Moreno Valley Pastor Charged with Sexually Assaulting Girl

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - A 78-year-old pastor accused of sexually assaulting a young girl is slated to be arraigned next week on multiple felony charges.

DAVID Lee Helbling of Moreno Valley was arrested last week following a Riverside County Sheriff's Department investigation.

Helbling is charged with various acts of sexual acts with a child under 10 years old, abduction of a minor, forcible lewd acts on a child, perpetrating three or more sexual acts on a minor and a sentence-enhancing allegation of bodily injury during a sexual assault.

The defendant made his initial court appearance Friday before Superior Court Judge Gail O'Rane, who appointed him a public defender and scheduled his arraignment for March 1 at the Riverside Hall of Justice.

Helbling is being held on

David Lee Helbling

$2 million bail at the Smith Correctional Facility in Banning.

According to sheriff's Sgt. Robert Martinez, deputies were informed on Jan. 30 of an alleged attack on the victim, identified in court documents only as "E.A.," in the 23000 block of Hemlock Avenue, near Pigeon Pass Road.

The ensuing investigation led to the identification of Helbling, a local minister, as the alleged perpetrator.

A social media post attributed to Helbling said he's held multiple positions at Assemblies of God USA. Videos posted online showed him preaching and participating in services at the Blessing Center First Assembly of God, on Hemlock Avenue.

evidence related to the crime was collected, and Helbling was taken into custody without incident.

Sgt. Martinez said a search warrant was obtained and served at the defendant's residence, where "evidence related to the crime was collected, and Helbling was taken into custody without incident."

Court papers indicated the defendant committed the alleged offenses all on the same day -- Jan. 30.

"It is alleged that in connection with the commission of the offenses, Helbling ... kidnapped the victim, and the movement of the victim substantially increased the risk of harm," according to the criminal complaint. "The defendant resided in the same home, and (he) had recurring access (to her)"

The charges carry a potential maximum sentence of life in prison without the possibility of parole.

U.S. Senate Contenders Make Their Final Debate Arguments

BY YUE STELLA YU, CALMATTERS

The top four candidates vying to become California's next U.S. senator arrived at Universal Studios in Hollywood tonight for their last live televised debate — a final chance to sway undecided debate-watchers — before the March 5 primary.

THE debate hosted by NBC4 and Telemundo 52 drew Democratic U.S. Reps. Barbara Lee, Katie Porter and Adam Schiff, as well as Steve Garvey, a Republican and former L.A. Dodgers star.

Broadcast in both English and Spanish, the hour-long event was an opportunity for candidates to reach Spanish-speaking Latino voters, who could help determine winners up and down the ballot in March — if they turn out.

The candidates have stressed for months the importance of reaching Latino voters, who are the biggest racial and ethnic group in California but the least likely to vote. Lee, Porter and Schiff have participated in two forums targeting Latino voters, including a November event on immigration issues and another hosted by the Latino Community Foundation and Spanish-language broadcast network Univision on Saturday, which Garvey declined to attend.

But recent polling among Latino voters shows a large portion still undecided in this race. A California Elections and Policy poll published earlier this month showed that 31% of likely Latino voters were undecided.

While most Latinos nationwide speak English proficiently, some researchers say airing Spanish-language ads still helps political campaigns resonate with and turn out Latino voters. But in the Senate race, even as campaigns dropped millions on digital and TV ads statewide, they have spent little on Spanish-language advertising, Politico reported.

Here are some key highlights from Tuesday Night:

LATINO OUTREACH

All three Democrats received the same question:

Why should Latino voters trust you, even though Democrats failed to overhaul the immigration system when they controlled both the White House and Congress?

Porter — who often tries to distinguish herself from others she deems “career politicians” in Washington, D.C. — blamed her colleagues in Congress.

“I’m not satisfied with what Democrats or Republicans have been delivering,” she said. “I’m not going to offer you the status quo because the status quo has been unacceptable and not enough for millions of Americans. I’m tired of hearing about comprehensive immigration reform. I want to do it.”

“Comprehensive immigration reform” is just what Lee and Schiff championed next. All three have supported — or even co-sponsored — bills to provide a pathway to citizenship for undocumented immigrants and their children.

“Our Latino community should not trust us. They should grade us based on the work that we have done, our voting record and exactly what we believe in,” Lee said, pledging to work with California’s U.S. Sen. Alex Padilla on providing legal status for long-term U.S. residents and farmworkers.

Schiff — endorsed by both the United Farm Workers and the Coalition for Humane Immigrant Rights’s Action Fund — said the failure to “reform” the immigration system in 2010 was “on our party.” To pass it, Democrats would have to “do it ourselves” and get rid of the filibuster — a political tactic often used to prolong a floor debate and slow down legislative actions.

But why should Latino voters trust Republicans such as former President Donald Trump, who reportedly opposed a bipartisan immigration deal to avoid giving President Joe Biden a victory?

Garvey, who received the question, blamed the bill for not doing enough to “secure the border,” even though the bill would have given Biden emergency power to shut down the border.

All three Democrats said they would not have voted for the bill package, arguing it did not go far enough to protect immigrants.

WAR AND PEACE

The candidates diverged on America’s role in the world and whether the country should provide foreign aid.

Lee — who has been the most consistent of the candidates to oppose increasing military funding and the only one to call for a permanent ceasefire in Gaza — disagreed with most of her opponents on multiple issues.

What to Do if You're Concerned you Might be Laid Off — Or if You've Lost Your Job

By ADRIANA MORGA Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Recent mass layoffs from technology and media companies, including eBay, Riot Games and the Los Angeles Times, might have you thinking about your job security.

IF you're worried you could be laid off — or if you've lost your job — personal finance professionals and career advisers have recommendations for how to cope. They range from preparing an emergency fund to understanding your severance package.

IF YOU ARE CONCERNED YOU MAY BE LAID OFF START SAVING

It's crucial to start building an emergency fund even when you feel secure at your job, but especially if you think you might lose it.

You might not be able to save enough to cover the whole time you'll be out of work, but even a small amount can reduce your stress.

When you start thinking about saving, Jesse Mecham, founder of the money management app YNAB, recommends you ask yourself this question: What do I want my money to do?

