CALIFORNIA HAS A DANGEROUS DRIVER PROBLEM. A BIPARTISAN GROUP OF LAWMAKERS WANTS TO FIX THAT

BY ROBERT LEWIS AND LAUREN HEPLER, CalMatters

A bipartisan group of state Assembly members announced a package of bills Monday to crack down on dangerous drivers and address some of the roadway safety issues CalMatters uncovered as part of its ongoing License to Kill series.

The proposals take aim at laws and practices that have allowed dangerous drivers to stay on California's roads and contributed to a spike in traffic deaths. The bills would: require first-time DUI offenders to install in-car breathalyzers, lengthen many license suspensions and revocations, increase DUI training for law enforcement and close a loophole that allows people who've killed with their car to avoid consequences through a diversion program.

"Sacramento is listening. We see that there is a problem and we are doing what we can, crossing that partisan divide and trying to identify real solutions that we can deliver now to make our communities safer," said Democratic Assemblymember Nick Schultz of Burbank, chair of the Assembly Public Safety Committee.

The Assembly proposals are one component of a broader reckoning over years of rising traffic deaths playing out at the Capitol. Next week, a separate event is expected to include more details about new bills from the California Senate, related budget proposals and the perspective of families who have lost loved ones to drunk drivers.

Last month, Schultz introduced a bill to increase penalties for repeat DUI offenders. Assembly members detailed several additional legislative efforts at Monday's press conference that would:

Close a diversion loophole.

We reported in December that a criminal justice reform law from a few years ago was allowing judges to dismiss misdemeanor vehicular manslaughter charges for drivers who agreed to take part in what's known as a diversion program. But in an unintended twist, that has meant the drivers not only avoided a criminal conviction but also kept a clean driving record.

FIRST MEASLES CASE OF 2026 Confirmed in Riverside County

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - The first measles case of 2026 surfaced in western Riverside County recently, prompting health officials Monday to urge precautions and vigilance among residents.

The patient, identified only as a child, tested positive for a measles infection following tests last month and is now recovering at home, according to the Riverside University Health System.

The origin of the infection could not be verified. RUHS officials said the minor had not traveled out of the country, or even out of the state, in the last several months.

It's the 11th case of measles documented statewide this year. The other patients are from Los Angeles, Napa, Orange, San Bernardino, San Mateo and Shasta counties, according to the California Department of Public Health.

"As we see growing reports of measles from our neighboring counties, the risk of measles is no longer remote," county Public Health Officer Dr. Jennifer Chevinsky said. "It's now also impacting us here in our own county, even among those with no recent international or out-of-state travel. The importance of timely vaccination is clear."

Last year, Riverside County documented its first measles infection since 2018. Statewide, there were a total 25 verified measles cases in 2025, according to health officials.

"Measles is highly infectious and can be spread through the air when a person breathes, talks, coughs or sneezes, so it is very important to call your healthcare provider if you may have been exposed and especially at the first sign of measles illness," Chevinsky said.

Measles-mumps-rubella -- MMR -- vaccinations and boosters are available through the county health system, or from clinics and physicians. The consultations are private.

"Measles typically begins with a fever that lasts a couple of days, followed by symptoms such as runny nose, cough, conjunctivitis -- pink eye -- and rash," RUHS stated.

"The earliest symptoms usually last four to seven days. The rash will usually appear first on the face, along the hairline and behind the ears. It then spreads to the rest of the body. Those infected can spread measles about four days before their rash starts to four days afterward."

Actor James Van Der Beek of 'Dawson's Creek' Fame Dead at 48 from Cancer

LOS ANGELES - Actor James Van Der Beek, known for his role on the hit WB show "Dawson's Creek," died Wednesday, his wife announced on Instagram.

He was 48 and had been battling colorectal cancer.

"Our beloved James David Van Der Beek passed peacefully this morning," his wife and the mother of his six children, Kimberly Van Der Beek, posted on Instagram.

"He met his final days with courage, faith, and grace. There is much to share regarding his wishes, love for humanity and the sacredness of time. Those days will come. For now we ask for peaceful privacy as we grieve our loving husband, father, son, brother, and friend."

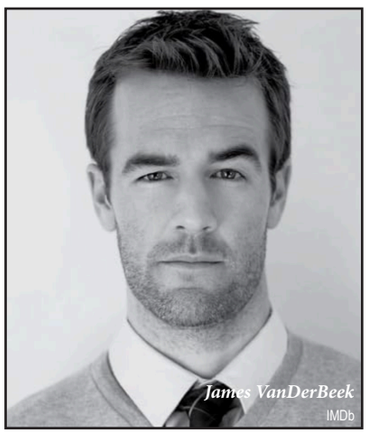

The location of his passing was not revealed.

Van Der Beek, a native of Connecticut, was born in 1977, the oldest of three children.

He was best known for playing Dawson Leery on the WB teen drama "Dawson's Creek," which ran from 1998 to 2003.

He also appeared in the ABC sitcom "Don't Trust the B---- in Apartment 23," which ran from 2012-13, playing a fictionalized version of himself; and appeared in "CSI: Cyber" as an FBI agent and on the FX drama "Pose" in its first season in 2018.

Van Der Beek's film credits include "Varsity Blues" in 1999 and "Texas Rangers" in 2001. His last of 71 acting credits listed on IMDB was in the 2025 film "Sideline 2: Intercepted."

He first announced his cancer diagnosis in November 2024 to People magazine, saying, "I have colorectal cancer. I've been privately dealing with this diagnosis and have been taking steps to resolve it, with the support of my incredible family."

Survivors include his wife and six children -- Emilia, Annabel Leah, Joshua, Gwendolyn, Jeremiah and Olivia.

Dangerous Driver

Assembly Member Lori Wilson, a Democrat from Suisun City who chairs the Assembly Transportation Committee, introduced a new bill that would require the DMV to add points to a driver's license when they're granted misdemeanor diversion.

Make license suspensions and revocations start when a driver is released from custody as opposed to at the time of conviction.

