

California Is About to Cut Power Company Profits to Historic Lows. YOUR BILL WILL BARELY DROP

BY MALENA CAROLLO,
CalMatters

With California electric rates stuck at nearly the highest in the nation, the state's utility regulator is poised to lower the payout shareholders can receive from California's three large investor-owned power companies.

In a proposed decision, the California Public Utilities Commission recommended dropping the "return on equity" by 0.35% each for Pacific Gas & Electric, Southern California Edison and San Diego Gas & Electric. If approved, shareholders of all three companies would see a potential return next year of just under 10%. Such returns for PG&E and Edison haven't dipped below double digits in at least 20 years.

Utilities said the decline would affect their ability to bring in needed investment for their work. Critics of the decision said that the decline is too small to meaningfully impact ratepayers' bills, even if it's a step in the right direction.

"California and other [public utility commissions] authorize rates of return that are far in excess of the statutory requirement," said Mark Ellis, former chief economist at Sempra, which owns San Diego Gas & Electric.

The California Public Utility Commission is expected to vote on the decision in December.

Californians pay the second-highest electric rates in the U.S. after Hawaii, according to the most recent figures from the U.S. Energy Information Administration. A number of factors go into those rates, including wildfire mitigation costs. PG&E in particular has attracted the ire of California customers for its frequent rate hikes within the last year.

LAPD Looks to Quell 'Misinformation' in Death of Lake Elsinore Teen Found in Singer D4vd's Tesla

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - Los Angeles police sought again Tuesday to quell what it calls "misinformation" contained in recent media coverage of the investigation into the death of a teenage girl whose body was found in the trunk of a Tesla registered to singer D4vd.

In a statement, the Los Angeles Police Department's elite Robbery-Homicide Division also insisted that its recent move to obtain a court order placing the Medical Examiner's Office investigation into Celeste Rivas Hernandez's cause of death under seal was intended ensure detectives are provided with key information before it is publicly released.

"The order was not sought to undermine transparency," according to the statement.

On Monday, county Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Odey Ukpo issued a statement criticizing the imposition of a "security hold" on the investigation, saying he is committed to ensuring "full transparency" about the office's work.

"Since becoming the department head, I've worked on eradicating the practice of placing security holds on Medical Examiner cases simply by law enforcement request," Ukpo said. "The practice of security holds is virtually unheard of in other counties and has not been proven to improve outcomes in the legal system."

Street Racer Who Allegedly Fled Cops, Caused Fatal Corona Crash to Stand Trial

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - The 23-year-old motorist who allegedly fled from California Highway Patrol officers trying to catch him for illegally racing on an Inland Empire freeway and collided with a big rig, fatally injuring the trucker, will stand trial for murder and other offenses.

Modesto Daniel Carpio of San Jacinto allegedly killed 55-year-old Stephen Palacios of Rancho Cucamonga in April.

Following a preliminary hearing Friday afternoon, Riverside County Superior Court Judge Charles Koosed found there was sufficient evidence to bound Carpio over for trial on the murder count, as well as felony evading and engaging in an illegal speed contest.

The judge scheduled a post-preliminary hearing arraignment for Dec. 23 at the Riverside Hall of Justice. The defendant is free on a $500,000 bond.

According to the California Highway Patrol, on the night of April 13, motorists on the eastbound Pomona (60) Freeway near Euclid Avenue in Ontario called 911 to report several freeway lanes obstructed by organizers of a street race.

Officer Rodrigo Jimenez said patrol vehicles reached the location moments later, at which point Carpio was quickly identified as one of the alleged racers, prompting a patrol unit to signal him to pull over.

Jimenez alleged the defendant floored his Infiniti sports car, attempting to elude the unit, heading south into Riverside County via Interstate 15.

"Carpio accelerated to speeds exceeding 100 mph and transitioned onto the westbound 91," Jimenez said. "While fleeing at high speed, the Infiniti collided with a semi truck hauling a trailer east of Lincoln Avenue (in Corona). The impact forced the semi into a freeway sound wall and ejected the driver."

Palacios was found in grave condition by Corona Fire Department paramedics. He was taken to Riverside Community Hospital, where he died an hour later.

His passenger, whose name was not disclosed, suffered moderate injuries and was taken to the same hospital.

UNLOCK HOLIDAY CHEER: 5 DIY Decorating Tips to Spark Joy this Season

Research shows that everyday surroundings can make an impact on your overall mood—and when is a better time to foster some happiness than the holiday season? From warming up your space with cozy details to mastering the art of a quick room refresh, the right décor sets the tone for making magical, mood-boosting memories during the holidays.

Follow these simple, budget-friendly tips from Duck brand to create a warm, festive space that brings the spirit of the season to life.

Tip #1: Lay a cozy foundation. Make small, intentional swaps in your living space to create coziness in cold weather. Rather than harsh overhead lighting, drape glowing strand lights from the ceiling, and line tables and counters with battery-powered tapered candles. Play soft, seasonal music anywhere by using removable, double-sided tape to mount mini speakers; toss a couple extra blankets over the sofa to promote snuggling (bonus points if they're in red or green!); and leave a stack of seasonal books or movies in sight to encourage unwinding in the living room.

Tip #2: Pile on personal touches. Science says that decorating with handcrafted pieces can evoke a sense of both accomplishment and connection. Display beloved childhood holiday crafts and family heirlooms, like ornaments or glassware. Then, carve out time to make your own unique focal point. With a little imagination and duct tape, you can DIY your own Instagram-worthy decor. Consider cutting red and green Color Duck Tape into letter shapes to personalize a festive banner for your fireplace, then use duct tape to make holiday-themed frames to display family photos from over the years.

Tip #3: Refresh your hosting hotspot. For family and friends who are visiting over the holidays, cement your kitchen as a go-to gathering space with a quick makeover. Cheer up countertops with a display of holiday mugs, hang festive towels and spruce up cabinet shelves and other surfaces with removeable, patterned shelf liner like EasyLiner Removeable Adhesive Shelf Liner. How to Support the Military Community During the Holiday Season

During the holiday season, Americans look forward to spending time with family. But thousands of service members will be spending the holidays deployed overseas – far away from their families and loved ones.

The USO supports service members throughout their deployments. Here is how USO Holidays programming delivers a piece of home to them, along with ideas for how you can get involved:

1. Care Packages: A care package might seem small in light of the challenges of deployment, but for many service members, they're a reminder that they're not forgotten by Americans back home. In addition to the contents of a standard USO Care Package, such as snacks or toiletries, USO Holidays Care Packages have festive treats and goodies, such as holiday candies, cozy socks and warm beanies, helping bridge the gap between home and the frontlines. This year, the USO will deliver thousands of holiday packages to service members deployed around the globe.

2. Holiday Traditions:

Giving up treasured family traditions can be difficult. That's why USO Centers and USO Mobile teams host holiday meals for service members and their families, complete with special treats ranging from pumpkin and sweet potato pie to hot cocoa bars. The USO's annual Cookie Week celebrates the time-honored tradition of baking and decorating cookies, putting service members and military families in the holiday spirit wherever they are located. Other seasonal programming can include tree decorating, arts and crafts, holiday-themed movie nights and ugly sweater competitions.

Through these activities, service members stationed far from home can still make holiday memories. Bringing everyone together on special days fosters camaraderie and positivity, and provides a welcome break from the demands of military life.

3. Connections to Home. Staying connected to family during the holidays can be challenging for service members stationed overseas. The USO Reading Program enables deployed service members to record themselves reading a book to their child. Then, the recording and a copy of the book are sent to that service member's family.