Maybe a year ago, you wanted to save for a trip abroad, while now you want to have money in case you are out of work for six months.

If you are aggressively paying off debt and it's affecting your ability to save, Mecham recommends slowing down payments. You should still make at least the minimum payment, but you might want to consider temporarily using any money you've been paying over that to build an extra cash cushion so you have money available should you need it. It's also crucial to avoid getting into further debt, Mecham said.

UPDATE YOUR RESUME

It's always a good idea to keep your resume up to date but, but you should also keep it customizable for several jobs, said Scott Dobroski, career trends expert for Indeed. You can do this by leaving space in your resume to include keywords that are specific to the job you are applying for.

Jobs might require slightly different skills if you are planning to stay in the same industry, or completely different skills if you move to another field. If you keep your resume updated and customizable, it could make things easier when you need to move on.

Etienne Lepine, 46, a software engineer at Keysight, was recently notified that she will be laid off by the end of the month. Soon after hearing the news, she decided to work on updating her resume and LinkedIn page.

Lepine had worked at the company almost eight years and, while the news affected her, she felt a sense of empowerment when she was updating her resume.

"I can't control losing my job but I can try to present myself in the best possible way," said Lepine, a resident of Lafayette, Colorado.

ACTIVATE YOUR NETWORK

Tapping into connections in your industry now is a good idea, said career coach Marlo Lyons. Talking with your friends about possible job openings elsewhere could give you a head start.

ADD TO YOUR SKILL SET

Gaining new skills and adding certifications or courses to your resume can be a good way to move up in your current job. If you think you might have to go somewhere else, look for the skills that will make you a stronger candidate, Lyons said. Whether it's taking a free online course or signing up to get a specific license, adding to the skills listed on your resume will have benefits whether you stay in your current job or have to look for another one.

Websites including Coursera and edX offer courses and certifications from universities around

PRIORITIZE YOUR MENTAL HEALTH

Your mental health can be heavily affected after a job loss. Take a breath and let yourself feel the emotions. Prioritizing your mental health will allow you to approach your job search in a better way, Dobroski said.

For Lepine, putting her mental health first means focusing on the positive aspects of a new chapter in her life, rather than dwelling on how hard it will be to leave a job she loves.

"I've been trying not to focus too much on the negative feelings about it, because I know that getting upset isn't going to make it any easier for me to make a fresh start," Lepine said.

and applying for jobs for a certain number of hours will keep you grounded, he said. Lyons recommends designating a time during the day to start and end applying for jobs.

"Do not over-exhaust yourself with applying to jobs," Lyons said. "Take time to do activities that make you feel good."

Lepine has been leaning into her hobbies to feel better. Her regular activities include baking, cooking and going to her curling club.

"I'm not stress eating. I'm stress baking because I just keep cooking things like, 'Oh, what's this new recipe that'll make me feel better?'" Lepine said.

CHECK YOUR BENEFITS

It's crucial that you understand your compensation package and save any documentation that you need to understand your benefits after you've been laid off. Some especially important things to know are your health insurance and dental benefits, Dobroski said.

In the last couple of weeks of employment, Lepine has been making sure that she has enough of her prescriptions for a couple of months, as she has Type 1 diabetes.

"I don't want to get myself into a situation where I don't have enough insulin or contact lenses or things to keep living in a healthy way while I'm in this transitional period," Lepine said.

NETWORK

Reaching out to your professional and personal network can be helpful, and it's useful to give some direction to friends and colleagues who want to help, Lyons said.

MAINTAIN A ROUTINE

Keeping some structure in your day will help you with your mental health and with the right cadence of applying to jobs, Mecham said.

Planning your days so they include eating at your usual time, working out or going for a walk, the U.S. They offer some of the courses for free.

Historical marker along the Santa Barbara coast where shells from a Japanese submarine caused significant fright but little damage on February 23, 1942. President Roosevelt was delivering a nationwide "Fireside Chat" on the radio when the shells hit.

Friday, February 16, 2024 Today in History

Today's Highlight in History: On Feb. 23, 1942, the first shelling of the U.S. mainland during World War II occurred as a Japanese submarine, about a mile offshore, fired on an oil refinery near Santa Barbara, California, causing little damage. It was the first foreign attack on American mainland soil since the War of 1812.

ON THIS DATE:

In 1685, composer George Frideric Handel was born in present-day Germany.

In 1822, Boston was granted a charter to incorporate as a city.

In 1836, the siege of the Alamo began in San Antonio, Texas.

In 1861, President-elect Abraham Lincoln arrived secretly in Washington to take office, following word of a possible assassination plot in Baltimore.

In 1903, President Theodore Roosevelt signed an agreement with Cuba to lease the area around Guantanamo Bay to the United States.

In 1945, during World War II, U.S. Marines on Iwo Jima captured Mount Suribachi, where they raised two American flags (the second flag-raising was captured in the iconic Associated Press photograph.)

In 1954, the first mass

inoculation of schoolchildren against polio using the Salk vaccine began in Pittsburgh as some 5,000 students were vaccinated.

In 1998, 42 people were killed, some 2,600 homes and businesses damaged or destroyed, by tornadoes in central Florida.

In 2007, a Mississippi grand jury refused to bring any new charges in the 1955 slaying of Emmett Till, the Black teenager who was beaten and shot after being accused of whistling at a white woman, declining to indict the woman, Carolyn Bryant Donham, for manslaughter.

In 2011, in a major policy reversal, the Obama administration said it would no longer defend the constitutionality of the Defense of Marriage Act, a federal law banning recognition of same-sex marriage.

In 2020, Ahmaud Arbery,

a 25-year-old Black man, was fatally shot on a residential Georgia street; a white father and son had armed themselves and pursued him after seeing him running through their neighborhood. (Greg and Travis McMichael and neighbor William "Roddie" Bryan were convicted of murder, aggravated assault and other charges and were sentenced to life in prison.)

In 2021, golfer Tiger Woods was seriously injured when his SUV crashed into a median and rolled over several times on a steep road in suburban Los Angeles.

In 2023, a federal judge handed singer R. Kelly a 20-year prison sentence for his convictions of child pornography and the enticement of minors for sex but said he would serve nearly all of the sentence simultaneously with a 30-year sentence imposed a year earlier on racketeering charges.

