Year in review DANGER SIGNS FOR CALIFORNIA'S ECONOMY

By Levi Sumagaysay,
CalMatters

California is ending the year facing a multitude of economic challenges, including a budget deficit, flat tax revenue, sluggish job growth and massive unemployment insurance debt.

THE state's budget surplus turned into a $32 billion deficit in 2023 — a result of its heavy reliance on personal income taxes, which are tied to the ups and downs of the stock market. The governor revised the budget in May, shifting money around and delaying spending commitments. In October, the Legislative Analyst's Office provided an updated outlook, saying the state could see a $9.5 billion boost in revenue due in part to increased income-tax withholding and an improving stock market. But the office still foresees flat revenue from personal income, corporate and sales taxes for the next three years, and a projected $68 billion deficit for the 2024-25 budget.

The state's unemployment rate, which started the year at 4.2%, had climbed to 4.8% as of October, among the highest in the nation, compared with the U.S. unemployment rate of 3.9%.

Job growth slowed, with the legislative analyst pointing out that as of September, the state had added less than 10,000 jobs four months in a row. The last time that happened was during the Great Recession.

The types of jobs being added and subtracted are key in a state that depends on income-tax revenue. California's vaunted tech industry continued to shed typically high-wage jobs, with at least 78,000 Golden State-based tech workers laid off for the year, according to Layoffs.fyi, which tracks that information. The jobs that actually grew in the state were in the health sector and in accommodations and food services, with the Public Policy Institute of California noting that those typically pay lower wages.

Another revenue source that has historically helped fill California's coffers is the initial public offering, which can create immense — and taxable — wealth for executives and employees of newly public companies. After 119 IPOs in the state in 2020 and 195 in 2021, public offerings dropped drastically to 31 last year and 25 this year, according to data from PitchBook, which says the venture capital market remains "under considerable stress" due to economic and geopolitical uncertainty.

One delayed spending commitment as a result of the budget deficit involved addressing the unemployment insurance fund's $20 billion debt, which ballooned because millions of the state's residents lost their jobs during the beginning of the pandemic. The debt could compound the state's financial problems for the next decade, potentially costing $3 billion to $7 billion in interest payments over several years, the legislative analyst projects. The debt also means that employers in California are facing higher required payments into the unemployment insurance fund until it is paid off. Any future instance of mass joblessness and demand for unemployment benefits would mean the state would most likely have to borrow from the federal government again.

Riverside County Department of Waste Resources to Host Free Composting Class

RIVERSIDE - The Riverside County Department of Waste Resources will host a free backyard composting class and a "make your own worm bin" workshop this weekend in Moreno Valley.

THE free class and workshop are scheduled at 9 a.m. Saturday at 14310 Frederick St.

"Residents will learn how to recycle organic resources, such as yard trimmings, as well as fruit and vegetable waste into a dark, crumbly, sweet-smelling soil conditioner," Supervising Recycling Specialist Janet Moreland said in a statement.

Residents will also learn how compost can be used to enrich the soil in gardens, lawns and house plants.

The free backyard composting class will begin at 9 a.m., and low-cost compost bins will be available for purchase at the location. Residents will then learn how to further breakdown food and yard waste with help from worms, through a process known as vermicomposting, according to the department.

The Vermicomposting and Make Your Own Worm Bin workshop will begin at 10 a.m., immediately following the composting class. Worm bin kits will also be available for purchase.

A list of materials needed for the class can be found at rcwaste.org/community-outreach/free-classes/vermicomposting.

The class and workshop will end by 1 p.m.

For more information, residents can contact Moreland at 951-486-3200.

Memorial Service to Mark One-Year Anniversary of Deputy's Death

LAKE ELSINORE (CNS) - A memorial service is planned next week to mark the one-year anniversary of the slaying of a 30-year-old Riverside County sheriff's deputy ambushed while responding to a domestic violence call.