4. Travel Support. As most people know, holiday travel can be especially taxing. Thousands of service members and trainees from military installations across the country participate in the Holiday Block Leave period, many traveling through some of the busiest airports in the United States to be with their families during the holidays. USO airport centers can alleviate some of that stress by providing a place to relax and unwind before the next leg of their journey.

To learn more about these programs and how to support them, and for ideas on how to reach out to the military community to express your thanks during the holidays and throughout the year, visit USO.org.

The holiday season can be an especially tough time of year for military families. Thankfully, anyone can get involved in the effort to help connect service members to the traditions and people they love back home. (StatePoint)

A Medley of Tech Gifts for Everyone on Your Holiday Shopping List

By SHAWN CHEN AP
Technology Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's the most wonderful time of the year, unless you want to find the perfect gifts for tech lovers.

There's a lot of slop to sift through as we get closer to the holidays, many interests to appeal to and a whole bunch of deals-that-aren't-deals flashing before our screens. So here's a guide — and some sales — to help you get started on your gift shopping journey.

For your gamers

The Nintendo Switch 2 was the biggest and most anticipated console launch of 2025, and if history is any indication, it will be increasingly harder to find as Christmas approaches. But for the gamers in your life — both young and adult — this is the gift to get.

Nintendo's Black Friday deals for the console and games have been announced but the best bang for your buck may be the console bundles. The Switch 2 is still available as just the console only for $449 or bundled with Mario Kart World for $499. A new $499 bundle is now available where the console is packaged with Pokémon Legends: Z-A. Games retail for about $70 a piece, so you do save a little with bundles.

Need a new iPhone?

The iPhone Air and iPhone 17 Pro Max captured the headlines this year when the new lineup launched, but the base iPhone 17 received an upgraded camera (telephoto lens), more base storage and a longer battery life. Given the price for this model hasn't changed, you're straight up getting more tech for the same price. If your gift recipient's current iPhone is a few generations behind, this is a good time to consider an upgrade.

What about AI? The iPhone 17 doesn't make as many leaps into the technology as its predecessor, but the new iOS and processor prepares the phone for any advancements that may come in 2026. The iPhone 17 retails at $800.

Or maybe you'd like a foldable phone?

If you or someone in your life has ever been curious about a foldable phone, consider Samsung's newest Galaxy Z Fold 7 model. This phone solves many of the issues users have been concerned about since fold phones hit the market: It's much thinner and lighter than its predecessors — 0.17 inches thick when unfolded and less than half an inch folded — and it weighs slightly less than half a pound, impressive considering they boosted the size of all the screens.

But the price of a fold phone remains steep compared to the flagship iPhone and Galaxy devices. The Z Fold 7 currently is running a sale on its site but normally retails starting at $1,999.

Planning to shoot more video or pictures?

For anyone interested in doing more filming or photography with their mobile device, this supremely portable tripod by SelfieShow offers solid stability even when extended to its max height of 71 inches. The mounting arm also offers a wide array of positioning for shooters on the go. And the rig can collapse into a retractable selfie stick for even more functionality and portability.

This portable tripod retails for $19.99.

For aspiring influencers, podcasters or vloggers in per order.

These mics are currently on sale for $76.

There's always someone who wants a TV

For those TV lovers who just want a little more for their gaming or cinematic experience, consider Samsung's S90F OLED TV. This higher-end TV offers excellent contrast, colors and Ethernet performance. It also can act as a giant monitor if you want to plug your PC/gaming console into it, offering VRR support up to 144Hz on all four of its HDMI ports. For those who like to add sound systems or other peripherals to their TV, it also offers an additional three USB-A ports and one USB-C port.

Normally this TV retails around $1,800, but an ongoing holiday promo (until Dec. 1) puts it, at 55 inches, at $1,199.99.

Typing on the go

Portability is core to the Logitech Pebble 2 wireless keyboard and mouse combo. This minimalist and highly functional offering by Logitech will satisfy on-the-go users who are looking for a silent, but still tactile, Bluetooth mouse and keyboard. It also offers a one-tap, multi-device switching option if you've already paired it with said devices — which include Android tablets and Apple iPads in addition to laptops — a great feature if you're multitasking.

The combo comes in several colors and retails for $49.99. If you're OK with black, Walmart has a deal for $42.

your life, try these wireless microphones by Hollyland. The Lark M2 Wireless Microphone mics are easy to use, have good range and do well in filtering out background noise. You can easily attach these to clothes for interviews or even hold them for the tiny mic lifestyle. Best of all, it comes with two mics weathered wood pattern on a backsplash or kitchen island to add charming texture.

Tip #4: Engage the senses. Select seasonal scents to infuse into your surroundings. For a DIY alternative to candles, boil water with aromatic ingredients, like cinnamon sticks, cloves, orange slices and vanilla, in a simmer pot for a nostalgic scent, or place bags of dried pinecones in bathroom and coat closets. And of course — baking cookies will create a fantastic aroma in your home, too.

Tip #5: Bring the spirit outside. As you make your holiday updates, don't forget about the exterior. Try adding simple touches to high-traffic areas, like placing decorative trees or poinsettias on the porch, hanging a wreath on the front door, tying garlands to beams or hanging lights on the patio or garage. (State-Point)

Building an Emergency Fund Can Feel Daunting, but These Tips Can Help

By ADRIANA MORGA
Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe your car broke down, your computer was stolen, or you had a surprise visit to urgent care. Emergencies are inevitable, but you can prepare to deal with them by building an emergency fund.

“There are so many things that happen in our lives that we don’t expect and most of them require financial means to overcome,” said Miklos Ringbauer, a certified public accountant.

The industry standard is to save three to six months of expenses in an emergency fund. However, this can feel daunting if you live paycheck to paycheck or if you have debt. But if you’re in either of these situations, it’s even more crucial to build a financial safety net that can help you in times of crisis.

“Emergency funds allow you to prevent further debt,” said Jaime Eckels, certified financial planner and wealth management leader for Plan-te Moran Financial Advisors.

Suppose you’re paying multiple credit cards and other loans. In that case, Rachel Lawrence, head of advice and planning for Monarch Money, a financial planning and budgeting app, recommends that you make the minimum payments while you build your emergency fund. Once you’ve hit an amount that feels right for your lifestyle, you can go back and continue tackling your debt more aggressively.

Whether you want to start an emergency fund or create better habits while you save, here are some expert recommendations:

Start with small milestones

The idea of saving for three to six months’ worth of expenses can be daunting, so it’s best to start with a smaller milestone. Lawrence recommends starting with a goal of saving $1,000, then moving on to save one, three, and six months of expenses.

The way you approach this goal can vary depending on your income and your budget. But starting with small, attainable goals can help you build an emergency fund without feeling financially strained.

“Starting small is okay. Even if it’s $20 right out of your paycheck, those small things can add up,” Eckels said.

She recommends building your emergency fund in a separate account from your regular savings account, ideally a high-yield savings account, which offers a higher interest rate than a traditional savings account.

Decide on the appropriate amount for your life

Knowing how much to save for your emergency fund depends on your life situation. Lawrence suggests you gauge your own financial responsibilities to estimate how much your ideal emergency fund should be.

For single professionals with no significant financial responsibilities, such as a mortgage or a car, the amount might be $2,000 to $3,000. At the same time, people with children and several pets might aim to save for six months’ expenses.

“There’s no one-shoe-fits-all solution. Everybody is different, especially if you have variable expenses on a monthly basis,” Ringbauer said.

Lawrence recommends that self-employed people maintain two emergency funds: one to buffer low-income months and another for true emergencies. To build your buffer account, Lawrence recommends setting aside some money during high-earning months.

“You set that amount aside in your buffer account until you have two or three months of the amount that you want, she said. “Because that way any month where you have less money, you go pull from the buffer and it’s no big deal.”