She was the only Democrat to directly oppose the U.S. deploying troops to Taiwan if it were attacked by China. Garvey said “no troops on the ground.” Porter said she would “support safeguarding us from the threats of China,” while Schiff sided with Biden, who has supported deploying troops.

On the bipartisan deal to provide $60 billion in aid to Ukraine, Lee was the only one to express concerns with certain provisions.

Garvey was asked to “defend” Trump’s foreign policy agenda but did not answer the question, instead telling the TV audience that he would do “everything to maintain your security.”

CLIMATE CHANGE

When asked about the Diablo Canyon Power Plant in San Luis Obispo County — California’s last nuclear power plant, which is scheduled to shut down after 2030 — all three Democrats agreed it must eventually be decommissioned, and some agreed with Newsom’s schedule.

But will the candidates embrace nuclear energy?

Schiff, while stressing the nation should move away from fossil fuel and invest in new energy, said nuclear energy must be part of the discussion.

Lee said she does not support nuclear power. Porter said she sees nuclear waste “in my own backyard,” noting she is part of the bipartisan Fusion Caucus in Congress that’s focused on new technology that reduces hazardous waste.

Garvey, however, supported keeping Diablo Canyon open and also said fossil fuels should be here to stay.

“This country runs on gas and oil,” he said. “When it’s all said and done, the people will decide. They are the ones that will tell us what they can afford and what they need.”

CLASHES BETWEEN SCHIFF AND PORTER

Schiff and Porter went toe-to-toe tonight, trading blows on multiple issues from child care to corporate donations.

While talking about inflation, Porter claimed Schiff did not sign on as co-sponsors of two bills to lower child care costs. She was referring to the Child Care for Working Families Act, which would cap child care costs at 7% of a family’s household income, and the Child Care for Every Community Act, which would waive child care fees for low-income families, her campaign told CalMatters.

Schiff countered that he has authored his own. “There’s nothing easier than putting your name on a bill. Where you see the real legislators is that they write their own legislation,” he said.

Schiff’s campaign pointed to two bills he helped introduce, including the Child Care Stabilization Act to extend funding for child care providers and the Affordable Housing and Childcare Investment Act to fund for more child care facilities.

The two also clashed on their record accepting campaign contributions from corporations. Porter — who has touted her record of never having accepted corporate PAC money — has criticized Schiff for accepting a total of $2 million from corporate PAC throughout his career. His campaign has not cashed checks from corporate PACs this election.

Schiff, however, accused Porter of taking contributions from oil, banking and pharmaceutical industries even as her campaign swore off those industry executives’ money. Fairshake PAC, a super PAC sponsored by crypto financiers, has made a similar claim in a million-dollar ad blitz against her.

When asked for proof, Schiff’s campaign pointed to statistics collected by OpenSecrets, a nonpartisan nonprofit that tracks money in politics.

Data shows Porter’s campaign collected more than $171,000 from individuals who worked in the energy and natural resources sector, $290,000 from those who worked in the pharmaceutical and health products industry and almost $3 million from the finance, insurance and real estate industry, which includes commercial banking.

The data does not distinguish between contributions from executives and those from low-level employees. A separate fact check by the Sacramento Bee of the Fairshake claim rated it “mostly false.”

The two also again clashed on earmarks — a process members of Congress use to secure federal funding for their own districts. Porter has argued that the process breeds corruption and has refused to make requests, noting she has instead testified in hearings and written support letters for district-specific federal funding.

“Washington gave sweetheart deals to certain defense contractors through earmarks, and there is a candidate on this stage who has done that again and again, getting earmarks for his private corporate donors who are big defense contractors,” Porter said, referring to Schiff’s early-career campaign contributions from PACs and lobbyists tied to for-profit companies he helped deliver funding to.

Porter did not attack Lee, who also requested earmark funding.

Schiff argued tonight that not requesting the funding would only benefit lawmakers from other states, stating that Porter “prefers a political talking point.”

“Any senator who won’t do that is going to be a gift to every other state of the union, who will fight for resources for their state.”

Despite their clashes, Schiff, who is leading in the polls, and Porter, who is trying to finish in the top two, have adopted seemingly similar political strategies.

Schiff has lambasted Garvey in debates, mailers and TV ads on his past votes for former President Donald Trump — a campaign tactic experts have said could help elevate Garvey’s profile and thrust him into the top two, likely guaranteeing Schiff an easier path to victory if he finishes as the top candidate on March 5.

Porter’s campaign has slammed Schiff for propping up Garvey, deeming it in her fundraising messages as a “sneaky play” to “push Katie out of the top two.”

But her campaign engaged in a similar tactic targeting Eric Early, a GOP attorney who is lagging in polls and fundraising despite winning the endorsement of a dozen local Republican parties. “MAGA Republican Eric Early proudly stands with Donald Trump, while Steve Garvey refuses to tell us who he supports,” the ad said.

Porter invoked Early’s name again on stage tonight, arguing he is “100% MAGA.”

Porter spokesperson Nathan Click defended the ad, telling Politico the clip simply works to “set the record straight about Republican Trump-worshipper Eric Early and dodging waffler Steve Garvey.”

Layoffs

Examples include asking them to write you recommendations on LinkedIn, recommend you for a job or invite you to a conference for free.

SHARE YOUR EXPERIENCE

It can be hard to talk about losing your job, and you should only share if you feel comfortable. But sharing can help by allowing you to lean on your support system.

When Lepine found out that she was laid off, she was texting with a good friend of hers who quickly made her feel better by understanding her way of coping with hard things: humor.

APPLY FOR

UNEMPLOYMENT

Applying for unemployment is an option that everyone should utilize, Lyons said. While the amount you get for unemployment might not be as much as your salary, it can help you to stay afloat for some time.

“Companies you worked for are required to pay state and federal tax which provide unemployment benefits,” Lyons said. “Don’t be shy about collecting it.”

The Labor Department has tips on applying for unemployment.

CONSIDER A TEMPORARY JOB

A temporary job is a good option if you can’t afford to be out of work, Dobroski said. Lyons also recommends temporary jobs and says you should include them in your resume if they showcase skills that match your desired full-time job, such as leadership or organizational skills.