Currently, someone who is convicted of felony vehicular manslaughter would likely by law have their license revoked for three years. But the revocation would often start while they're in prison and they might be eligible to get their license back as soon as they're out.

Wilson said her office is finalizing language on another bill that would change that.

"Driving is a privilege," Wilson said. "This package holds dangerous drivers accountable and keeps our streets safer for everyone."

Force first-time DUI offenders to install what's known as an ignition interlock device on their vehicles.

This is now the third time that Assemblymember Cottie Petrie-Norris, a Democrat from Irvine, has introduced this measure. California is currently one of the few states that doesn't require first time offenders to install the technology, which forces a driver to blow into a breathalyzer and prove they haven't been drinking in order to start their car. Her previous efforts failedafter the Department of Motor Vehicles raised budget concerns and civil liberties groups worried it would disproportionately impact the poor and people of color.

"California is the epicenter of America's DUI and drunk driving epidemic. As moms, as dads, as Californians, it's horrifying. And as policymakers, we have an opportunity and we have an obligation to do something about this," Petrie-Norris said. "We know these devices work. We know that they can save lives."

Increase training for law enforcement officers on how to enforce the state's DUI laws.

Assembly Member Juan Alanis, a Republican from Modesto, said currently many officers only get basic training at the academy on drunk and drugged driving and must often wait for colleagues with more specialized training to assess a driver's sobriety level.

"This is to help those agencies and officers to be able to have that training so that way we can identify DUI drivers faster, quicker and get them off the streets," Alanis said.

Schultz called the package of proposals a "starting point" and said he expects his colleagues in the state Senate will also be proposing changes to save lives on the road.

Indeed, last month State Sen. Bob Archuleta, a Democrat from Norwalk, introduced a bill to crack down on DUIs – increasing punishment and making it easier for prosecutors to charge repeat offenders with murder.

Archuleta is expected to hold a press conference later this month along with Mothers Against Drunk Driving, road safety advocates and other lawmakers to announce further road safety bills.

Cops Have to Treat Marijuana in Your Car Differently After New California Supreme Court Ruling

When it comes to impaired driving and the state's open container law, a rolled and ready joint is more like a can of beer in giving police cause to search a car than a few crumbs of marijuana, according to the California Supreme Court.

The court's reasoning: You can smoke a joint and drink a beer, but loose marijuana isn't readily consumable.

The high court ruled that police must find marijuana in a condition that's ready to be smoked if they are going to charge a driver with an open container violation.

"We hold that at a minimum, to constitute a violation of (the open container law), marijuana in a vehicle must be of a usable quantity, in imminently usable condition, and readily accessible to an occupant," wrote Associate Justice Goodwin Liu in a unanimous opinion.

Loose marijuana found on a car's floorboards is like spilled beer, the court ruled. "In assessing whether the marijuana is imminently usable or readily accessible, courts should consider whether the marijuana could be consumed with minimal effort by an occupant of the vehicle," the court found.

The ruling reversed a magistrate judge, trial court and the California Court of Appeal, which had all agreed that the loose marijuana constituted an open container violation and gave police cause to search a vehicle.

Recreational marijuana has been legal in California since 2016 when voters passed an initiative allowing it. It remains illegal under federal law.

The case at issue was out of Sacramento, where police officers stopped a car and searched it, finding 0.36 grams of marijuana crumbs on the floorboards of the backseat, along with a tray on which to roll joints. The driver hadn't been driving erratically, her registration and license were unblemished and she had no warrants out.

"No officer suggested he was concerned that (the driver and passenger) could have somehow, while riding in the front of the car, collected the scattered bits of marijuana from the rear floor behind (the passenger) for imminent consumption," the court ruled. "Nor was there evidence of paraphernalia, such as matches, lighters, rolling papers, blunts, or vaporizers, that could facilitate the marijuana's consumption."

The Supreme Court also found that the officers did not have probable cause to search the car in the first place. The police had argued that the driver's nervousness and possession of a rolling tray was sufficient to search the car, an argument the court rejected.

Officials noted that remaining isolated at home throughout infection is vital to prevent community spread.

The last significant measles outbreak occurred as a result of the contagion spreading at Disneyland from December 2014 to April 2015, when about 131 people were infected.

In 2023, there were four confirmed measles cases statewide, and in 2024, there were 15, according to the CDPH.

Home Affordability Trends Up in Riverside County, Statewide

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Housing affordability slightly improved in California in the fourth quarter of 2025, as moderating prices and cooling market competition lowered borrowing costs and allowed more Californians to qualify for mortgages, the California Association of Realtors announced Tuesday.

Eighteen percent of California households could afford to purchase the $869,300 median-priced home in the fourth quarter of 2025, up from 17% in third-quarter 2025 and 16% in fourth-quarter 2024, according to CAR.

Those trends were mirrored in Riverside County, which improved to 24% from 23% in the third quarter, and from 21% in the fourth quarter of 2024. The numbers were identical for the Inland Empire region.

CAR estimated the average monthly home payment including taxes and insurance in Riverside County was $3,880 in the fourth quarter, with a minimum qualifying income of $155,200.

The statewide fourth-quarter 2025 figure is less than a third of the affordability index peak of 56% in the fourth quarter of 2012.

Factors contributing to the decline include the effective interest rate dropping for the third consecutive quarter to its lowest level since third-quarter 2022. The average effective interest rate receded to 6.35% in fourth-quarter 2025 from 6.67% the previous quarter and was 41 basis points below the level 6.76% recorded a year earlier.

Mortgage rates, which oscillated throughout the first six months of 2025 due partly to tariff-induced uncertainty, trended modestly lower in the second half of the year as the Federal Reserve's expected rate cuts kick- started the decline.

The median price of an existing single-family home declined for the second straight quarter in the fourth quarter of 2025, falling 2.2% statewide as market competition cooled, typical for the year-end period.

Analysts said home prices should remain soft for the next couple of months but could rebound as the homebuying season begins in late March/early April.