Automate your savings

Eckels recommends setting up automatic savings as a low-effort way to build your emergency fund.

Scheduling your savings to be withdrawn from your bank account as soon as your paycheck arrives is an effective way to build a savings habit without having to transfer the money manually.

“I always tell people if it was never in your bank account, you never had it, right?” Eckels added.

She also recommends that her clients open a separate account, one that isn’t at the same bank as their checking account, so they aren’t tempted to transfer the money in a non-emergency.

Make it visual

As you’re making progress towards your emergency fund goal, making it visual can help you stay motivated, according to Lawrence.

She recommends getting creative with how you track your progress, ideally with a method that brings you joy.

“You want your brain to get rewarded as often as possible when you’re seeing a bunch of progress,” she said.

Some options to make your progress visual include drawing a thermometer-like tracker and keeping it updated as you advance toward your goal, documenting your progress on a habit-building tracker on your phone, or using a budgeting app with a tracking tool.

Save windfalls

If your budget is really tight and you don’t have much wiggle room to set aside money for an emergency fund, Lawrence recommends saving windfalls.

“Unexpected chunks of money that maybe you weren’t expecting, like tax refunds or getting a third paycheck when you normally get paid twice a month, or a bonus, those are your best ways to make progress when you’re tight otherwise,” said Lawrence.

In general, Lawrence recommends that people keep 10% of their windfall for themselves and the rest for their emergency fund. With that breakdown, you can both save and feel rewarded by the unexpected income.

If you use it, don’t feel guilty

Chances are that an emergency will happen, and when it does, you don’t need to feel guilty for using your emergency fund, Lawrence said. Instead, it’s best to think about how you’ve achieved your goal of building a financial safety net for yourself.

“You wouldn’t feel bad about using your down payment to buy a house, you wouldn’t feel bad about saving for retirement, actually to retire,” Lawrence said.

Dr. Smita Das often hears the same myth: You can't get hooked on pot.

And the misconception has become more widespread as a growing number of states legalize marijuana. Around half now allow recreational use for adults and 40 states allow medical use.

But "cannabis is definitely something that someone can develop an addiction to," said Das, an addiction psychiatrist at Stanford University.

It's called cannabis use disorder and it's on the rise, affecting about 3 in 10 people who use pot, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Here's how to know whether you or a loved one are addicted to marijuana — and what kinds of treatment exist.

How to identify signs of cannabis use disorder

If pot interferes with your daily life, health or relationships, those are red flags.

"The more that somebody uses and the higher potency that somebody uses, the higher the risk of that," Das said.

It's become more common as cannabis has gotten stronger in recent years. In the 1960s, most pot that people smoked contained less than 5% THC, the ingredient that gets you high. Today, the THC potency in cannabis flower and concentrates in dispensaries can reach 40% or more, according to the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

Cannabis use disorder is diagnosed the same way as any other substance use disorder — by looking at whether someone meets certain criteria laid out in the latest version of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, the main guide for mental health providers.

These include needing more of the drug to get the same effect, having withdrawal symptoms and spending a lot of time trying to get or use it.

"When we break it down into these criteria that have to do with the impacts of their use, it's a lot more relatable," Das said.

What the different levels of addiction are

If you've met just two of the criteria for cannabis use disorder in the last year, doctors say you have a mild form of the condition. If you meet six or more, you have a more severe form.

According to the latest version of the National Survey on Drug Use and Health, 7% of all people 12 or older had cannabis use disorder in 2024 and most had a mild form. About 1 in 5 had a severe form.

People can be dependent on and addicted to substances. Dependence is physical, while addiction involves behavior changes.

Marijuana doesn't affect everyone the same way, though. The same amount can have "major impacts" on one person's daily life but have no impact on another person's, Das said. "It really comes down to: How much is that substance impacting someone's functioning and life day-to-day?"

Where people can get help for cannabis use disorder

Many marijuana users first come to Das for help coping with something else, like alcohol use disorder. Later,

With the security hold now in place, the LAPD said Tuesday, "No other information will be provided at this time" regarding the investigation into the teen's death.

However, the agency did take issue with some details contained in recent media coverage of the girl's death.

Celeste's body was found Sept. 8 in the front trunk of a Tesla at a Hollywood tow yard. The car was registered to singer D4vd, whose real name is David Anthony Burke. The body was found days after what would have been the teen's 15th birthday, although she is believed to have been dead possibly for weeks in the trunk of the car, which had been parked for several weeks in the Hollywood Hills before it was towed.

Over the weekend, TMZ reported that the teen's dismembered and decomposing body had apparently been at least partially frozen before it was placed in the car's trunk, and suggested some of the body parts were frozen when they were found. TMZ reported that the condition of the body was so poor that the medical examiner may not be able to determine an exact cause of death, instead leaving it "undetermined."

In the statement released Tuesday, the LAPD insisted "the body of Celeste Rivas was not frozen when it was discovered on September 8, 2025." Police also denied reports that the girl had been decapitated.

Police did acknowledge separate reports that D4vd -- pronounced David -- traveled to the Santa Barbara area during spring of this year for unknown reasons. The media reports suggested that he traveled to a remote area and remained there for several hours, and that the singer may have had help from another person to dismantle the teen's body.

Police did not provide specifics, saying only, "The reason for that trip is still under investigation and we've drawn no conclusions at this point about the relevance of the trip to this case."

Last week, multiple media outlets reported that D4vd had been officially named a suspect in the teen's death, and that he was being uncooperative with investigators. Police have not confirmed the reports.

Celeste, of Lake Elsinore, had been reported missing by her mother last year, when the girl was just 13. The mother has told reporters that her daughter had a boyfriend named David. D4vd has a tattoo on one of his fingers matching the one reading "Shhh" that the Los Angeles County medical examiner revealed previously was on Rivas' index finger.

The teen's brother told NBC4 earlier this year that Celeste was last seen going to a movie with D4vd, but she never returned.

The Tesla in which her body was found had been abandoned near a home in the 1300 block of Doheny Place, not far from a home D4vd had rented. Police served a search warrant at the house and took several items as possible evidence.

"The vehicle had been parked at the location from which it was towed for several weeks, so Ms. Rivas Hernandez may have been deceased for several weeks before the discovery of her body," police said in a statement in September.

No arrests have been made in connection with the teen's death. A representative for D4vd said previously the singer was cooperating with investigators.

"The Los Angeles County Medical Examiner has not yet determined the cause or manner of Ms. Rivas Hernandez's death," police said in September. "As such, it remains unclear whether there is any criminal culpability beyond the concealment of her body. (Robbery-Homicide Division) is thoroughly examining every aspect of this case to uncover the truth and seek justice for Celeste Rivas Hernandez and her family."

"We appreciate the public's patience and understanding as we continue this investigation. Further updates will be provided as appropriate, but at this time, we are unable to answer additional questions."

The Los Angeles Times reported earlier that the 2023 Tesla had been parked on Bluebird Avenue in Hollywood Hills for so long that some residents complained about it in late August, leading the car to be ticketed. A parking enforcement officer marked the Tesla on Aug. 27, noting the position of its tires, according to The Times. The officer issued a citation on Sept. 3 to the Tesla for violating the 72-hour parking ordinance.

D4vd was on the last leg of a U.S. tour when Rivas' body was discovered. Several shows were canceled, including one that had been scheduled at Los Angeles' Greek Theatre.

According to various reports, his label, Interscope Records, has halted all promotion of D4vd's latest record, "Withered."