“It shows that you have grit, that you’re willing to work hard and take care of your responsibilities,” she said.

What Every Mom and Soon-to-be-Mom Needs to Know About Their Heart

Over the last three decades, the United States has seen pregnancy-related deaths rise nearly 140%, and heart disease continues to be the leading cause. Furthermore, women who have prenatal complications, such as high blood pressure or gestational diabetes, have a significantly higher risk of heart disease and stroke later in life, yet many are not getting the care they need.

ACCORDING to the National Collaborative for Infants & Toddlers (NCIT), an advocacy collaborative working to pass policies that make it possible for all expectant parents, infants and toddlers to thrive, the United States is in the midst of a maternal health crisis.

This sentiment is echoed by “Opportunities in the Postpartum Period to Reduce Cardiovascular Disease Risk Following Adverse Pregnancy Outcomes,” a new scientific statement from the American Heart Association (AHA), which was recently published in “Circulation,” the Association’s flagship peer-reviewed journal.

“Healthcare professionals and the public alike often think of heart disease as a man’s disease. While heart disease is also the leading cause of death for women, fewer than 50% of women identify it as such. This is creating a dangerous situation for women, especially during higher-risk periods of their life, as their symptoms often go undiagnosed and untreated,” says Dr. Sadiya S. Khan, one of the statement’s authors. “As adverse pregnancy outcomes become increasingly common, it’s important for women to be aware of their risk for heart disease, the actions they can take to lower their risk if they experience pregnancy complications, and for birth justice policy interventions to take place that will improve

(c) digitalskillet / iStock via Getty Images Plus their care during their pregnancy, and throughout their lifetimes.”

Many women face significant barriers in accessing primary care after delivery. Up to 40% of women do not access postpartum care, and only an estimated 18% to 25% of postpartum patients with pregnancy complications or chronic health conditions are seen by a primary care clinician within 6 months of delivery. Women of color, and women in rural areas are disproportionately impacted by barriers to care that could leave them vulnerable to further health complications.

According to NCIT, policy interventions such as expanded Medicaid coverage for 12 months postpartum in all states, expanded income eligibility for health insurance programs, paid family and medical leave, community-based doulas, and evidence-based home visiting programs can help promote ethnic, racial and socioeconomic birth equity, and help ensure all expectant and new parents have access to insurance, care and the supports needed to thrive.

Also supporting women in all stages of life, and all stages of pregnancy is Go Red for Women, an AHA initiative empowering women to take charge of their heart health. One way they can do that, according to the initiative, is by understanding their heart disease risks, and coming to their doctors’ appointments prepared to discuss their personal and family health history and other factors that could impact their chance of a healthy pregnancy. Women can also proactively manage their heart disease risk factors during pregnancy and after delivery using the AHA’s Life Essential 8 cardiovascular health metrics as a framework. These include: eating better, being more active, quitting tobacco, getting healthy sleep, managing weight, controlling cholesterol, managing blood sugar and managing blood pressure.

“Stemming the tide of this maternal health crisis is vital for families, and it starts with bringing light to the tremendous need for better delivery of care to moms and soon-to-be moms with a focus on heart health,” says Dr. Khan. (Statepoint)

Helping Infants, Toddlers and Families Thrive

A bipartisan package that recently passed in the U.S. House of Representatives, would expand the child tax credit (CTC). As the Senate decides whether to follow suit, advocates press that the CTC is a critical policy vehicle to help all infants, toddlers and their families thrive, and it should be implemented as soon as possible.

“Uplifting children out of poverty gives them better chances in life, so it’s critical that families advocate for CTCs, as well as understand how they work,” says Jacob Pinney-Johnson, trainer with the Early Childhood Investment Corporations, National Center for Family and Parent. “For families like mine that have struggled to make ends meet, a child tax credit will make all the difference in helping them feed, clothe and house their child.”

Studies show that inadequate housing, food insecurity and familial stress during the first three years of a child’s life pose risks to their rapidly developing brain and body. These effects can have long-lasting impacts, impairing their ability to be healthy and thrive in adulthood.

If the House version of the federal CTC goes fully into effect, roughly 16 million children under age 17 will benefit in the first year, including nearly 3 million infants and toddlers, according to the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. While more modest than the 2021 credit, the measure would lift hundreds of thousands of children above the poverty line in the first year, and include further increases in 2025, along with inflation adjustments in future years.

Given these figures, it’s no surprise that the measure is popular with parents across the political spectrum. In a November 2022 poll by the nonprofit Zero to Three, an overwhelming 85% of parents said it’s important for Congress to reinstate Child Tax Credit reforms.

The National Collaborative for Infants & Toddlers, or NCIT, an education and advocacy movement committed to ensuring that children prenatal to 3 years old and their families have what they need to thrive, along with thousands of aligned organizations, is supporting strong CTCs that don’t simultaneously exclude many families with onerous restrictions. To learn more, visit <https://www.ncit.org/CTC>.

Advocate stress that federal CTCs are critical, but state governments have a role as well. States can institute their own CTCs to help infants, toddlers and their families thrive now. (State-Point)

My wife is pregnant with our 3rd boy! So, I have gotten in the habit of asking her what she wants for dinner. Before I was in this habit, I would just do my usual, make whatever was in my mind at the moment and I knew everyone would eat it just fine.

HOWEVER, pregnancy does all sorts of things to taste buds and that approach was leading to untouched dinners and a still hungry wife. To course correct, I now ask my wife what she wants that night and everything has been going a whole lot smoother because of it.

This creamy shrimp pasta was one of her requests this week. It varies from the creamy beer shrimp scampi in that this is much more straightforward and simple. It also doesn't use alcohol or require many steps. It's a pretty straight forward, make a roux, add cream and cheese (and cream cheese), and mix in the pasta. You'll see. Let's make a creamy shrimp pasta!