Compared with California, 39% of the nation's households could afford to purchase a $414,900 median-priced home, which required a minimum annual income of $101,600 to make monthly payments of $2,540, CAR said.

Ex-Deputy Who Stalked Former Fiancee, Harassed Volunteer Sentenced

INDIO (CNS) - An ex-Riverside County sheriff's deputy who perpetrated felony and misdemeanor crimes involving his former fiancee and a female volunteer was sentenced Friday to six years in state prison.

Alexander Ravy Vanny, 35, of Hemet, was convicted in December of stalking, possession of child pornography, unauthorized use of protected electronic data, maliciously destroying a wireless device, witness intimidation, illicit eavesdropping, using a concealed camera to invade privacy, illegal use of a tracking device, interference with a traffic control device and possession of a firearm in violation of a protective order, with a sentence-enhancing allegation of perpetrating a felony while on bail.

The Indio jury assigned the case hung 10-2 in favor of convicting Vanny of kidnapping. Prosecutors initially considered retrying Vanny on that count but ultimately decided against it and allowed sentencing proceedings to move forward before Superior Court James Hawkins at the Larson Justice Center Friday.

Deputy District Attorney Jess Walsh told jurors that Vanny was unquestionably guilty, engaging in criminal conduct before being fired by the sheriff's department.

Alexander Vanny

At the outset of the trial, Walsh recounted the offenses involving the two principal victims, a former sheriff's Explorer scout identified only as "Leslie," and the defendant's one-time fiancee, a mother of two identified only as "Madeline."

In the latter case, Vanny became obsessive, unable to cope with their split in the summer of 2024.

After she went out on a date, the then-lawman secretly followed her and the man, whose identity wasn't disclosed, waiting until they were inside her Menifee residence, then setting up an audio device outside the bedroom window to record the sounds of her and the other man engaging in sex. After waiting a moment or two, Vanny forced his way into the apartment and challenged the man to a fight, according to the prosecution.

Court papers said when Madeline attempted to use her mobile phone to call 911, the defendant damaged it.

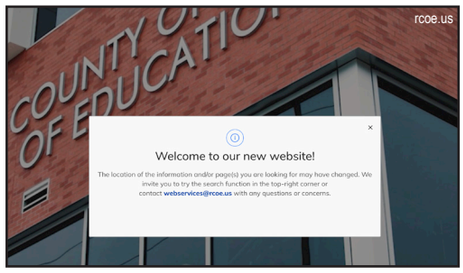

Among the most serious allegations was Vanny's following Madeline to Chappies Bar in Hemet and demanding that she "leave and come home with him," the prosecution said. When the woman rejected him, Vanny "forcibly threw her into his truck," according to court documents.

"The defendant then drove her, without her consent, to his home ... some 17 miles and 30 minutes," the prosecution stated.

New Office of Education Web Portal Offers Easier Access to Resources

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - A Riverside County web portal designed to provide enhanced access to resources for public education students and their parents and guardians went live Monday.

The Office of Education's revamped website at www.rcoe.us provides various options for users seeking details on a range of topics, including career development, online tutorials for learning about new technology, child daycare, scholarship opportunities and related subjects.

"Clear and convenient access to information is essential to providing excellent customer service and meeting the needs of our community in the digital age," county Superintendent of Schools Edwin Gomez said. "The new site reflects (the office's) strong focus on the user experience through engaging visuals, clear graphics and videos that highlight the excellence our team brings to everything we do."

According to the agency, the updated web portal, created through a partnership with digital services developer GovStack, is now a repository for "more than 1,600 pages of fresh content and graphics."