Utility Bills

Baked into those bills is the return on equity, money meant to compensate shareholders for the risk of doing business. These shareholder return rates are set by each state's utility regulators and hover nationally around 10%. If approved, PG&E's rate would be 9.93% (down from 10.28%), Edison would be 9.98% (down from 10.33%), and San Diego Gas & Electric would be 9.88% (down from 10.23%). These rates are not automatically guaranteed – utilities can fall short of this return if they don't keep down costs, such as project overruns or unexpected lawsuit fees.

A small change in this rate can be a difference of millions of dollars for ratepayers. The return is a percentage of the rate base, the total value of a utility's assets it can earn a return on; this includes projects such as building a new power plant, for example. The rate bases for California's three large investor-owned utilities have steadily grown each year as they add new customers and projects, increasing the amount that shareholders can receive.

PG&E, for example, had a 10% shareholder return in 2023, a possible return of about $125 million. Had it been 1% lower, the potential return would have been $12.5 million less.

"The proposed cost of capital decision needs refinement to better reflect California's unique risks and market realities," said Edison spokesperson Jeff Monford. "Making those refinements in the final decision will enhance SCE's ability to finance essential infrastructure projects for a more reliable, resilient and ready electric grid."

PG&E spokesperson Jennifer Robison echoed this sentiment, saying the decision "fails to acknowledge current elevated risks to help attract the needed investment for California's energy systems."

Anthony Wagner, spokesperson at San Diego Gas & Electric, said, "A decision that accurately reflects these realities is essential to enabling investments that reduce wildfire risk, strengthen reliability, replace aging infrastructure and advance California's clean energy transition for the benefit of the communities we serve."

Utilities routinely request these rates be pushed higher because they are a key part of what goes into utilities' credit rating, affecting the interest they pay on loans for infrastructure investments. But in recent years, experts and consumer advocates point to a mismatch – the utility industry is typically

THIS SIMPLE Polenta and Mushroom Dish WILL ELEVATE Your Thanksgiving Table

By KATIE WORKMAN
Associated Press

This simple recipe is a marriage of two even simpler foods, that add up to one flavorful appetizer, main dish or side. This would be welcome any time from breakfast to lunch to dinner, and also a nice entertaining idea. And they would be a great addition to a Thanksgiving table, a cheery little side dish, or a center of the plate offering for the vegetarians in the house.

Precooked Polenta in Tubes While you can make polenta from scratch, spread it out to cool, cut it into shapes, that's awfully time consuming. I prefer to start with packaged cooked polenta. It is available in tubes, sometimes available in the refrigerated section (look near the tofu), and also in the pasta aisle. Many brands don't need refrigeration until you open them, so check both places. I love Melissa's shelf-stable organic prepared polenta in tubes, which is available in plain, sundried tomato, and Italian herb. It's quite the time saver!

This polenta then gets sliced and griddled up in a pan on the stove. The polenta is cooked already, however in order for it to get that nice caramelized exterior on the slices, you'll want to brown it. A key tip is not to flip the slices too often — let them sit in the skillet for 5 to 7 minutes before turning them, and then let them get completely golden on the other side.

You could also brush the slices with oil and heat them in the oven, or even grill them up if the weather permits. If you want to cook the slices ahead of time, they can be warmed in the oven before topping them with the sautéed mushrooms and serving.

As for the mushrooms, you can go for button mushrooms or cremini, which are very easy to find and affordable. Or if you're feeling splurgey (or have an experienced mushroom forager in the family!) go for something a bit more exotic, like morels, porcini, or oyster mushrooms.

Try another herb instead of the thyme, like sage, rosemary or marjoram.

If you want to make this dish vegan, replace the butter with olive oil. Make sure the variety of polenta you purchase is vegan (many of them are).

PAN FRIED POLENTA WITH SAUTEED MUSHROOMS

Serves 6

Ingredients:

- 1 (1 pound) tube pre-

made polenta

- 3 tablespoons unsalted butter, divided
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 pound mushrooms (such as morels, porcini, oyster, or plain button or cremini mushrooms), cleaned and sliced
- ½ teaspoon minced garlic
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh thyme
- Kosher salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
- Handful chopped fresh parsley for garnish

Directions:

Unwrap the polenta and slice it into ½-inch slices. Line a surface with paper towels.

Melt 1 tablespoon of the butter in a large skillet over medium-high heat. Place as many of the polenta disks into the pan as will fit in a single layer. Cook without moving them, until they turn golden brown and start to crisp up on the bottom, 5 to 7 minutes. Flip the slices with a spatula and continue to cook until the second side is browned and slightly crispy, about another 5 minutes.

Remove the polenta slices to the paper towel lined surface. Repeat with another tablespoon of butter and the

Bacon Fried Brussel Sprouts

By CONNOR FORBES

We are in the middle of a bunch of Holidays and what better way to celebrate than with some great side dishes for all those large family meals. Brussels Sprouts are at the table a lot of the time. Done poorly Brussels Sprouts remind me of a pile of flatulence. They are limp, smell bad, and really just deserve to be flushed*. *Thrown out. I was leaning too hard into that analogy.

But! Brussels Sprouts done right are a piece de resistance. Firm with a bit of crunch, flavorful and rich. Done right, Brussels Sprouts might be the first side to be fully eaten. So, without further ado let's make Brussels Sprouts!

- 1 lb Brussels sprouts
- 6 oz Bacon
- 1 tsp salt

To Cook

Preheat your oven to 400°. Prep the Brussels sprouts by cutting off the stem, standing the sprout on its now flat side, and cutting in half from top to bottom. Place in a bowl. Toss with the salt and set aside. Chop your bacon into ½ inch strips. Heat a frying pan on medium for 2 minutes and then add the bacon. Cook the bacon until most of the bits have started to brown. Remove bacon from pan. Add Brussels sprouts to the pan and bacon grease. Cook undisturbed for 3-4 minutes, then mix and cook undisturbed for 3-4 minutes. Turn off heat. Add back in the bacon. Place in the oven for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and EAT!

Meanwhile, in another skillet, melt the remaining tablespoon of butter with the olive oil over medium-high heat. Add the mushrooms, garlic, thyme and season with salt and pepper. Sauté for 8 to 10 minutes until the liquid has evaporated and the mushrooms have turned nicely browned.

Spoon the hot sautéed mushrooms over the warm polenta slices, sprinkle over the parsley and serve warm.

“Wicked: For Good”

By BOB GARVER

Previously, in “Wicked”

Aspiring witches, green-skinned outcast Elphaba (Cynthia Erivo) and pink-and-popular Glinda (Ariana Grande), started off as enemies at school, but then became friends. They decided to go their separate ways after discovering a plan by the nefarious Wizard (Jeff Goldblum) to blame and punish animals for problems in the Land of Oz. The Wizard and henchwoman Madame Morrible (Michelle Yeoh) tried to have Elphaba captured and silenced because she learned that The Wizard had no real magical power. Fortunately, Elphaba did have magical powers and escaped the Emerald City on a broomstick, though The Wizard and Morrible quickly spread rumors throughout Oz that she was a Wicked Witch.

When we rejoin “Wicked,” Elphaba is still on the run, helping out animals when she can and trying to think of a way to expose The Wizard as a fraud. Her disabled sister Nessarose (Marissa Bode) is now governor of Munchkinland, with reluctant boyfriend Boq (Ethan Slater) as her favorite servant. Love interest Fiyero (Jonathan Bailey, recently named PEOPLE’s Sexiest Man Alive) is captain of The Wizard’s guards, tasked with hunting down Elphaba, but secretly determined to assist his old flame. As for Glinda, she’s been made a “Good Witch” by The Wizard and Morrible, a sort of magical superhero to balance out the Wickedness of Elphaba, at least in the public’s eyes. She isn’t exactly Wicked herself, but she has been seduced into complicity by the perks and popularity that come with the position. She even unwittingly gives Morrible the idea to do the most Wicked deed of all.