THE sheriff's Lake Elsinore station has scheduled a remembrance ceremony for Deputy Darnell Calhoun at 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 13, outside the station, located at 333 Limited St.

Station commander sheriff's Capt. James Rayls is slated to speak, along with other officials.

There was no immediate word on how many members of Calhoun's family intend to attend.

Calhoun, who is survived by his widow, Vanessa, and young sons Russell, Troy and Malcolm, was fatally shot on Jan. 13, 2023, allegedly by 43-year-old Jesse Ceazar Navarro of Lake Elsinore.

The Riverside County District Attorney's Office announced in July that prosecutors will pursue a death sentence if Navarro is convicted.

According to a sheriff's arrest warrant affidavit filed with the criminal complaint, Calhoun went to a residence in the 18500 block of Hilldale Lane, near Grand Avenue, at about 4:30 p.m. after 911 dispatchers received a call indicating a domestic altercation at the location, without certainty because the caller abruptly hung up.

Calhoun arrived alone in his patrol vehicle and "contacted several individuals in the driveway of the residence," according to the affidavit.

"Navarro partially concealed himself behind an open door of his (pickup) truck, holding a handgun out of sight of Deputy Calhoun," the document said. "Within 17 seconds of Deputy Calhoun arriving on scene, Navarro began shooting at him. Navarro fired multiple rounds at Deputy Calhoun, (who) fled on foot. Navarro then entered his truck, drove in the direction that Calhoun had fled and continued to fire at him from the truck."

The affidavit revealed Calhoun fired back at the defendant, but "none of the rounds appeared to injure him."

several times and collapsed in the street. He was taken to Inland Valley Medical Center in Wildomar, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

A backup deputy engaged Navarro in a gunfight within a couple minutes of the "deputy under fire" call, wounding the defendant. The responding deputy wasn't injured.

Navarro has since recovered from his wounds and is being held without bail at the Robert Presley Jail in Riverside. He has a mental competency hearing set for Jan. 19 at the Southwest Justice Center in Murrieta.

In September, by unanimous consent of the state Senate, a segment of Interstate 15 between Central Avenue and North Main Street in Lake Elsinore was renamed the Deputy Darnell Andrew Calhoun Memorial Highway.

Last week, the sheriff's department marked the one-year anniversary of another patrol deputy killed in the line of duty, less than three weeks prior to Calhoun's loss.

Deputy Isaiah Albert Cordero, 32, of Jurupa Valley was shot to death on the afternoon of Dec. 29, 2022, by a convicted felon during a traffic stop in Jurupa Valley. The man was killed two hours later during a gun battle with deputies attempting to arrest him after a lengthy pursuit that ended on southbound I-15 in Norco.

Cordero's had been the first deputy line-of-duty death in Riverside County in 15 years.

Another deputy, 27-year-old Brett Michael Harris, died while responding to a call early on the morning of May 12, 2023. He was going through a San Jacinto intersection when he was involved in a collision with a motorist, suffering catastrophic injuries.

The driver, who suffered moderate injuries, was not charged in connection with the fatality.

The water content of the statewide snowpack was 25% of the average to date, said Sean de Guzman, a water supply forecasting official with the California Department of Water Resources.

The snowpack functions as a huge frozen reservoir, providing about 30% of the water used annually in California as it melts and runs off into streams and rivers in the spring.

De Guzman conducted the first in a seasonal series of manual measurements on a snow course in the Sierra Nevada at Phillips Station, south of Lake Tahoe. The department also collects measurements with electronic instruments at more than 260 other sites.

De Guzman and his crew methodically worked across a field with minimal snow and a checkerboard of bare spots, measuring and weighing samples.

A year ago there was nearly 5 feet (1.5 meters) of snow at the location and the statewide snowpack was at 177% of average, he said in a webcast.

This time at Phillips

Station, he recorded a snow depth of 7.5 inches (19 centimeters) and a snow-water content of 3 inches (7.6 centimeters), translating to 30% of average to date and 12% of the average on April 1, when the Sierra snowpack is typically at its peak.