Ingredients

- 1 lb shrimp
- 16 ounces heavy whipping cream
- 1 cup grated parmesan
- 3 tbsp cream cheese
- 2 cloves garlic
- 16 ounces pasta
- 3 tbsp all-purpose flour
- 3 tbsp butter
- 1 tsp pepper
- ½ tsp salt

To Make

Make your pasta to the direction on the bag of pasta. In a large sauté pan melt the butter over medium-low heat. Add the flour and whisk smooth. Pour in the heavy whipping cream and whisk smooth. Add parmesan, cream cheese, and garlic and mix in until as smooth as possible. Maybe a bit clumpy from the parmesan but don't fear. Add a ¼ cup of the pasta water into the roux and add the shrimp. Shrimp will cook in the roux. Once shrimp are pink, add the pasta and mix. You are now ready to plate and EAT!

"BOB MARLEY: ONE LOVE"

By Bob Garver

It was a good idea for "Bob Marley: One Love" to open on Valentine's Day. Not just because there hadn't been a decent box office performer in weeks (and even "Mean Girls" and "The Beekeeper" were only mild hits) and the market was ripe for a takeover. Not just because the holiday weekend needed a blockbuster and "Madame Web" wasn't up to the task.

BUT because the movie had "Love" in its title, it could dominate the couples' scene on Wednesday and ride that insurmountable lead to winning the weekend. The result was a domestic take of over $50 million, enough to already make it the 2nd-biggest movie of the year, behind only "Mean Girls," which it will probably overtake before the week is out. The film can be associated with a brilliant commercial decision, but not so much its creative ones.

The film mostly follows reggae legend Marley (Kingsley Ben-Adir) in the late 1970's. He's already nationally famous when the film begins, as he sets to bravely play a controversial peace concert in Jamaica. Assassins storm his home and shoot Bob, his wife Rita (Lashana Lynch), and his friend Don (Anthony Welsh). All three survive and Bob plays the concert, but he decides that the violence-ridden country is not safe for him and his family anymore. He sends Rita and their children to America while he lies low in London.

After years of exile and loneliness, Bob releases his album "Exodus," which gains him worldwide fame and brings reggae music to the mainstream. Although he's always advocated for peace, Rita believes the message has gotten lost in the commercial success and he needs to do something more meaningful. Seeing that she's right, and faced with his own mortality from a rare form of skin cancer, Bob returns to Jamaica to perform another peace concert, this time to unanimous adulation.

For months I was dreading this movie because of a line in the trailer. One of the members of Bob's band asks where he wants to "start," and Bob, very thoughtfully says, "From the beginning." The cheesiness of that line told me that this was going to be a painfully by-the-numbers biopic, and on a lot of counts, it is. But to people as alienated by that line as I was, I will say that the scene comes midway through the film, so it does not get the film off on as bad

'BOB MARLEY: ONE LOVE' OPENS BIG AT BOX OFFICE WITH $34.1 MILLION

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - "Bob Marley: One Love" opened in first place at the box office, taking in $34.1 million over the four-day Presidents Day weekend, according to updated industry estimates released Monday.

The biopic, which stars Kingsley Ben-Adir as the late Jamaican reggae legend, opened last Wednesday, on Valentine's Day. It easily beat out Sony and Marvel's "Madame Web," which opened with $18 million Friday through Monday after some brutal reviews.

"Argylle" was third with $5.7 million in its third week at North American theaters, Comscore reported.

"Migration" was fourth with $5.1 million in its ninth week, followed by "Wonka" with $4.3 million in its 10th week in theaters.

"The Chosen: Season 4 Episodes 4-6," a multi-season drama about the life of Jesus Christ, was in sixth place with $3.9 million in its opening weekend.

Rounding out the top 10 domestic releases, as estimated by Comscore, were "The Beekeeper" ($3.8 million), "Anyone But You" ($2.8 million), "Lisa Frankenstein" ($2.4 million) and "Land of Bad" ($2.1 million).

thought it would. In fact, a little of "the beginning," a few flashbacks, dream and text screens. There's a varying number of text screens if there's going to be a film. The film can be dry at times, but it's never quite as bad as

"Bob Marley: One Love" falls into the familiar traps of a biopic, with the singer's struggles and health problems. It's right where you'd expect the protagonist is an iconic figure and Ben-Adir is a charismatic performance. It's not to get swept up in the life of Bob Marley at times. But that's a pretty low bar for a biopic to clear.

In the music biopics you can see at theaters or at home, "Bob Marley: One Love" is... one of them. It's a divisive Best Picture Oscar contender, where Bradley Pitt plays conductor Leonard Bernstein, on the other hand... is also "one of them," honestly. Cooper as director takes a few more creative risks with his film, but both of these movies are eye-rolling Oscar bait. "Maestro" landed among the nominees because it was released right at the end of the year, no doubt it would have been forgotten if it had opened in February like "Bob Marley: One Love." I expect to have forgotten about both movies once one's box office cools down and the other's awards run fizzles out.

"Bob Marley: One Love" is rated PG-13 for marijuana use and smoking throughout, some violence and brief strong language. Its running time is 107 minutes.

WEEKNIGHT WONDER: GREEK lemon CHICKEN SKEWERS

By Joanna Barajas

The other day I made these delicious chicken kebabs for meal prep. I was so excited for two reasons. First, the flavor was spot on, lemony and herby. And second, those grill marks!

THE best part was that I made them indoors. So, you don't have to fire up the barbeque in the cold to make these tasty kebabs. You can use an indoor grill, and if you don't have that use a grill pan, or broiler in the oven.

Sometimes it's hard to find new ways to cook chicken breast. It's such a lean meat that it can turn rubbery quickly.

But, this recipe delivers. The marinade keeps the chicken moist, and the flavor is bright and lemon-y like you'd get at your favorite middle eastern spot.

I served it with pilaf rice, tzatziki sauce and Arabic salad for a middle eastern feast. I hope you give it a try for your next weeknight dinner or party situation!

Greek Lemon Chicken Skewers

INGREDIENTS (SERVES 6):

- 1 1/2 pounds boneless skinless chicken breasts, cut into approximately 1 inch cubes
- 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice (about 1 lemon)
- 1 tablespoon red wine or apple cider vinegar
- 2 tablespoon extra virgin olive oil
- 2 cloves of garlic, grated or minced
- 2 teaspoons dried oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon dried parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon ground coriander

- 1/2-1 tsp. Salt
- Fresh ground black pepper to taste

DIRECTIONS:

1. Whisk together all of the ingredients except the chicken in a bowl or glass dish. Add the chicken to the marinade. Toss to coat all the chicken pieces in the marinade. Place in the fridge for up to an hour.