If last year’s “Wicked” served as a sort of prequel to “The Wizard of Oz,” then “Wicked: For Good” serves as a sort of parallel piece. It’s not an even split – there’s plenty of prequel-y stuff here too, but a never-fully-seen Dorothy shows up at about the halfway mark, and we see what was happening offscreen while that literary and cinematic classic unfolded. It all leads up to a devastating splash from a bucket of water that ties into the Munchkinland celebration from the beginning of the first movie.

Frankly, all the “running parallel to ‘The Wizard of Oz’” stuff is a huge detriment to both the stage and screen versions of “Wicked.” Characters’ attitudes, motivations, and loyalties turn on a dime just to accommodate the way those characters behaved in the more familiar story. Then there’s the huge plot hole of characters interacting in these movies despite ostensibly meeting one another for the first time during Dorothy’s walk down the Yellow Brick Road (a certain brainless wonder should have received more recognition than he was ever given). The whole practice makes the story a mess, though the movie is only following the stage musical’s lead, while admirably tightening up a detail or two.

Another area where the new film tries to fix a deficiency with the stage show is with its musical numbers. The stage version is so front-loaded with memorable songs that disappointingly little is saved for the second half. The film knows that audiences won’t stand for such a dull second installment, so it has added two new songs: Elphaba’s attempt to rally her animal friends with the familiar adage that “There’s No Place Like Home,” and Glinda taking a long hard look in the mirror (or rather, somewhat-reflective sphere) in “The Girl in the Bubble.” They’re admirable efforts, but neither is as memorable as the stage show’s “No Good Deed” or the titular “For Good,” themselves paling in comparison to the best songs from the first movie.

“Wicked: For Good” is a relative step down from “Wicked,” but it justifies its existence better than fans feared it would when it was first announced that the adaptation would be split into two movies. And it’s still a grand, ambitious, passionately-performed spectacle. I can say that the underwhelming second half of the stage musical has been changed for the better, and because it’s been shown some much-needed love, it has been changed “For Good.”

Grade: B-

“Wicked: For Good” is rated PG for action/violence, some suggestive material and thematic material. Its running time is 137 minutes.

‘Wicked: For Good’ Opens with $150 Million to Lead Box Office

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - “Wicked: For Good” is drawing huge crowds to movie theaters this weekend as expected, opening with $150 million to easily lead all films in North America, according to industry estimates released Sunday.

The second part of director Jon M. Chu’s two-part adaptation of the long-running Broadway smash scored the second-best opening weekend of 2025 behind “A Minecraft Movie,” which grossed more than $200 million when it opened on April 4. “Wicked: For Good” also broke the record for biggest opening of a Broadway film adaptation, surpassing its predecessor, “Wicked,” which opened to $112 million in 2024.

In a distant second place was “Now You See Me: Now You Don’t,” which grossed $9.1 million one week after opening in first place, Comscore reported.

“Predator: Badlands” claimed third place with $6.2 million Friday through Sunday in its third week in theaters.

“The Running Man” continued its disappointing run in theaters by falling to fourth place in just its second weekend, grossing $5.8 million.

The comedic drama “Rental Family,” starring Brendan Fraser, opened in fifth place with $3.3 million.

Rounding out the top 10 domestic releases were “Sisu: Road to Revenge” ($2.6 million), “Regretting You”

($1.5 million), “Nuremberg” ($1.2 million), “Black Phone 2” ($1 million) and “Sarah’s Oil” ($771,542).

This weekend’s overall three-day box office haul was estimated at $185.5 million. The year-to-date total is $7.492 billion -- up 3.3% from the figure at this time last year, according to Comscore.

Fiber Is Something Most People Could Use More Of But Experts Advise Caution With 'FIBERMAXXING'

By DEE-ANN DURBIN
AP Business Writer

U.S. consumers who have had their fill of finding protein added to everything from cereal to ice cream are about to meet the next big food fad: fiber.

Americans have been boosting their protein intake for years; even Pop-Tarts and Starbucks are selling protein-enhanced products. But the number of new products promoted with high or added fiber saw a big uptick in the U.S. this year, according to market research firm Mintel. Hundreds of videos on social media celebrate the benefits of dietary fiber and share recipes to help viewers get more of it.

There's even a term for trying to meet or exceed the recommended daily fiber intake: fibermaxxing.

"I think fiber will be the next protein," PepsiCo CEO Ramon Laguarta said during a recent conference call with investors. "Consumers are starting to understand that fiber is the benefit that they need."

benefits

Unlike muscle-building protein, fiber isn't sexy. It's a carbohydrate found in plants that your body can't break down. It helps feed gut bacteria and move food through the digestive system.

"Folks don't want to talk about it at a dinner party," said Debbie Petripain, a registered dietitian nutritionist and a spokeswoman for the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

There are two main types of fiber. Soluble fiber dissolves in water and forms a gel-like material that feeds gut bacteria. It's found in foods like oats, peas, beans, apples and carrots. Insoluble fiber doesn't dissolve in water and moves food through the digestive system. It's found in whole wheat flour, popcorn, wheat bran, nuts, green beans and potatoes.

Studies have shown that fiber lowers cholesterol levels, regulates blood sugar and promotes weight loss, since high-fiber foods tend to make eaters feel more full. It may also protect against heart disease, diabetes, di-

ticulitis and colon cancer, according to the American Heart Association.

Petripain said rising use of GLP-1 weight loss drugs could be one reason for the renewed focus on fiber, since GLP-1s naturally slow digestion and fiber can prevent constipation. She said fiber has seen similar spikes in interest when people wanted to alleviate symptoms from high-fat diets like Atkins or keto.

How much fiber do we need?

Most people in Western countries could use more fiber because their diets are low in vegetables, fruits and whole grains, said Sander Kersten, director of the Division of Nutritional Sciences at Cornell University.

Under the U.S. Department of Agriculture's guidelines, adults should aim for 14 grams of fiber for every 1,000 calories they consume. That's about 25 grams of fiber for women and 38 grams for men each day. Petripain said Americans generally only get about two-thirds of that amount.

For reference, 1 cup of raspberries contains 8 grams of fiber, while a banana contains 3.2 grams, according to the USDA. One-half cup of avocado contains 5 grams of fiber and 1 cup of lima beans contains 13.2 grams. Fiber One, a bran cereal, packs 18 grams of fiber into a 2/3-cup serving.

What are good ways to increase fiber?

Kersten said long-term studies about the benefits of fiber have looked at the consumption of whole foods and not packaged products with added fiber.

"The way it is consumed as an additive and part of a diet that doesn't contain a lot of fiber may be different than a naturally fiber-rich diet," Kersten said. "You can eat a very processed, Western diet and consume foods that are enriched, but we don't know if it confers the same benefit."

Whole foods also help the body in other ways, Petripain said. An apple contains 4.8 grams of fiber as well as water, vitamins and minerals, for example.

Here are some recommendations from the Mayo Clinic for adding fiber to your diet:

— Choose a breakfast cereal with 5 grams or more of fiber a serving. Top it with a sliced banana or berries.

— Choose breads with at least 2 grams of fiber per serving and try other grains like brown rice, whole-wheat pasta and quinoa.

— When baking, substitute whole-grain flour for white flour. Add wheat bran to muffins and cookies.

— Try to eat five or more servings of fruit and vegetables daily. If you eat canned fruit, make sure it's canned in fruit juice and not syrup, and make sure canned vegetables are low in sodium.

Think twice about fibermaxxing

There is no defined upper limit for fiber intake, Kersten said. But increasing fiber can cause painful gas and bloating, especially if it's done quickly.

Petripain said people should increase their fiber intake gradually and drink plenty of water.