"Today's result shows that it's really still too early to determine what kind of year we'll have in terms of wet or dry," de Guzman said, adding that many things can happen with storm systems between January and April.

Still, he noted, the state's reservoir storage is at 116% of average thanks in part to last year's wet winter, which pulled the state out of a yearslong drought.

In addition, there's currently a strong El Nino, a natural and occasional warming of part of the Pacific Ocean that can lead to more precipitation than usual in California, but doesn't always come through.

"Right now the Climate Prediction Center's seasonal outlook for January, February, March is still showing an increased chance of above normal precipitation and snow," de Guzman said.

A year ago, the early January snowpack was already exceptional amid a barrage of atmospheric river storms that stood in stark contrast to three preceding years of drought. By April 2023, the snowpack was 237% of average to date.

The storms caused deadly and damaging flooding and crushed buildings with towering loads of snow, but when the state's Oct. 1-Sept. 30 "water year" ended, enough rain and snow had fallen to fill the state's reservoirs to 128% of their historical average.

Year in Review: California Descends into Budget Deficit

By Mikhail Zinshteyn, CalMatters

Two seemingly diametrically opposed things were both true about California's budget in 2023.

THE state had to pare down its spending as it confronted a nearly $32 billion deficit for 2023-24. Nonetheless, the final spending plan for the general fund was still the second largest on record — $308 billion in total. As recently as 2019, the budget was less than $200 billion.

How did the state pull it off despite the colossal revenue dip?

Not by raiding its reserves, which this year grew to a record level of $37.8 billion. That money will be useful in the event state tax revenues fall below projections during the current fiscal year, sparing Sacramento from having to make “drastic reductions to core programs that marked the state's past efforts to close significant deficits,” the governor's office wrote after he and lawmakers finalized the spending plan.

The fiscal imprecision stems from a quirk in tax deadlines. Because of natural disasters that ransacked most of the state, the Internal Revenue Service extended the deadline almost all Californians had to file from April to October and then to November. The state Franchise Tax Board followed suit. That means the money the state typically collects is reaching its coffers later than usual.

In early December, the fallout from that delayed accounting became clear: The state is on pace to have a budget deficit of $68 billion in 2024-25, the Legislative Analyst's Office reported. About $26 billion of that is from the deficit that is emerging on the books for the 2022-23 year. Basically, because the state didn't have all its tax revenue tallied by the time lawmakers passed the 2023-24 budget in June, they didn't know that 2022-23 would have a massive budget hole. Now the state has to fill that fiscal chasm from last year as another collapse in revenues relative to spending plans materializes in the current fiscal year.

Cuts to one-time spending, raiding reserves and delaying other programs were actions the LAO said the state could pursue to finalize the 2024-

25 state budget in June. It remains to be seen if ongoing programs will also have to hit the chopping block.

This has worsened what was already a worrying picture. Analysts for both the Legislature and governor's office earlier in the year predicted stagnant revenue growth for the next few years and annual deficits ranging from $14 billion to $20 billion. Costs will rise after the Newsom administration negotiated, and legislators approved, a series of generous contracts with state worker unions. And things could get a lot worse if a recession emerges.

The shaky budget outlook is one reason Newsom this year vetoed 156 bills, some with large price tags. Instead, he urged lawmakers to propose costly funding plans through the annual budget process — where they can be negotiated, or die quietly.

His stock veto message went something like this: The budget deal avoided “deep program cuts” to education, health care, climate, public safety, and social service programs. “This year, however, the Legislature sent me bills outside of this budget process that, if all enacted, would add nearly $19 billion of unaccounted costs in the budget, of which $11 billion would be ongoing.”

Even with that frugality, critics have questioned the state government's narrative of fiscal prudence. The final budget deal reduced actual spending by only $8 billion. The rest of the savings came from borrowing money — or asking another agency to borrow the money — and other fiscal maneuvers. For example, rather than giving colleges and universities $2.2 billion upfront to build affordable student housing, the state told the campuses to borrow the money instead and the state will cover the debt payments. Doing that counts as budget savings, but it also grows the cost of the housing program by 1.4 times because of the years of interest payments.