2. Heat the grill to medium-high heat. While the grill is heating, thread the chicken onto metal or wooden skewers.

3. Oil grill grates or grill pan and place the chicken skewers on them. I grease the grill with an oiled paper towel and tongs to move it back and forth on the grill. Grill the chicken for 3-4 minutes then flip it over and grill for another 3-4 minutes or until the chicken is cooked through. If you have any doubt its cooked, you can finish it in the oven. I put the chicken on a baking tray after grilling. Then, I baked it at 425 F for about 7 minutes.

- If you don't have a grill:

Simply preheat your broiler or grill pan to medium-high heat and cook the skewers for about 4-5 minutes on each side, or until the chicken is cooked through and nicely charred.

I hope you try this new recipe! Snap a picture and tag me @chefjoannas on instagram so I see how yours came out.

California is Forging Ahead with Food Waste Recycling. But Is It Too Much, Too Fast?

By AMY TAXIN
Associated Press

CHULA VISTA (AP)

— Two years after California launched an effort to keep organic waste out of landfills, the state is so far behind on getting food recycling programs up and running that it's widely accepted next year's ambitious waste-reduction targets won't be met.

OVER time, food scraps and other organic materials like yard waste emit methane, a gas more potent and damaging in the short-term than carbon emissions from fossil fuels. California's goal is to keep that waste from piling up in landfills, instead turning it into compost or biogas.

Everything from banana peels and used coffee grounds to yard waste and soiled paper products like pizza boxes counts as organic waste. Households and businesses are now supposed to sort that material into a different bin.

But it has been hard to change people's behavior in such a short period of time and cities were delayed setting up contracts to haul organic waste due to the pandemic. In Southern California, the nation's largest facility to convert food waste into biogas has filed for bankruptcy because it's not getting enough of the organic material.

"We're way behind on implementation," said Coby Skye, the recently retired deputy director for environmental services at Los Angeles County Public Works. "In America, for better or worse, we want convenience, and it's very difficult to spend a lot of time and effort educating people about separation."

Meanwhile, some communities that ramped up collection now have more compost than they know what to do with, a sign that more challenges are yet to come as the nation's most populous state plows ahead with its recycling plans.

Only a handful of states mandate organics recycling, and none are running a program as large as California's, which seeks to slash by 75% the amount of organic waste it sends to landfills by 2025 from 2014 levels.

Reaching that goal within a year would be a stretch, experts said.

About three-quarters of communities are currently collecting organic waste from homes, said Rachel Machi Wagoner, CalRecycle's director. While some places are lagging, her aim isn't to punish them but to help them get started, adding that every bit helps the state move towards its goal of reducing emissions.

"My goal is about figuring out where the challenges are and getting us as quickly as possible to success," she said.

"I don't know when we will reach our 75% goal, but we will reach it," she added.

CalRecycle hasn't tallied data yet on how much organic waste was diverted from landfills in 2023. Jurisdictions reported diverting 11.2 million tons (10.1 million metric tons) of organics at the end of 2022, up from 9.9 million tons (8.9 million metric tons) the prior year, Wagoner said.

Some challenges include getting residents on board with sorting their trash into a third bin and knowing what goes where. Others concern what to do with the nutrient-rich compost once it's been created from collected grass clippings, tree branches and food scraps.

At Otay Landfill near the Mexican border, workers pick through heaps of branches and leaves to pull out plastic bits before the material is placed under tarps. The site processes 200 tons (181 metric tons) of organic waste daily and hopes to double that amount as more cities ramp up collection, said Gabe Gonzales, the landfill's operations manager.

Once the compost is made, California's law requires cities to use much of it. But many say they don't have enough space to lay it all out.

Chula Vista, a San Diego County city of 275,000 people, is supposed to use 14,000 tons (12,700 metric tons) of compost a year but uses a few thousand at best, said Manuel Medrano, the city's environmental services manager. Some is doled out in free compost giveaways for residents, while heaps of the material are stored in a fenced area of a local park.

"To transport it is really expensive, to spread it is really expensive," Medrano said. "We're nowhere near meeting that requirement."

Communities with more open space might fare better. Cody Cain, head of marketing and sales for compost-maker Agromin, said his company has developed a plan to link cities struggling to meet these requirements with farmers who need the material for their soil.

"We basically are matchmakers. Call us the 'Tinder' of compost, and we'll bring the farmer together with the city," Cain said.

Food waste also can be converted into biogas to fuel vehicles or industrial operations. But a massive facility built three years ago in the Southern California city of Rialto now finds itself facing bankruptcy after Los Angeles was slow to ramp up collection, leaving the plant with insufficient waste, said Yaniv Scherson, chief operating officer for Anaergia Inc.

"It's because the cities didn't enforce on time the market is struggling," he said. "If it doesn't get feedstock this year, there is a chance it shuts down completely."

LA Sanitation & Environment, which handles trash and recycling for the city of nearly 4 million people, had no immediate comment.

Heidi Sanborn, founding director of the environmental National Stewardship Action Council, said she supports the state's law but wants more done to keep plastics out of compost and to develop alternative energy solutions. Some of California's challenges stem from the fact the state is trying to build a system on a scale the country hasn't seen, she said.

"We're trying to fix incredibly tough problems. We're not going to find the perfect solution out of the gate," she said.

But, Sanborn added, "we're on our way."

Man Charged with Sexually Assaulting Teens in Lake Elsinore

MURRIETA (CNS) - A 20-year-old man accused of engaging in sex acts with two teenage girls in Lake Elsinore was charged Wednesday with a half-dozen offenses.

E MILIO Esteban Ronquillo of Riverside was arrested Friday following a Riverside County Sheriff's Department investigation. An enhancing allegation of committing a crime while on bail, was also filed.

The defendant, is being held in lieu of $500,000 bail at the Byrd Detention Center, According to sheriff's Sgt. Robert Thomas, in December, deputies at the sheriff's Lake Elsinore station received reports of a sexual assault on a runaway girl, identified in court documents only as Jane Doe.

