Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4 shall also be financed.

4. Except where funds are otherwise available, special taxes sufficient to pay the costs of the Services and Facilities provided for above and the annual administrative expenses of the City and the District in determining, apportioning, levying and collecting such special taxes in Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4, shall be annually levied within Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4. Pursuant to Section 53339.3(d) of the Government Code, the special tax proposed to pay for Services in the territory proposed to be annexed into Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4 is equal to the special tax levied to pay for the same Services in the existing improvement areas of the District. Pursuant to Section 53340 of the California Government Code, the special taxes shall be collected in the same manner as ordinary ad valorem property taxes are collected and shall be subject to the same penalties and the same procedure, sale, and lien priority in case of delinquency as is provided for ad valorem taxes, provided, however, the District may provide to the property owners a direct bill in the event it is unable to enroll the special taxes on the County tax roll in any year. The rate and method of apportionment of said special taxes for Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4 shall be as set forth in Exhibit "B" of the Resolution of Intention.

5. Notice is given that at 6:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as is possible, on November 1, 2023, in the City Council Chambers, 400 S. Vicentia Avenue, Corona, CA 92882, a public hearing will be held where this City Council will consider the annexation of territory to Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4 of the District and all other matters as set forth in the Resolution of Intention. At the abovementioned time and place for public hearing any persons interested, including taxpayers and property owners, may appear and be heard, and that the testimony of all interested persons for or against the annexation of the territory to the District will be heard and considered. Any protests may be made orally or in writing. Any protests pertaining to the regularity or sufficiency of the proceedings, however, shall be in writing and clearly set forth the irregularities and defects to which the objection is made. All written protests shall be filed with the City Clerk on or before the time fixed for the public hearing. Written protests may be withdrawn in writing at any time before the conclusion of the public hearing. If the owners of onehalf or more of the area of land in the territory included in the existing District, or if the owners of onehalf or more of the area of land in the territory proposed to be annexed to the District file written protests against the proposed annexation of such territory to the District, and protests are not withdrawn so as to reduce the protest to less than a majority, no further proceedings shall be undertaken for a period of one year from the date of decision of the City Council on the issues discussed at the hearing. The hearing may be continued from time to time, but shall be completed within thirty (30) days. At the conclusion of the hearing, the City Council may abandon the proceedings or may, after passing upon all protests, submit the question of levying the special tax within the area proposed to be annexed to the District to the qualified electors of the area proposed to be annexed.

6. The voting procedures to be followed in conducting the election on the propositions with respect to the levy of special taxes within the territory proposed to be annexed to the District are outlined in the Resolution of Intention. The procedures set forth for conducting the election may be modified as the City Council may determine to be necessary or desirable by a resolution subsequently adopted by the City Council.

The Resolution of Intention contains other provisions which are not summarized above, including the Rate and Method of Apportionment. A complete copy of the Resolution of Intention, Rate and Method of Apportionment, and the boundary map may be reviewed or obtained at the office of the City Clerk at 400 S. Vicentia, Corona, CA 92882, during normal business hours. If you wish to challenge the City's action on these matters in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the Office of the City Clerk at or prior to the public hearing.

3. It is proposed (a) that the amount of the authorized bonded indebtedness of Improvement Area No. 3 of the Community Facilities District that shall be allocated to Improvement Area No. 3 shall be increased from $25,000,000 to $37,000,000; (b) that the Rate and Method of Apportionment of Special Tax for Improvement Area No. 3 shall be revised as set forth in Exhibit "A" of the Resolution; and (c) that the Rate and Method of Apportionment of Special Tax for Improvement Area No. 4 shall be revised as set forth in Exhibit "A-1" of the Resolution.

4. A public hearing regarding the proposed changes identified in Section 3 hereof shall be held at 6:30 p.m. on November 1, 2023, in the City Council Chambers located at 400 S. Vicentia Avenue, Corona, California 92882.

5. Since less than 12 persons are registered to vote within the territory of Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4, pursuant to Section 53326 of the Government Code ("Section 53326"), the vote in the special election on the changes which are proposed by this resolution will be by the landowners of the property located within each of the Improvement Areas, with each landowner of record at the close of the public hearing having one vote for each acre or portion of an acre of land that he or she owns within each Improvement Area, and the special election shall be conducted as a mail ballot election. The special election shall be conducted by the City Clerk (the "City Clerk"). The special election shall be held on the earliest date, following the conclusion of the public hearing, as may be selected by the City Council, pursuant to Section 53326, or such earlier date as the owners of land within the Improvement Areas and the City Clerk agree and concur is acceptable. Pursuant to Section 53326, the special election may be held earlier than 90 days following the close of the public hearing if the qualified electors of the Improvement Areas waive the time limits for conducting the election set forth in Section 53326 by unanimous written consent and the City Clerk concurs in such earlier election date as shall be consented to by the qualified electors. Pursuant to Section 53326, ballots for the special election shall be distributed to the qualified electors by the City Clerk by mail with return postage prepaid, or by personal service, and the special election shall be conducted in conformance with the applicable requirements of Section 53326, 53327 and 53327.5 of the Government Code. The procedures set forth in this section for conducting the special election, if it is held, may be modified as the City Council may determine to be necessary or desirable by a resolution subsequently adopted by the City Council.

A copy of the Resolution may be reviewed or obtained at the office of the City Clerk at 400 S. Vicentia Avenue, Corona, California.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that at the hearing the testimony of all interested persons or taxpayers for or against the proposed increase in the authorized bonded indebtedness for Improvement Area No. 3, the revision of the Rate and Method of Apportionment of Special Tax for Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4, as provided in the Resolution will be heard. If 50% or more of the registered voters, or six registered voters, whichever is more, residing within an Improvement Area, or the owners of onehalf or more of the area of the land in said territory, file written protests against the proposed increase in the authorized amount of bonded indebtedness of Improvement Area No. 3 or the proposed revisions of the Rate and Method of Apportionment of Special Tax for Improvement Area No. 3 and Improvement Area No. 4, the City Council shall not proceed further with proceedings with respect to such matters and such matters shall not be included in a resolution adopted by the City Council for a period of one (1) year from the date of the decision of the City Council on the hearing.