Also built into the budget plan is an escape hatch: Basically, if revenues aren't there, the governor can delay spending on various one-time programs by March of next year.

Major issues for 2024: Billions of dollars in planned spending could be delayed or gutted as the deficit picture worsens. Pressure will be on legislators to find the money elsewhere when the next budget is due in late June. That could be through taxes, such as the corporate rate increases the Senate sought in 2023 but that Newsom shot down, spending cuts for one-time programs or dipping into the state's enormous reserves. Regardless, lawmakers' progressive vision may run into fiscal reality, setting up a battle over which marquee programs to fund or shelve.

CA Economy

California's population — its labor force — has declined since the COVID-19 pandemic's onset in 2020, with Wells Fargo economists forecasting that the state's population probably fell 0.1% in 2023, compared with 0.3% in 2022 and 0.9% in 2021. But in 2024, they expect a 0.2% rise due to increased international migration and people returning to work in the state as remote-work options dwindle.

Experts have varying levels of optimism about the state's economy, but they agree that California is in for a downturn — a “weak” 2024, as Jerry Nickelsburg, senior economist for the UCLA Anderson Forecast, told CalMatters in October. Nickelsburg noted in a presentation about his forecast, though, that the state's job growth is weak in certain regions but strong in others, and that despite layoffs, the tech industry is still adding jobs. Wells Fargo economists, who have been mostly upbeat about the state's economy, said if there is a nationwide recession next year, the “resilient” state will likely experience a contraction.

Major issues for 2024: The economic challenges California faced in 2023 will be key issues for the state's lawmakers and governor in 2024. The forecasted budget deficit, flat tax revenue and massive unemployment insurance debt are financial headaches with no quick political cures. Ongoing layoffs and slowdowns in the tech industry and IPOs could also continue to weigh on the state's bottom line — and so could the possibility that people keep moving out of state. Affordability issues such as rising home and auto insurance premiums, as well as housing costs, are bound to play a role in whether the state's residents stay.

California continues to experience lower job growth

Based on the most recent numbers from the Legislative Analyst's Office, California continues a four-month trend where the number of new jobs added by businesses was lower than 10,000 workers.

Today in History

Today's Highlight in History: On Jan. 5, 1998, Sonny Bono, the 1960s pop star-turned-politician, was killed when he struck a tree while skiing at the Heavenly Ski Resort on the Nevada-California state line; he was 62.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1896, an Austrian newspaper, Wiener Presse, reported the discovery by German physicist Wilhelm Roentgen (RENT'-gun) of a type of radiation that came to be known as X-rays.

In 1914, auto industrialist Henry Ford announced he was going to pay workers $5 for an 8-hour day, as opposed to $2.34 for a 9-hour day. (Employees still worked six days a week; the 5-day work week was instituted in 1926.)

In 1925, Democrat Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming took office as America's first female governor, succeeding her late husband, William, following a special election.

In 1933, construction began on the Golden Gate Bridge. (Work was completed four years later.)

In 1943, educator and scientist George Washington Carver, who was born into slavery, died in Tuskegee, Alabama, at about age 80.

In 1949, in his State of the Union address, President Harry S. Truman labeled his administration the Fair Deal.

In 1953, Samuel Beckett's two-act tragicomedy "Waiting for Godot," considered a classic of the Theater of the Absurd,

In 1957, President Dwight D. Eisenhower proposed assistance to countries to help them resist Communist aggression in what became known as the Eisenhower Doctrine.

In 1972, President Richard Nixon announced that he had ordered development of the space shuttle.

In 1994, Thomas P. "Tip"

O'Neill, former speaker of the House of Representatives, died in Boston at age 81.

In 2004, foreigners arriving at U.S. airports were photographed and had their fingerprints scanned in the start of a government effort to keep terrorists out of the country.