The investigation resulted in allegations that Ronquillo had facilitated the victim's flight and "harbored the juvenile for two days before returning the victim home," Thomas said.

He said deputies arrested the defendant for his alleged assault on the teenager, but Ronquillo was able to post bond and was released from custody around the start of the year.

"In January, another juvenile victim came forward and disclosed (she was) a victim of sexual assault by Ronquillo," the sergeant said.

No details were released concerning how the defendant had come into contact with the second girl.

The ensuing investigation culminated in his arrest last week in Hemet.

College Aid

The financial aid decisions that usually go out with acceptance letters are being delayed because of a later-than-expected rollout of a revised Free Application for Federal Student Aid, the form commonly known as FAFSA that schools use to compute financial aid.

The result: Students and their parents are putting off their college decisions.

"We are not going to make a decision without knowing what we're committing to financially; it would be irresponsible to do that," said Jenny Nicholas of Keene, New Hampshire. She wants to make sure that her son, a high school senior, goes to a college that is most affordable for their family.

The Education Department said the form would be easier for parents to fill out and used a new formula to compute eligibility for aid that took inflation into account. But it wasn't ready in October, when the forms for the coming school year are usually released. During a soft launch in December, it was difficult for many people to access the form. And the initial release didn't include the updated inflation tool.

Schools won't get the information they need to award financial aid until next month, forcing them to adapt. Some have moved away from the popular May 1 deadline for students to accept their offers of admission.

Just this past week, Virginia Tech, for example, said it had moved its admissions deposit deadline for first-year college students to May 15. "Understandably so, families are concerned about the FAFSA process this year, and they are telling us that they need more time to make fully informed decisions," Juan Espinoza, interim vice provost for enrollment management, said in a statement.

The school said it anticipated notifying families about financial aid in mid-April.

"We can't make a decision until we see a financial aid package," said Agata James, a mother of a New York high school senior from Queens. "Everything is in limbo."

James' son decision is torn between two colleges, one in his home state and the other an out-of-state university that is his dream school. But James says the decision will come down to what she can afford without accumulating a large amount of student loan debt.

The Education Department has said it is working to alleviate the consequences of the delays. Some of these steps taken are reducing verification requirements, sending federal experts to under-resourced schools and allocating money for technical assistance to non-profit groups.

"We are determined to get this right," Education Secretary Miguel Cardona said in a statement this month. "We must, and we will."

More than 17 million students use the FAFSA every year to receive financial aid for their college education. As of mid-February, more than 4 million forms have been successfully submitted, the department said.

Rachel Reniva of Dothan, Alabama, said the financial aid decision will affect not only her son's future but also her entire family's.

Even though the Education Department said the new application would be simpler to use, some students and parents still are having trouble filing.

Jesus Noyola, a sophomore attending Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, New York, said he hasn't been able to submit his form because of an error in the parent portion of the application.

"It's disappointing and so stressful since all these issues are taking forever to be resolved," said Noyola, who receives grants and work-study to fund his education.

Other errors have been linked to Social Security numbers, said Travis Hill, director for Dallas County Promise, a college success program in Texas.

Parents without legal immigration status are not able to submit their portion of the application because they don't have a Social Security number. Other parents are also encountering errors linking their Social Security number with their child's FAFSA application.

"I'm feeling stressed," said Lorenzo Jaramillo, 17, a high school senior who is looking to major in computer engineering. Although Jaramillo lives in Toronto, he is a U.S. citizen and thus eligible for financial aid.

Helen Faith, director of the Office of Financial Aid at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, said she worries that the delays will harm both students and schools.

"What ends up happening is that our underrepresented and most fragile populations are the ones that are disproportionately affected," said Hill.

The amount may be greater on the day of sale. BENEFICIARY MAY ELECT TO BID LESS THAN THE TOTAL AMOUNT DUE. Trustor(s): Dena M Howard, an unmarried woman Recorded: 3/23/2005 as Instrument No. 2005-0227423 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of RIVERSIDE County, California; Date of Sale: 3/12/2024 at 9:00 AM Place of Sale: At the bottom of the stairway to the building located at 849 W. Sixth Street, Corona, CA 92882 Amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $1,158,441.71 The purported property address is: 2775 SOUTH BUENA VIS AVE, CORONA, CA 92882 Assessor's Parcel No.: 113-252-009 NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 855 238-5118 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this internet website http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-20-886876-AB. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 855 238-5118, or visit this internet website http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-20-886876-AB to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE TO PROSPECTIVE OWNER/OCCUPANT: Any prospective owner/occupant as defined in Section 2924m of the California Civil Code who is the last and highest bidder at the trustee's sale shall provide the required affidavit or declaration of eligibility to the auctioneer at the trustee's sale or shall have it delivered to QUALITY LOAN SERVICE CORPORATION by 5 p.m. on the next business day following the trustee's sale at the address set forth in the below signature block. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real prop-

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site <https://www.altisource.com/loginpage.aspx> using the file number assigned to this case 2023-00695-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE’S SALE

NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction, if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an “eligible tenant buyer,” you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an “eligible bidder,” you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (866)-960-8299, or visit this internet website <https://www.altisource.com/loginpage.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case 2023-00695-CA to find the date on which the trustee’s sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee’s sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee’s sale. If you think you may qualify as an “eligible tenant buyer” or “eligible bidder,” you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish the City with a Performance Bond equal to 100% of the successful bid, and a Payment (Labor and Materials) Bond equal to 100% of the successful bid, prior to execution of the Contract. All bonds are to be secured from a surety that meets all of the State of California bonding requirements, as defined in Code of Civil Procedure Section 995.120, and is admitted by the State of California. Pursuant to Public Contract Code Section 22300, the successful bidder may substitute certain securities for funds withheld by City to ensure performance under the Contract.

The Work is subject to the payment of not less than prevailing wages pursuant to Chapter 1 (beginning at Section 1720 et seq.) of Part 7 of Division 2 of the California Labor Code, as well as Title 8, Section 16000 et seq. of the California Code of Regulations (“Prevailing Wage Laws”). The Director of the Department of Industrial Relations (“DIR”) has determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of worker needed to execute the Contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder, copies of which are on file and will be made available to any interested party upon request at Owners office or online at <http://www.dir.ca.gov/dlsr>. A copy of these rates shall be posted by the successful bidder at the job site.