"You're feeding gut bacteria a food, and you can't break it down. You rely on them, and if you give them second, third and fourth servings, there's not enough of them to handle the extra load," Petripain said.

Certain populations should also be extra careful about their fiber intake, Petripain said. People who are sensitive to gluten or allergic to foods like soy, shellfish or psyllium husk should read labels carefully since some foods with added fiber contain those ingredients.

More broadly, Kersten questions the trend of focusing on one nutrient, whether it's protein or fiber.

"We don't need nutrients, we need foods. Ultimately, what you want to be striving for is a healthy diet, and you should choose foods that are considered to be an important part of a healthy diet," he said.

considered low-risk, but critics say the shareholder return rates don't reflect that. Rates for U.S. 10-year treasury bonds, which are considered the benchmark for a risk-free investment, are about half of the national average for approved utility shareholder return rates. And it's costing utility ratepayers across the country as much as $7 billion annually, according to academics.

Ellis, the former Sempra economist, said there is a way to lower shareholder returns while keeping customer bills in check and maintaining credit ratings that the commission has not yet explored — changing the balance of debt and equity each utility has.

"You really need to understand credit," he said. "This is where they're going to get you."

The commission is allowed to set the debt-equity balance when it determines shareholder returns, but it left this unchanged for all three utilities in its proposed decision for 2026. Keeping shareholder return rates high as the main means for keeping credit ratings up, Ellis said, unnecessarily burdens ratepayers.

using pot is an important part for recovery.

The Education Department Is Dismantling. HERE'S WHAT THAT MEANS

By COLLIN BINKLEY and ANNIE MA AP Education Writers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Education Department is breaking off several of its main offices and giving their responsibilities to other federal agencies, an early look at how President Donald Trump could fulfill his campaign pledge to close the department entirely. Offices that serve the nation's schools and colleges would go to departments ranging from Labor to Interior. Education officials say the moves won't affect the money Congress gives states, schools and colleges. They didn't say whether current department staff would keep their jobs.

Since he took office, Trump has called for the dismantling of the Education Department, saying it has been overrun by liberal thinking. Agency leaders have been making plans to parcel out its operations to other departments, and in July the Supreme Court upheld mass layoffs that halved the department's staff.

In recent days, Education Secretary Linda McMahon has started a public campaign for the end of her department, making the case on social media that Education's grantmaking and question-answering functions could be better handled by states and other federal agencies.

While the necessity of the department is up for debate, it's also unclear how well-equipped other state and federal departments are to take over the Education Department's responsibilities. The department sends billions of dollars to schools and colleges and helps decipher complex federal laws.

It will be a test for the administration: Can the department be shut down smoothly, or will rural and low-income kids and students with disabilities — the populations that most rely on federal education support — be impacted?

Here's what the Education Department currently handles, where its responsibilities will go to other federal agencies and what will stay the same.

Money for schools and colleges While American schools are funded primarily by state and local money, the Education Department serves as a conduit for billions of dollars of federal aid going to state and local education agencies.

Education officials say that money will continue to be awarded as allocated by Congress, but much of it will flow from another federal agency. Most notably, the Department of Labor will oversee some of the largest federal funding streams for schools and colleges, including Title I money for schools serving low-income communities. Adult education programs already were moved to Labor in June.

Another deal will put Health and Human Services in charge of a grant program for parents who are attending college. The State Department will take on money to fund foreign language programs. Interior will oversee programs supporting Native American education.

Federal student loans

One of the department's major roles is management of the $1.6 trillion federal student loan portfolio. Student aid so far will be largely unaffected, although McMahon and Trump have suggested it could be better handled by a different federal department.

Pell Grants and federal loans will continue to be disbursed, and student loan borrowers must continue making payments on their debts.

The website for the Free Application for Student Aid, or FAFSA, remains open — a key piece of how colleges and universities provide aid packages to incoming students. The Education Department will continue to handle support for people navigating the complicated form.

The Education Department also will continue to oversee another major part of higher education: accreditation, which allows colleges to accept students' federal financial aid.

Students with disabilities For now, the department will continue to distribute money to schools to provide educational support for students with disabilities, though McMahon has suggested this function could move to the Department of Health and Human Services. The Education Department also oversees investigations into schools and universities alleged to have violated disability rights law, along with other civil rights violations such as discrimination involving sex, race and shared ancestry.

Those responsibilities will remain with the department for now, although McMahon has suggested sending them to the Department of Justice.

In any case, since the mass layoffs in March, the Office for Civil Rights has operated under a significantly reduced footprint. The department's civil rights branch lost about half of its staff. The cuts raised questions about whether the office would be able to shrink a backlog of complaints from students who allege they have experienced discrimination on the basis of race, sex or disability status.

The department's own data has shown a decline in resolving civil rights cases, while new complaints from families have increased.

Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by John William Lewandowski in the Superior Court of California, County of Riverside.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that John William Lewandowski be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 12/19/2025 at 8:30am in Department 8 located at 4050 Main St, Riverside, CA 92501.
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

In the event that the deed of trust described in this Notice of Trustee's Sale is secured by real property containing from one to four singlefamily residences, the following notices are provided pursuant to the provisions of Civil Code section 2924f: NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee's sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2025-11550. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not be immediately reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916-939-0772, or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2025-11550 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit or declaration described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. the hearing, including that breach or default, Notice of which was recorded 7/30/2025 as Recorder's Instrument No. 2025-0231567, in Book n/a, at page n/a, WILL SELL AT PUBLIC AUCTION TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER FOR CASH, lawful money of the United States, evidenced by a Cashier's Check drawn on a state or national bank, or the equivalent thereof drawn on any other financial institution specified in section 5102 of the California Financial Code, authorized to do business in the State of California, ALL PAYABLE AT THE TIME OF SALE, all right, title and interest held by it as Trustee, in that real property situated in said County and State, described as follows: Lot 33, Tract 30241-6, per Map, Book 374, Pages 24 to 29, inclusive of Maps. The street address or other common designation of the real property hereinabove described is purported to be: 7627 Lady Banks Loop, Corona, CA 92883. The undersigned disclaims all liability for any incorrectness in said street address or other common designation. Said sale will be made without warranty, express or implied regarding title, possession, or other encumbrances, to satisfy the unpaid obligations secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest and other sums as provided therein; plus advances, if any, thereunder and interest thereon; and plus fees, charges, and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of said obligations at the time of initial publication of this Notice is $446,658.82. In the event that the deed of trust described in this Notice of Trustee's Sale is secured by real property containing from one to four singlefamily residences, the following notices are provided pursuant to the provisions of Civil Code section 2924f: NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee's sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2025-11550. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not be immediately reflected in the telephone information or on the internet website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916-939-0772, or visit this internet website www.nationwideposting.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2025-11550 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit or declaration described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. Bids submitted after this time will not be accepted by the electronic bidding system. At said time it will be bidder's responsibility to log into the PlanetBids system for the City of Corona to view the apparent low bidder for the project. Bids shall be valid for 90 calendar days after the bid opening date. Bids must be submitted on the City's Bid Forms.

Prospective Bidders must visit the City's Bids and Requests for Proposals Vendor Portal at <https://www.planetbids.com/portal/portal.cfm?CompanyID=39497> and register as a new vendor in PlanetBids in order to download Contract Documents, including Instructions to Bidders, plans and specifications, and to receive addenda and notifications when issued. Bidders will also submit electronic bids through this website. The City will also make the Contract Documents available for review at one or more plan rooms.

All electronic Bids must be accompanied by a bid security in an amount not less than 10% of the submitted Total Bid Price pursuant to Section 12 Bid Guarantee (Bond) of the Instructions to Bidders.