In 2011, John Boehner (BAY'-nur) was elected speaker as Republicans regained control of the House of Representatives on the first day of the new Congress.

In 2022, Australia denied entry to tennis star Novak Djokovic, who was seeking to play for a 10th Australian Open title later in the month; authorities canceled his visa because he failed to meet the requirements for an exemption to COVID-19 vaccination rules.

In 2023, Russian President Vladimir Putin ordered his armed forces to observe a unilateral 36-hour cease-fire in Ukraine for the Orthodox Christmas holiday, the first such sweeping truce move in the nearly 11-month-old war.

FILM REVIEW

"Migration"

By Bob Garver

With the holiday season coming to an end, I can only talk about what "made" a movie like "Migration" a relative hit, as opposed to talking about its future. And that reason is that it was a "compromise" movie for families looking for a way to kill time together during the holiday break. "Wonka," while the biggest hit of the season, came out two weeks ago, so "Migration" probably gobbled up some business from families that had already seen it. "Aquaman and the Lost Kingdom" didn't appeal to non-DCEU fans (and was terrible to boot). "The Color Purple" is better than all these movies (seriously, I highly recommend that one), but with its heavy subject matter, isn't exactly fun for the whole family. The compromise was to take the kids to the animated duck movie.

The Mallard family make their home in a small rural pond. Father Mack (Kumail Nanjiani) teaches son Dax (Caspar Jennings) and daughter Gwen (Tresi Gazal) to fear the dangers of the outside world, but mother Pam (Elizabeth Banks) is pretty sure they can handle some adventure if they stick together. Her attitude rubs off on the kids, and they want to migrate to Jamaica for the winter, but Mack forbids it. He's backed up by lazy slob Uncle Dan (Danny DeVito), who leads a sedentary, washed-out life. Uncle Dan's bad example is enough to convince Mack that the family needs a vacation after all.

Mack reluctantly leads the family (including Uncle Dan) toward Jamaica, but they soon get stuck in a miserable rainstorm. Pam tries to play the "it's all part of the adventure" and "we'll laugh about this later" cards, as parents tend to do when things go wrong on vacation, but it's clear things are off to a bad start. Things get even worse when a heron (Carol Kane) offers the family refuge in her home, and they have to spend the night in the home of a frightening predator. It turns out that the real predator is a fish that has swam into the flooded house, but it's an unnerving experience all the same.

The family gets "lost" and ends up in New York City (though I have no idea where they started, so NYC could be south for all I know), where they befriend local streetwise pigeon Chump (Awkwafina). She makes the inevitable joke confusing Jamaica the country with the Queens neighborhood once and then leaves it alone, which was a relief to me – I thought the characters would spend about an hour making that mistake.

BRUSCHETTA

I had a family holiday party to attend, and we were asked to bring an appetizer. I thought for a few seconds before settling on bruschetta.

It's about as delicious an appetizer as there is and I thought there was a good chance I would be the only one making this dish. It went pretty fast and not only because I ate about 10 of them! So, let's make bruschetta and you can bring it to your new year's party. Makes about 2 cups.

INGREDIENTS

- 8 Roma tomatoes
- 5 cloves of garlic
- 4 tbsp olive oil
- ½ cup sliced basil
- 1 tbsp salt
- 1 tbsp balsamic glaze
- Toast points

TO MAKE:

In a small saucepan over low heat combine olive oil and garlic. Cook for a couple minutes to soften the garlic. Do not burn garlic. Set aside to cool. Deseed tomatoes and dice into quarter inch pieces. Place in a strainer and salt. Let sit for 5 minutes to a couple of hours, the longer the better. The idea here is to expel excess moisture from the tomatoes. In a bowl combine the tomatoes, garlic infused olive oil, basil and balsamic glaze and mix. Serve over toast points. EAT!

ROLLING INTO THE NEW YEAR

Don't settle for ordinary; make this New Year's eve extraordinary.

And that means homemade pasta.