Pursuant to SB 854, which amended the Prevailing Wage Laws, this Contract is subject to compliance monitoring and enforcement by the DIR. Beginning March 1, 2015, with very limited exceptions no contractor or subcontractor may be listed on a bid proposal for this Contract unless registered with the DIR pursuant to Labor Code section 1725.5. Beginning April 1, 2015, no contractor or subcontractor may be awarded this Contract unless registered with the DIR pursuant to Labor Code section 1725.5. The DIR registration number for each contractor and subcontractor must be identified on the bid proposal - failure to identify this number could result in the bid being rejected as nonresponsive. It is each bidder’s responsibility to ensure that they have fully complied with SB 854. The City will report all necessary contracts to the DIR as required by the Prevailing Wage Laws.

The successful bidder and their subcontractor(s) shall comply with all applicable Prevailing Wage Laws, which include, but are not limited to the payment of not less than the required prevailing rates to all workers employed by them in the execution of the Contract, the employment of apprentices, the hours of labor, the payment of overtime, and the debarment of contractors and subcontractors. The successful bidder and all subcontractor(s) under him shall also be responsible for any and all violations and fines imposed on them pursuant to the Prevailing Wage Laws.

Before the Contract is awarded, the successful bidder shall be a licensed contractor pursuant to the Business and Professions Code and shall be licensed in the following appropriate classification(s) of contractor’s license(s), for the work bid upon, and must maintain the license(s) throughout the duration of the Contract: a valid Class ‘A’ General Engineering license sufficient to cover all of the work to be performed.

Funding for this project is expected to be provided in whole or in part with federal housing and community development block funds. The Federal Labor Standards Provisions, including prevailing wage requirements of the DavisBacon and Related Acts will be enforced. A copy of the Federal Wage Decision applicable to this Project is included in the Contract Documents. This project is a public work in the State of California, funded in whole or in part with public funds. Therefore, the higher of the two applicable prevailing wage rates, federal or state, will be enforced. The Contractor’s duty to pay State prevailing wages can be found under Labor Code Section 1770 et seq. Labor Code sections 1775 and 1777.7 outline the penalties for failure to pay prevailing wages and to employ apprentices, including the forfeitures and debarment. The State Wage Decision is available from the City’s Representative and is also available online at <http://www.dir.ca.gov/dlsr/>.

The successful bidder and all subcontractors shall comply with all applicable federal and state laws, rules, and regulations, including but not limited to U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) funding requirements (24 CFR Part 135), CDBG funding requirements and submittals, the Federal DavisBacon Act, and the prohibition against contractors who are debarred from federal contracting. The funding requirements are included in Appendix A – Federal Requirements.

Attention is directed to Sections 1777.5, 1777.6 and 1777.7 of the California Labor Code and Title 8, California Administrative code, Section 200 et seq. to ensure compliance and complete understanding of the law regarding apprentices.

Bidders shall document their status as a Minority Business Enterprise (MBE), a Womenowned Business Enterprise (MBE) or a nonMBE/WBE firm. Bidders that are not MBE/WBE firms will be required to make a good faith effort, and to document their efforts to include firms as part of the bid and contract.

This is a HUD Section 3 construction contract. Contractors and subcontractors must address Section 3 employment work hours benchmarks for Section 3 Workers and Targeted Section 3 Workers as established by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development at 24 CFR Part 75.

In the procurement of supplies, equipment, construction, and services, the conflict of interest provisions of 2 CFR 200.317 and 200.318 apply. No employee, officer or agent of the City shall participate in selection, or in the award or administration of a contract supported by Federal funds if a conflict of interest, real or apparent, would be involved.

The City will contract with a thirdparty labor compliance firm to monitor and enforce the applicable provisions of the federal DavisBacon and Prevailing Wage Laws, including but not limited to the standard provisions requiring payment of prevailing wages, maintenance and submission of certified weekly payroll records, hiring of apprentices, and compliance and enforcement by the DIR pursuant to SB854. Contractor shall work with City staff and consultants to ensure full compliance with applicable Prevailing Wage Laws.

The successful bidder must fully comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations in furnishing or using equipment and/or providing services, including, but not limited to, emissions limits and permitting requirements imposed by the South Coast Air Quality Management District (SCAQMD) and/or California Air Resources Board (CARB). Although the SCAQMD and CARB limits and requirements are broader, the successful bidder shall specifically be aware of their application to “portable equipment”, which definition is considered by SCAQMD and CARB to include any item of equipment with a fuelpowered engine. The successful bidder will be required to indemnify City against any fines or penalties imposed by SCAQMD, CARB, or any other governmental or regulatory agency for violations of applicable laws, rules and/or regulations by the successful bidder, its subcontractors, or others for whom the successful bidder is responsible under its indemnity obligations.

CARB implemented amendments to the InUse OffRoad DieselFueled Fleets Regulations (“Regulation”) which are effective on January 1, 2024 and apply broadly to all selfpropelled off road diesel vehicles 25 horsepower or greater and other forms of equipment used in California. A copy of the Regulation is available at: <https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/sites/default/files/barcu/regact/2022/offroaddiesel/appa-1.pdf>. Bidders are required to comply with all CARB and Regulation requirements, including, without limitation, all applicable sections of the Regulation, as codified in Title 13 of the California Code of Regulations section 2449 et seq. throughout the duration of the Project. Bidders must provide, with their Bid, copies of Bidder’s and all listed subcontractors’ most recent, valid Certificate of Reported Compliance (“CRC”) issued by CARB. Failure to provide valid CRCs as required herein may render the Bid nonresponsive.

Award of Contract: The City shall award the Contract for the Project to the lowest responsive, responsible bidder as determined on the basis of the summation of the Total Base Bid Schedule and the Total Alternate Bid Schedule combined. However, the City may choose to award the Contract on the basis of the base bid alone or the base bid and any selected alternate bid item or combination of selected alternate bid items. The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bids or in the bidding process.