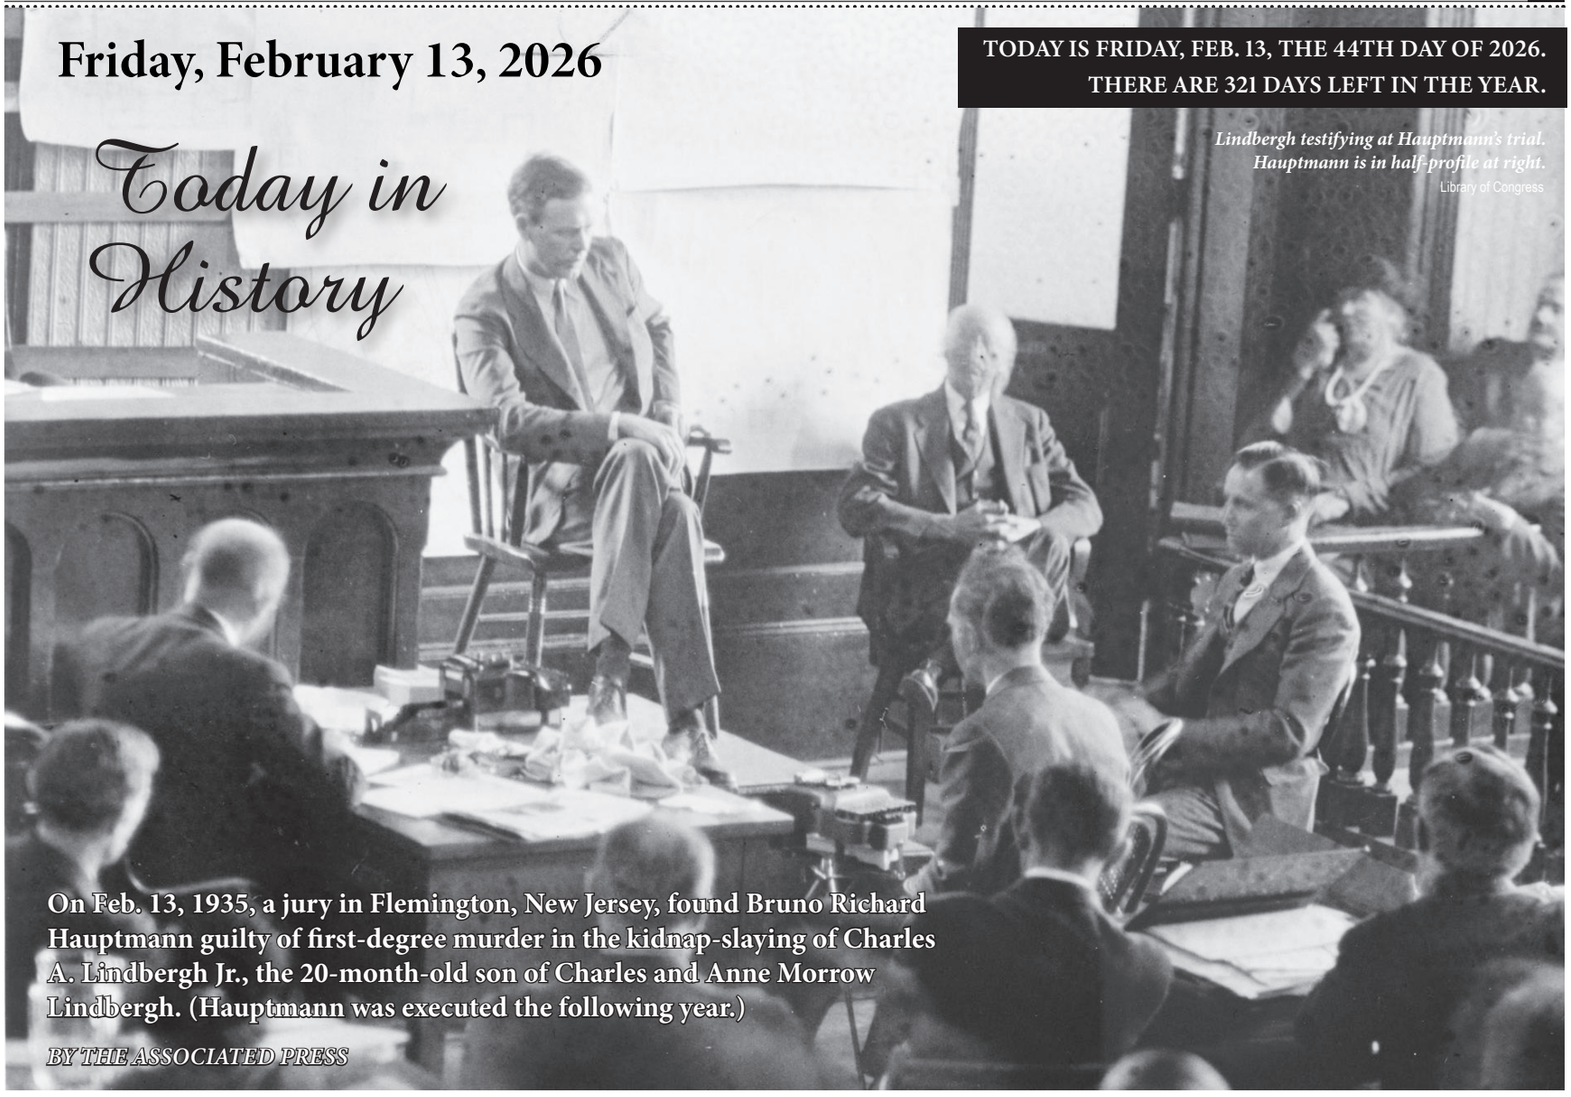

The home page interface features a new menu with prominent displays of click-to navigational options and a broader search field, officials said.

Anyone with questions or experiencing challenges with the site was encouraged to contact the Office of Education's help team via email at webservices@rcoe.us.

picture, describing his client as the gallant type, rushing to "save" Madeline from drinking and driving after the two of them had a spat.

She filed a restraining order against him, but in defiance of that order, Vanny continued to carry around his personal firearm.

Walsh said the deputy stuck "tracking devices" onto her car so he could monitor her travels at all times.

The defendant became sexually involved with 18-year-old Leslie, who looked upon him as a mentor, regularly exchanging texts with him, according to the prosecution.

Vanny procured video images of two teenagers engaging in sexual activity during a visit to an Orange County theme park and kept the matter, which was part of an investigation, on his personal mobile phone, intending to share it with Leslie, Walsh said.

He said detectives documented the laundry list of offenses perpetrated by the defendant, including threats against Madeline, whom he tried to intimidate by telling her, "If you call the police, you go to jail."

Swanson acknowledged his client "started a stupid relationship with the cadet, who was an adult," while engaged to marry Madeline. The two were living together at the time, and the cheating led to their breakup.

Despite the separation, the attorney told the jury his client continued to pay some of his ex-fiancee's expenses, including rent for her apartment.

Vanny was first arrested on June 22, 2024, and booked into the Banning jail but posted a $1 million bond and was released. He was placed on paid administrative leave, but within a few months, he was fired from the department.

While on bail, Vanny was separately charged with a slate of new offenses. He had been a sworn peace officer since he was hired by the sheriff's department in 2016.

County Maintains Fee Waivers to Encourage Pet Adoptions

Dakota, a neutered 2 year old Pit Bull Terrier Mix, available for adoption at the Riverside Shelter
RCDAS

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - To reduce the ongoing strain on shelters, the Riverside County Department of Animal Services announced Wednesday that fee waivers on pet adoptions will continue countywide.

A moratorium on adoption fees was implemented last fall and has remained in effect as the county's four shelters continue to operate over capacity.

Officials have initiated other strategies to free up space, sending out requests for nonprofit organizations to transport the county's impounded canines and felines to other places across the country for adoption campaigns. On Tuesday, Wings of Rescue flew 24 dogs and a cat previously in local shelters to Seattle, Washington, for placement in the City Animal Shelter.

"This flight was important because a majority of the dogs were larger breeds, which typically stay the longest amount of time in our shelters, sometimes over hundreds of days," Department of Animal Services spokeswoman Daylin Valencia said.