Prospective bidders may visit the Project Site the jobsite located at the North West corner of Auto Center Drive and Metrolink Station in the City of Corona without making prior arrangements.

It shall be Bidder's responsibility to allow sufficient time to complete and submit its bid including all required documentation referred to in the Contract Documents prior to the stated deadline. Electronic bid submission cannot be completed unless bidder properly uploads all required documents. Each bid shall be accompanied by the security referred to in the Contract Documents, the NonCollusion Declaration, the list of proposed subcontractors, and all additional documentation required by the Instructions to Bidders.

Bidders are solely responsible for the "on time" submission of their electronic Bid. The City will only consider Bids from prequalified contractors that have transmitted successfully and have been issued a confirmation number with a time stamp from PlanetBids indicating that the Bid was submitted successfully. Transmission of Bids by any other means will not be accepted. Bidders shall be solely responsible for informing themselves with respect to the proper utilization of the online bid management system, for ensuring the capability of their computer system to upload the required documents, and for the stability of their internet service. Failure of the Bidder to successfully submit an electronic Bid shall be the Bidder's sole risk and no relief will be given for late and/or improperly submitted Bids. Bidders experiencing technical difficulties with the bid submission process may contact PlanetBids Support at 818-992-1771. If you continue to have difficulty, call City of Corona Purchasing Department at 951-736-2274. Neither the City, nor PlanetBids, make any guarantee as to the timely availability of assistance, or assurance that any given problem will be resolved by the bid submission date and/or time.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish the City with a Performance Bond equal to 100% of the successful bid, and a Payment (Labor and Materials) Bond equal to 100% of the successful bid, prior to execution of the Contract. All bonds are to be secured from a surety that meets all of the State of California bonding requirements, as defined in Code of Civil Procedure Section 995.120, and is admitted by the State of California.

Pursuant to Public Contract Code Section 22300, the successful bidder may substitute certain securities for funds withheld by City to ensure performance under the Contract.

The Work is subject to the payment of not less than prevailing wages pursuant to Chapter 1 (beginning at Section 1720 et seq.) of Part 7 of Division 2 of the California Labor Code, as well as Title 8, Section 16000 et seq. of the California Code of Regulations ("Prevailing Wage Laws"). The Director of the Department of Industrial Relations ("DIR") has determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of worker needed to execute the Contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder, copies of which are on file and will be made available to any interested party upon request at Owners office or online at <http://www.dir.ca.gov/dlsr>. A copy of these rates shall be posted by the successful bidder at the Project site.

Pursuant to SB 854, which amended the Prevailing Wage Laws, this Contract is subject to compliance monitoring and enforcement by the DIR. Beginning March 1, 2015, with very limited exceptions no contractor or subcontractor may be listed on a bid proposal for this Contract unless registered with the DIR pursuant to Labor Code section 1725.5. Beginning April 1, 2015, no contractor or subcontractor may be awarded this Contract unless registered with the DIR pursuant to Labor Code section 1725.5. The DIR registration number for each contractor and subcontractor must be identified on the bid proposal - failure to identify this number could result in the bid being rejected as nonresponsive. It is each bidder's responsibility to ensure that they have fully complied with SB 854. The City will report all necessary contracts to the DIR as required by the Prevailing Wage Laws.

The successful bidder and their subcontractor(s) shall comply with all applicable Prevailing Wage Laws, which include, but are not limited to the payment of not less than the required prevailing rates to all workers employed by them in the execution of the Contract, the employment of apprentices, the hours of labor, the payment of overtime, and the debarment of contractors and subcontractors. The successful bidder and all subcontractor(s) under him shall also be responsible for any and all violations and fines imposed on them pursuant to the Prevailing Wage Laws.

Before the Contract is awarded, the successful bidder shall be a licensed contractor pursuant to the Business and Professions Code and shall be licensed in the following appropriate classification(s) of contractor's license(s) for the work bid upon. The successful bidder must maintain the license(s) throughout the duration of the Contract: a valid Class A General Engineering license(s) or a C10 Electrical sufficient to cover all of the work to be performed.

The successful bidder must fully comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations in furnishing or using equipment and/or providing services, including, but not limited to, emissions limits and permitting requirements imposed by the South Coast Air Quality Management District (SCAQMD) and/or California Air Resources Board (CARB). Although the SCAQMD and CARB limits and requirements are broader, the successful bidder shall specifically be aware of their application to "portable equipment", which definition is considered by SCAQMD and CARB to include any item of equipment with a fuelpowered engine. The successful bidder will be required to indemnify City against any fines or penalties imposed by SCAQMD, CARB, or any other governmental or regulatory agency for violations of applicable laws, rules and/or regulations by the successful bidder, its subcontractors, or others for whom the successful bidder is responsible under its indemnity obligations.

CARB implemented amendments to the InUse OffRoad DieselFueled Fleets Regulations ("Regulation") which are effective on January 1, 2024 and apply broadly to all selfpropelled off road diesel vehicles 25 horsepower or greater and other forms of equipment used in California. A copy of the Regulation is available at: <https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/sites/default/files/barcu/regact/2022/offroaddiesel/appa-1.pdf>.

Bidders are required to comply with all CARB and Regulation requirements, including, without limitation, all applicable sections of the Regulation, as codified in Title 13 of the California Code of Regulations section 2449 et seq. throughout the duration of the Project. Bidders must provide, with their Bid, copies of Bidder's and all listed subcontractors' most recent, valid Certificate of Reported Compliance ("CRC") issued by CARB. Failure to provide valid CRCs as required herein may render the Bid nonresponsive.

Award of Contract: The City shall award the Contract for the Project to the lowest responsive, responsible bidder as determined from the lowest total for the summation of the base bid Schedule A alone. The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bids or in the bidding process.

NOTICE
REQUEST FOR PREQUALIFICATION OF BIDDERS FOR FORTHCOMING PUBLIC WORK BID FOR THE CITY PARK REHABILITATION PROJECT PROJECT NO. FC-2024-07 RFQ NO. 26-015CA

CITY OF CORONA

Notice is hereby given that the City of Corona ("City") has determined that all bidders on the City of Corona City Park Rehabilitation Project must be pre-qualified prior to submitting a bid on that project. It is mandatory that all Contractors (Class "B" General Contractors only) who intend to submit a bid, fully complete the pre-qualification questionnaire, provide all materials requested herein, and be approved by the City to be on the final qualified bidders list. No bid will be accepted from a Contractor that has failed to comply with these requirements. If two or more business entities submit a bid as part of a Joint Venture or expect to submit a bid as part of a Joint Venture, each entity within the Joint Venture must be separately qualified to bid. The last date and time to submit a fully completed questionnaire is January 12, 2026, by 3:00 PM PST. Contractors are encouraged to submit prequalification applications as soon as possible, so they may be notified of their prequalification status well in advance of the bid advertisement for this project.

Answers to questions contained in the prequalification questionnaire, information about current bonding capacity, notarized statement from surety, and the most recent reviewed or audited financial statements, with accompanying notes and supplemental information, are required. The City will use these documents as the basis of rating Contractors with respect to their qualifications to bid on the Project. The City reserves the right to check other sources available. City staff shall decide based on objective evaluation criteria.

The City reserves the right to adjust, increase, limit, suspend or rescind the pre-qualification rating based on subsequently learned information. Contractors whose rating changes sufficient to disqualify them will be notified.

While it is the intent of the prequalification questionnaire and documents required therewith to assist the City in determining bidder responsibility prior to bid and to aid the City in selecting the lowest responsible bidder, neither the fact of prequalification, nor any pre-qualification rating, will preclude the City from a postbid consideration and determination of whether a bidder has the quality, fitness, capacity and experience to satisfactorily perform the proposed work, and has demonstrated the requisite trustworthiness.