It's something that might seem intimidating, but it only requires a few ingredients. And it's so worth the effort! It's also a fun new way to make new memories with the family. You don't need a pasta machine to make it. A rolling pin and some muscle will do the trick. And you can hand-cut the dough into long strips for tagliatelle or pappardelle.

Here's the fool proof recipe that I share with my students.

Wishing you a Happy New Year!

Homemade Pasta

Ingredients:

Serves 2

(scales up easily)

- 100 grams (⅔ cup) all purpose flour
- 100 grams (½ cup) fine semolina flour
- 2 eggs
- Small pinch of salt

Directions:

1. Combine flours and ¼ teaspoon salt into a large bowl. Mix to evenly distribute everything. Then, make a little well in the middle and add the eggs. Stir with a spoon or with your hands. Mix to form a ball. (A good 5-7 minutes) Add 1 tablespoon of water if it's a little dry. When it's pretty smooth, cover the ball in plastic wrap and let rest for at least 30 minutes on the counter.

2. After 30 minutes, unwrap the dough and knead for 5-10 minutes or until very smooth and no dry spots are present.

3. Cut in half and flatten the dough as best you can. Use a rolling pin if you don't have a machine. Get it thin enough until you can see your fingers' shadow through the dough.

4. Then, sprinkle it with semolina flour and cut it with a sharp knife into thick strands. Lay the strands out to dry for an hour, or cook immediately. Spread them out so they don't stick to each other. Do the same with the other piece of dough you set aside. You can also do this process using a pasta machine. Go to the 5 or 6 setting on the machine.

5. Cook the pasta in salted water for 1-3 minutes. Taste a strand to see if it is cooked. There should be a bite, but not taste like raw flour, nor be mushy.

6. Drain and serve with your sauce immediately. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese if desired.

If not using pasta right away, flour well and make nests. Let dry for 30 minutes, then store in the fridge or freezer, covered well in a ziploc bag. Uncooked pasta keeps 2 days in the fridge, 2 weeks in the freezer.

Chump takes them to imprisoned macaw Delroy (Keegan-Michael Key), who can give them directions to Jamaica, but they decide they can't just leave him in his cage, they need to break him out so he can take them there himself. This angers his mute owner, who happens to be a chef that specializes in cooking ducks.

The family spends the rest of the movie battling the chef, who has his own private helicopter so they can have a confrontation later at a duck farm (disguised an avian-friendly vacation resort for some reason, even though this isn't "Wonka" and humans don't need to con the ducks) and then further down the coast in the third act.

"Migration" isn't a particularly imaginative family film. It's certainly cute and harmless enough that I don't think anybody will truly detest it, even if they're well outside the target audience. But it's not the kind that I think parents will enjoy as much as their kids – save for the completelyplausible possibility that the kids find it dull too.

Grade: C

"Migration" is rated PG for action/peril and mild rude humor. Its running time is 83 minutes, plus nine for the pre-feature animated short "Mooned," which follows villain Vector (Jason Segel) after the events of 2010's "Despicable Me." I didn't find the short funny, but I'm glad the franchise is keeping the character alive, as I thought he was funny in the first movie and would like to see him return for future installments.

If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916) 939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://www.nationwideposting.com>, using the file number assigned to this case [2023-556180]. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800-280-2832 or visit this internet website www.ndscorp.com/sales, using the file number assigned to this case 23-01868-SMCA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT*: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are a "representative of all eligible tenant buyers" you may be able to purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 888-264-4010, or visit this internet website www.ndscorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 23-01868-SMCA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as a "representative of all eligible tenant buyers" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. *Pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code, the potential rights described herein shall apply only to public auctions taking place on or after January 1, 2021, through December 31, 2025, unless later extended. NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER:

The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site https://www.altisource.com/loginpage.aspx using the file number assigned to this case 2023-01140-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction, if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (866)-960-8299, or visit this internet website https://www.altisource.com/loginpage.aspx, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-01140-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