The current waiver of fees at the county's shelters means no charge for spay/neuter surgeries, vaccinations, microchips and engraved collars. Only state-mandated dog license fees are required. They generally run $25 for altered pets.

"With fee-waived adoptions, now is a great time to add a loving companion to your life," county Supervisor Yxstian Gutierrez said.

There are more than 1,000 canines and about 100 cats available for adoption.

In May, the board approved a "no kill" policy, resolving that the county will make it an objective to preserve the lives of a minimum of 90% of all cats and dogs impounded at the county's shelters.

The policy entails greater emphasis on free or low-cost spay/neuter clinics, enhanced "return-to-owner" programs that unite lost pets with their loved ones, adoption campaigns with full fee waivers, expedited "trap-neuter- return-to-field" programs that were inaugurated in March 2024 and pet fostering.

The latter provides opportunities for Inland Empire residents to take a dog or cat home for set or open periods, without the obligation to adopt. Fostered pets receive free veterinary care from the county and can be returned to a shelter anytime.

The no-kill effort dovetails with a reformation initiated by the board after one organization alleged that the county had the highest kill rate in the nation.

In 2024, the board hired Austin, Texas-based Outcomes for Pets LLC Principal Adviser Kristen Hassen to rectify problems within the agency, and last February the supervisors approved the Executive Office's selection of Mary Martin to head the department following a nationwide executive recruitment drive.

Information about shelters' hours of operation and adoption or fostering opportunities can be found at rcdas.org.

Backyard Vegetable Gardens Are Healthy for People and the Planet.

Here's How to Start Yours

By CALEIGH WELLS Associated Press

If you want healthy food, experts say to eat what's local, organic and in-season. Those foods benefit the planet too, because they are less taxing on the soil and they don't travel as far.

It doesn't get more local, organic and in-season than a backyard vegetable garden.

At this time of year, many backyards across the country are still covered in snow. But it's the perfect time to start planning for a garden because you'll want to have supplies ready to start planting just after the last frost date in your area.

Below are some tips on how to plan a backyard garden and reasons why you should do it.

Homegrown vegetables have fewer emissions

Vegetable gardens benefit the surrounding ecosystem by adding diverse plant life, especially where they replace grass or cover a deck or patio. They also can provide flowering plants for pollinators.

The plants capture and store carbon in the soil, promote healthy soil by preventing compaction and can make the air cooler on rooftops and patios, according to Ellen Comeau, who chairs the advisory council for the Cuyahoga County Master Gardener Volunteers with the Ohio State University Extension program.

Homegrown vegetables and fruits are responsible for fewer emissions than their store-bought counterparts because grocery store produce typically travels long distances on trucks.

"There's this whole idea of a zero-kilometer meal, that I don't have to travel anywhere, except my backyard, to make food. That certainly helps the climate," said Carol Connare, editor of The Old Farmer's Almanac.

Gardening has health benefits

The health benefits from gardening are multifaceted, "social, emotional, nutritional, physical," said Katherine Alaimo, an associate professor of food science and human nutrition at Michigan State University.

Gardening promotes physical health because it requires a lot of movement. The food is typically picked at the height of ripeness and eaten fresh so it tends to have more nutrients than grocery store produce.

Alaimo said most gardeners don't use pesticides and grow their food organically. And of course, when you grow more produce, you eat more produce.

"That's going to reinforce people eating more fruits and vegetables even in the off season when they're not growing food. So they try new foods, they potentially increase creativity and their cooking skills," she said.

Alaimo said gardening also connects people with nature, provides a sense of responsibility and accomplishment and encourages sharing harvests with friends. All of that can contribute to reduced stress, lower blood pressure and higher energy, she said.

Picking the right spot and budgeting

Sunlight is the biggest factor in choosing where to put your garden. Most produce wants at least six hours of sunlight per day. If sunny spots are few, save them for fruiting plants because leafy greens can tolerate more shade.

It also helps to have a nearby water source because you'll get more food for less effort if you're not lugging buckets of water a long way.

If you're growing in the ground, Comeau said to start with a soil test to determine its acidity and nutrient make-up. Soil samples, once bagged or boxed, can typically be sent to a cooperative extension office at a university. The Old Farmer's Almanac offers a list of extension offices by state. The results will give you an idea of what to grow and whether you need fertilizer or other amendments.

If you have barren soil or a concrete patio, you can buy or build raised beds with purchased soil. Connare said raised beds have advantages such as controlling the soil, but the disadvantages include the cost and the likelihood of compacting soil and eventually needing to replace it.

After finding the right spot, Comeau said the next step is figuring out how much you have to spend. That determines how big the garden is, whether you sow seeds or buy baby plants known as starts and how many supplies you can afford.

Another major investment: fencing for pests. That means digging fences into the soil to stop burrowing animals like groundhogs, making them tall to deter deer or installing netting for climbing critters.

Choosing what to grow and when to start

What you can grow depends on what falls into your region's plant hardiness zone. Californians can grow olives more easily than Ohioans, for example.

Connare recommends finding out what plants are working for your neighbors.

"They might be able to tell you, 'I can't grow a Cherokee tomato here to save my life, but these tie-dye ones do great,'" she said.

How to Create a Calming 'Nature Nook' With Indoor Plants. Advice From Hilton Carter

By JESSICA DAMIANO
Associated Press

Have you dreamed of creating a calm and cozy spot at home to relax and recharge, but don't think you can spare the space?

You don't need a "man cave," "she shed" or even a whole room to retreat to. Just one corner will do.

One corner, warm lighting, a cozy chair and some plants, says interior and plant stylist Hilton Carter, who specializes in "nature nooks" — tiny wellness sanctuaries that calm the mind, body and spirit.

Carter has hosted plant-forward specials for HBO and PBS, launched a plant and accessories line with Target and authored six books (his most recent is "Unfurled: Designing a Living Home.")

Nature nooks, he says, improve a home emotionally as well as aesthetically.