Parties interested in obtaining a copy of the Prequalification Package may do so by registering with PlanetBids as a City of Corona vendor by visiting the City's PlanetBids vendor portal at <https://vendors.planetbids.com/portal/39497/portalhome>. Registered vendors can download a copy of the Prequalification Package and supporting documents at no cost and receive addenda and other notifications when issued. For further information, contact Carol Appelt, Lead Purchasing Specialist, at (951) 279-3620 or by email at Carolyn.Appelt@CoronaCA.gov. Completed Prequalification Packages must be received by the City no later than 3:00 p.m. PST on January 12, 2026, through the PlanetBids vendor portal. It is the Contractor's responsibility to allow sufficient time to complete and upload its Prequalification Package, including all documentation required by this RFQ, prior to the stated deadline. Electronic submission cannot be completed unless the Contractor properly uploads the Prequalification Package and all required documents.

The prequalification applications (questionnaire answers and financial statements) submitted by Contractors are not public records and are not open to public inspection.

tion. All information provided will be kept confidential to the extent permitted by law. However, the contents may be disclosed to third parties for the purpose of verification, or investigation of substantial allegations, or in the appeal hearing. State law requires that the names of contractors applying for pre-qualification status shall be public records subject to disclosure, and the first page of the questionnaire will be used for that purpose.

Each questionnaire must be signed under penalty of perjury in the manner designated at the end of the form, by an individual who has the legal authority to bind the Contractor on whose behalf that person is signing. If any information provided by a Contractor becomes inaccurate, the Contractor must immediately notify the City and provide updated accurate information in writing, under penalty of perjury.

The City reserves the right to waive minor irregularities and omissions in the information contained in the pre-qualification application submitted, to make all final determinations, and to determine at any time that the prequalification procedures will not be applied to a specific future public works project.

In addition to the requirements listed herein, the successful bidder must be willing and able to comply with the contracting requirements of the City.

The City may refuse to grant pre-qualification where the requested information and materials are not provided, or not provided by January 12, 2026, at 3:00 p.m. PST. There is no appeal from a refusal for an incomplete or late application. The closing time for applications will not be changed in order to accommodate supplementation of incomplete submissions, or late submissions.

The Approved Prequalified Contractor's List will be posted on PlanetBids along with the bid and contract documents for construction of the Project and will be accessible using the PlanetBids vendor portal at <https://vendors.planetbids.com/portal/39497/portalhome> Contractors who are not selected as Prequalified Contractors will be notified electronically and provided an opportunity to appeal.

Where a timely and completed application results in a rating below that necessary to prequalify, an appeal can be made. An appeal is begun by the Contractor delivering written notice to the City of its appeal of the decision with respect to its pre-qualification rating, no later than ten (10) calendar days after prequalification status for the Project is issued by the City. Without a timely appeal, the Contractor waives any and all rights to challenge the decision of the City, whether by administrative process, judicial process or any other legal process or proceeding. If the Contractor gives the required notice of appeal and requests a hearing, the hearing shall be conducted so that it is concluded no later than ten (10) business days after City's receipt of the notice of the Contractor's appeal. The hearing shall be an informal process conducted by the City's Public Works Director or his or her designee, who is delegated responsibility to consider such appeals and will be based upon the information submitted by the Contractor in its appeal. Within five (5) business days after the conclusion of the review, the Public Works Director or his or her designee shall render its decision, which will be final and binding. The City will notify the Contractor in writing of its decision at the conclusion of the review.

Note: A contractor may be found not prequalified for bidding on a specific public works contract to be let by the City, or on all contracts to be let by the City until the contractor meets the City's requirements. In addition, a contractor may be found not pre-qualified for either:

- (1) Omission of requested information; or
- (2) Falsification of information.

This is not a solicitation for a bid. No guarantees are made or implied that any project will be constructed in whole or in part or that a contractor submitting a Pre-qualification Package will be prequalified or will be awarded a contract. The use of this Prequalified Contractor's List is solely at the discretion of the City. Contractors accept all risk and cost associated with the completion of the Prequalification Package without financial guarantee.

The Work is subject to the payment of not less than prevailing wages pursuant to Chapter 1 (beginning at Section 1720 et seq.) of Part 7 of Division 2 of the California Labor Code, as well as Title 8, Section 16000 et seq. of the California Code of Regulations ("Prevailing Wage Laws"). The Director of the Department of Industrial Relations ("DIR") has determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of worker needed to execute the Contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder, copies of which are on file and will be made available to any interested party upon request at Owners office or online at <http://www.dir.ca.gov/dlsr>. A copy of these rates shall be posted by the successful bidder at the job site.

Pursuant to SB 854, which amended the Prevailing Wage Laws, this Contract is subject to compliance monitoring and enforcement by the DIR. Beginning March 1, 2015, with very limited exceptions no contractor or subcontractor may be listed on a bid proposal for this Contract unless registered with the DIR pursuant to Labor Code section 1725.5. Beginning April 1, 2015, no contractor or subcontractor may be awarded this Contract unless registered with the DIR pursuant to Labor Code section 1725.5. The DIR registration number for each contractor and subcontractor must be identified on the bid proposal - failure to identify this number could result in the bid being rejected as nonresponsive. It is each bidder's responsibility to ensure that they have fully complied with SB 854. The City will report all necessary contracts to the DIR as required by the Prevailing Wage Laws.

The successful bidder and all subcontractor(s) under him, shall comply with all applicable Prevailing Wage Laws, which include, but are not limited to the payment of not less than the required prevailing rates to all workers employed by them in the execution of the Contract, the employment of apprentices, the hours of labor, the payment of overtime, and the debarmment of contractors and subcontractors. The successful bidder and all subcontractor(s) under him shall also be responsible for any and all violations and fines imposed on them pursuant to the Prevailing Wage Laws.

The successful bidder must fully comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations in furnishing or using equipment and/or providing services, including, but not limited to, emissions limits and permitting requirements imposed by the South Coast Air Quality Management District (SCAQMD) and/or California Air Resources Board (CARB). Although the SCAQMD and CARB limits and requirements are more broad, the successful bidder shall specifically be aware of their application to "portable equipment", which definition is considered by SCAQMD and CARB to include any item of equipment with a fuelpowered engine. The successful bidder will be required to indemnify City against any fines or penalties imposed by SCAQMD, CARB, or any other governmental or regulatory agency for violations of applicable laws, rules and/or regulations by the successful bidder, its subcontractors, or others for whom the successful bidder is responsible under its indemnity obligations.

CARB implemented amendments to the InUse OffRoad DieselFueled Fleets Regulations ("Regulation") which are effective on January 1, 2024 and apply broadly to all selfpropelled off road diesel vehicles 25 horsepower or greater and other forms of equipment used in California. A copy of the Regulation is available at:

<https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/sites/default/files/barcu/regact/2022/offroadiesel/appa-1.pdf>. Bidders are required to comply with all CARB and Regulation requirements, including, without limitation, all applicable sections of the Regulation, as codified in Title 13 of the California Code of Regulations section 2449 et seq. throughout the duration of the Project. Bidders must provide, with their Bid, copies of Bidder's and all listed subcontractors' most recent, valid Certificate of Reported Compliance ("CRC") issued by CARB. Failure to provide valid CRCs as required herein may render the Bid nonresponsive.

Award of Contract: The City shall award the Contract for the Project to the lowest responsive, responsible bidder as determined from the lowest total for the summation of the base bid and all alternate bid schedules combined. However, the City may choose to award the Contract on the basis of the base bid alone or the base bid and any selected alternate bid items or the base bid and any combination of selected alternate bid items. The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bids or in the bidding process.