Carter, 46, found himself leaning toward plants a decade ago. "I was feeling overwhelmed by the hustle and grind working as a freelance filmmaker in Los Angeles when a project took me to Glen Mills, Pennsylvania," he said.

There, he popped into a garden-themed café.

"I was all knotted up, and I walked in there and felt a change. It felt like a vacation," he said.

Not long after, Carter moved to New Orleans and bought a fiddle-leaf fig tree he named Frank. "I was at a crossroads in life, which all of us face, and I faced it with this plant," he said, adding that he made a vow to love it and keep it alive. "Everything I've accomplished since then was all due to that moment."

A nature nook doesn't need a lot of plants

Today, Carter, who lives in Baltimore with his wife and two children, has roughly 150 plants at home and another 200 or so in his studio, including Frank, now 14 feet tall. But creating a nature nook with as few as five plants can reap emotional benefits, he said.

Before buying any plants, choose your site, Carter said.

"There is no minimum or maximum size" for a nature-nook corner, he says. The important thing is "how lush you decide to make it."

Next, assess lighting. "If one side of the corner has a nice-size window and it gets southern-facing light for eight hours of the day, there are particular plants that you could go wild with that could thrive in that light," Carter said.

"But let's say you have a north-facing window on one wall and it's a standard-size window. You probably will want to bring in artificial light."

Don't get just any grow lights, though.

"Find those companies that make beautiful grow bulbs. Some have two-color tones, some (replicate) daylight and others make warmer lights" that make the space inviting but still help plants thrive, Carter said.

If relying on natural light, consider the seasons. "It may be brighter in the winter because all the leaves on the trees are gone, but in summer that's a whole different situation."

Assess your light and bring that information to a plant shop for guidance.

A comfortable place to sit

Bring in "some sort of accent chair facing whatever direction is going to provide you with joy: facing out the window, where the joy is having that sun caress your face, or facing in if you're reading," Carter said.

Select plants realistically.

"Be self-aware about your ability to care for plants," Carter said. Your nook might start out looking lush and beautiful, but if you don't take the time to care for the plants, it will look terrible and uninviting within weeks.

Personalize your nature nook

When creating nature nooks for clients, Carter asks them about their favorite vacations or where they spent honeymoons or anniversaries, because bringing in plants from those places can trigger happy memories.

"Think about your happy place," Carter advised. "Get a sense of what you want to replicate and where you want to be transported to."

Ribbon Garlands for Your Next Valentines Day Get-Together

By MIA ROTELL

Valentine's Day is here, which means from living rooms to classrooms, and even college dorms, Valentine's Day decorations are everywhere. But what if this time we step away from the hearts and into something that feels a little more personable? Ribbon chain garlands are a very cute, simple way to add your own cozy touch to whatever area you're decorating.

Just pick out your favorite ribbon and get to stapling —no glue required!

What you need:

- Ribbon (at least three different types)
- Scissors
- A measuring tape or ruler
- A stapler (with staples)

How to make it:

Step 1: Before unsealing the ribbon, arrange the ribbon rolls in the order you'd like them to be in for the garland.

Step 2: Unseal and unroll one roll of ribbon.

Step 3: Measure the rolled-out ribbon. Thick ribbon needs to be a little longer — in the picture, the ribbon is 10 inches long before being linked.

Step 4: Cut the desired length.

Step 5: Connect the ends of the ribbon together and overlap them by about half an inch — make sure it's straight!

Step 6: Shimmy the overlapping ribbon inside the stapler. Make sure the stapler is as horizontal as it can be without misaligning the ribbon — then staple!

Step 7: Repeat steps three through five with the second ribbon. Before stapling, pull the ribbon through the middle opening of the previously stapled ribbon. Overlap the second ribbon, then staple!

Step 8: Repeat steps three through seven until the desired length and look is achieved!

BIRRIA WINGS

By CONNOR FORBES

March Madness, or as the winter heats up, backyard barbecues, are perfect for finger foods. You likely aren't sitting down together for a meal. You are standing around the TV, watching kids play in the yard, or chatting with Bob about his latest car renovation while staring at an old engine block. Well, those times call for wings. Easy to eat, good for licking fingers, and ever so portable. These wings combine one of my favorite flavor profiles and give a different meaning to hot wings. Let's cook!

THE SEASONING

- 2 guajillo chilis
- 3 chili negro
- 10 morita chilis
- 1 inch cinnamon stick

THE CHICKEN

- 6-7 chicken wings
- 1 teaspoon Lawry's Salt

To Make

Blend the chilis and cinnamon stick in a food processor or blender until it is a powder. Dowse the chicken wings in the birria seasoning and then add the salt. Mix thoroughly so that the chicken is coated evenly. Let marinate for an hour at room temperature. Preheat the grill to as hot as you can get it. Place chicken on the grill at the hottest temperature and cook for about 5 minutes before flipping. Cook for another 5 minutes. If you don't have a meat thermometer look for the juices to run clear when poking the chicken. If the juice is still pink, the chicken is not fully cooked yet. If you have a thermometer, you are looking for 165 degrees or hotter internal temperature. Let cool for 5 minutes and EAT!

IS IT CHILI? IS IT MAC AND CHEESE? This Slow Cooker Recipe Combines the Best of Both

By BRITTANY MULLINS
Voracious

When a friend mentioned that she serves chili over noodles, I was intrigued. We always serve our chili straight up with cornbread or tortilla chips on the side, but I had to try this new way, and the results were what inspired this chili mac from my cookbook "Mostly Veggies."

Is it chili? Is it mac and cheese? It's the best of both worlds, and it's surprisingly healthy and packed with veggies!

I love my slow cooker! It's so convenient to throw ingredients in the slow cooker in the morning and have a delicious, healthy meal ready to eat at the end of the day. You are more than welcome to cook dried beans from scratch, but that usually involves soaking and long cook times. For that reason, I'm a big fan of using canned beans for easy meals.

SLOW COOKER CHILI MAC

Servings: 6

Ingredients

1 medium yellow onion, chopped

2 cloves garlic, minced

1 red or orange bell pepper, seeded and chopped

1 (15-ounce) can pinto beans, drained and rinsed

1 (15-ounce) red kidney beans, drained and rinsed

1 cup frozen sweet corn kernels

1 (28-ounce) can diced tomatoes

2 cups vegetable broth

2 tablespoons chili powder

1 teaspoon ground cumin

1 teaspoon dried oregano

½ teaspoon fine sea salt

¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

1 (8-ounce) box chickpea elbow pasta noodles

1 cup shredded cheddar cheese, plus more for serving (plant-based, if needed)

Sliced green onions, for garnish

Directions

1. Add the onion, garlic, bell pepper, beans, corn, tomatoes and their juices, broth, and seasonings to a slow cooker. Stir to combine. Cover and cook on high for 3 to 4 hours or on low for 6 to 8 hours.

2. Add the pasta, cover, and continue cooking on low for 20 minutes, until the pasta is cooked through. Add the cheese and stir to combine.

3. Serve immediately. Evenly divide the chili mac into six bowls, top with more cheese and green onions. Or, to meal prep, evenly divide the chili mac into six meal prep containers. Store in the refrigerator for up to five days or in the freezer for up to three months. When ready to serve, reheat the chili mac in a saucepan over medium heat until warm throughout, 5 to 10 minutes, or in the microwave for 1 to 2 minutes. Serve topped with more cheese and green onions.

"GOAT"

– Special Advance Review

By BOB GARVER

On the weekend of the biggest football game of the year, it was only natural that I saw a movie about basketball. Or rather "Roarball," as the anthropomorphic animal characters call it – but it's basketball.

When he was just a kid (pun intended), young goat Will (Caleb McLaughlin) went to Roarball games to root for his hometown Vineland Thorns and cheer on his favorite player: panther Jett Fillmore (Gabrielle Union). Will's mother (Jennifer Hudson) encouraged him to dream big, and he dreamed to be as big a Roarball player as Jett. Ten years later, Will is a struggling delivery boy, his mother has passed, Jett has never won the league's championship, and the Thorns' warthog owner (Jenifer Lewis) is too busy with mud baths to make any effort to improve the roster.

Will can't make a career for himself because he's too obsessed with Roarball. And he can't get ahead in Roarball because he's too small. Actually, he's more of a "medium" in a world that includes rodents and such, but every high-profile player is bigger than him, so he's considered "small." He answers an open challenge for a one-on-one game to three points laid out by visiting superstar Mane Attraction (Aaron Pierre), and the horse beats him 3-2, but everyone in Vineland is impressed that he was able to score two points Yes, his star rises because a heavily-memed video of his performance "goes viral." Against the wishes of Jett, who wants a proper teammate for what will likely be her final season, he's signed to the Thorns.

Teammates on the Thorns include paternal pachyderm Archie (David Harbour), aging giraffe Lenny (Stephen Curry), self-doubting ostrich Olivia (Nicola Coughlin), and out-of-his-mind Komodo Dragon Modo (Nick Kroll), as well as put-upon monkey coach Dennis (Patton Oswalt). It's not hard to see why the team is in last place, with all the neuroses in play, compounded by Jett's constant frustration. At this rate the team will be out of contention before Will can even come off the bench.

Despite a rocky start, Will soon proves himself useful, able to slip between large, lumbering players and make long-shots from far-off places on the court. Aside from his playing, his optimism is infectious, both with the fans, who drive up ticket sales, and his teammates, who start playing better with his inspiration. Even sour (literal) puss Jett has some of her best days in years around him. Then there's an ugly chapter where business gets in the way and egos affect morale (every sports movie has one) and the team basically breaks up, but of course everybody rallies and puts in their best efforts for the big final game against Mane Attraction's team.

So the story isn't going to redefine any (figurative, this time) playbooks. So the humor can be obnoxious at times with all the self-aggrandizing characters. So it's obvious that the movie was written around the lazy premise of an athlete wanting to be the Greatest Of All Time… and he's an actual goat. The movie is still a delight at a time when delightful movies are in short supply. Its biggest strength is its rapid-fire gag delivery, even if a joke misses, you can be as sure as there's at least one played out screaming goat gag in this movie that there's another one right around the corner. "GOAT" isn't what I would call a "great" animated offering, but it's not ba-a-a-a-a-ad.

Apologies.

Grade: B-

"GOAT" is rated PG for some rude humor and brief mild language. Its running time is 100 minutes.

'Send Help' Keeps Box Office Lead with $10 Million

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - The survival thriller "Send Help" grossed another $10 million to lead all films in North America in a slow weekend at the box office, according to industry estimates released Sunday.

Director Sam Raimi's film, which stars Rachel McAdams and Dylan O'Brien and opened in first place last weekend, beat out the romantic comedy "Solo Mio," starring Kevin James, which opened with $7.2 million, Comscore reported.

"Iron Lung" was third with $6 million Friday through Sunday in its second weekend.

Fourth place went to the K-pop documentary "Stray Kids: The Dominate Experience," which opened with $5.5 million.

Director Luc Besson's "Dracula," starring Caleb Landry Jones, opened in fifth place with $4.5 million.

"Zootopia 2" continued its lengthy and impressive run, grossing another $4 million in its 11th weekend in theaters for a cumulative domestic total of over $414 million.

Rounding out the top 10 releases were "Avatar: Fire and Ash" ($3.5 million), "The Strangers - Chapter 3" ($3.5 million), "Shelter" ($2.4 million) and "Melania" ($2.3 million).

This weekend's overall three-day box office haul was estimated at $61.68 million. The year-to-date total is $748.8 million -- up 10% from the figure at this time last year, according to Comscore.

Here's When You'll Get Your Tax Refund From the IRS

By CORA LEWIS
Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Tax filing season is underway, and the IRS expects 164 million people will file returns by April 15.

The average refund last year was $3,167. This year, analysts have projected it could be $1,000 higher, thanks to changes in tax law. More than 165 million individual income tax returns were processed last year, with 94% submitted electronically.

People with straightforward returns should not encounter delays, but because of an exodus of IRS workers since the start of the Trump administration, the national taxpayer advocate has cautioned that the 2026 tax filing season is likely to present challenges for those who run into problems filing.

While last year IRS employees were not permitted to accept a buyout offer from the Trump administration until after the taxpayer filing deadline, many of those customer service workers have now left. The IRS started 2025 with about 102,000 employees and finished with roughly 74,000 after a series of firings and layoffs led by the Department of Government Efficiency.

Here's what to know:

When refunds will go out

If you file electronically, the IRS says it should take 21 days or less to receive your refund. If you choose direct deposit, it should take even less time. If you file a paper return, the refund could take four weeks or more, and if your return requires amendments or corrections, it could take longer.

The IRS cautions that taxpayers not rely on receiving a refund by a certain date, especially when making major purchases or paying bills.

How to check the status of your refund

Taxpayers can use the online tool Where's My Refund? to check the status of their refund within 24 hours of e-filing and generally within four weeks of filing a paper return. The "Where's My Refund?" tool will also provide projected deposit dates for most early EITC/ACTC refund filers by Feb. 21, according to the IRS.

Information related to this tool is updated once daily, overnight. To access the status of your refund, you'll need:

— Your Social Security or individual taxpayer ID number (ITIN)

Taxpayers can also consult the IRS2Go app, or their IRS Individual Online Account, to check their refund status.

How tax refunds work

If you paid more through the year than you owe in tax, due to withholding or other reasons, you should get money back. Even if you didn't pay excess tax, you may still get a refund if you qualify for a refundable credit, like the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) or Child Tax Credit. To get your refund, you must file a return, and you have three years to claim a tax refund.

Who qualifies for the Earned Income Tax Credit

To qualify for the EITC, you must have under $11,950 in investment income and earn less than a specific income level from working.

If you're single with no children, your income level must be $19,104 or below. And if you're married filing jointly with three or more children, you must make $68,675 or below. To determine if your household qualifies based on your marital status and your number of dependents you can use the online EITC Assistant tool.

Who qualifies for the Child Tax Credit and Additional Child Tax Credit

If you have a child, you are most likely eligible for the Child Tax Credit. The credit is up to $2,200 per qualifying child. To qualify, a child must:

— Have a Social Security number

— Be under age 17 at the end of 2025

— Be your son, daughter, stepchild, eligible foster child, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, half-brother, half-sister, or a descendant of one of these (for example, a grandchild, niece or nephew)

— Not provide more than half of his or her own support for the tax year

— Have lived with you for more than half the tax year

— Be claimed as a dependent on your tax return

— Not file a joint return for the year (or filed the joint return only to claim a refund of taxes withheld or estimated taxes)

— Be a U.S. citizen, U.S. national or a U.S. resident alien

You qualify for the full amount of the Child Tax Credit for each qualifying child if you meet all eligibility factors and your annual income is not more than $200,000 ($400,000 if filing a joint return).

You qualify for the Additional Child Tax Credit if ($1,700 per qualifying child) if you meet these factors and have little or no federal income tax liability. You must have earned income of at least $2,500 to be eligible for the ACTC.

When the tax credits will become available

The IRS expects most refunds for the Earned Income Tax Credit, the Child Tax Credit and the Additional Child Tax Credit to be available in bank accounts or on debit cards by March 2 for taxpayers who choose direct deposit. Some taxpayers may receive their refund earlier, depending on their financial institution.

What's different this year

This year, most taxpayers must provide their routing and account numbers to receive refunds directly deposited into their bank accounts. That's because the IRS began phasing out paper tax refund checks on Sept. 30 in accordance with an executive order.

Nature Nook

A nature nook is an "escape from the chaos of the world," he said.

When choosing plants, consider their foliage and how they look together. The glossiness of a burgundy Ficus elastica next to a Monstera 'Thai Constellation,' for instance, is striking, he says.

"But if you met your wife in the Pacific Northwest and you're looking to create a look that's similar to that, you're going to get your more shaded plants -- ferns, Norfolk pines, things that refer back to that space," he said.

And don't overlook pots. A beautiful terracotta planter that fits the space's vibe will evoke emotion and set the mood of the nook.

Some practical concerns

Consider how tall plants will grow, and how high the ceilings and windows are.

Carter also advises being mindful of the type of flooring. "Use planters that will protect the floor" in case water drains out.

Toxicity is another important matter. "Do you have pets? Do you have kids? What kinds of plants will thrive and keep them safe?" he said.

Enjoying your nook

Once your nature nook is in place, create a routine. Maybe drink your morning coffee there or read there in the evenings. Using the space regularly can be transformative, Carter said.

"I'm much more patient, more kind, considerate and I'm a better listener because of plants," he said. "I think I'm entirely a more loving individual than before."

Garden

Once you've narrowed down what can grow, pick what appeals to you. Kevin Espiritu, founder of Epic Gardening, said he used to advise people to focus on what grows the fastest and easiest, but now he also emphasizes choosing what you like to eat.

Connare also recommends adding flowers to attract pollinators. Local garden centers are good sources of knowledge about what native plants will attract beneficial insects.

Espiritu said to figure out the last frost date in your area and plan around that. Many fruits and vegetables are best planted after the frost threat has passed, but some can go in earlier. Cool-season crops like leafy vegetables can tolerate slightly colder temperatures. Seeds can get started indoors weeks before the last frost date.

Comeau said seed packet labels often provide instructions.

"The label will tell you when you can start it and when it can go into the ground. Some obviously go right into the ground and some can be started ahead of time," she said.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF Dennis S. Okano
Case No. PRRI2503016
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Dennis S. Okano.
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Michael Okano in the Superior Court of California, County of Riverside.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Michael Okano be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held on 3/12/2026 at 8:30am in Department 12 located at 4050 Main St, Riverside, CA 92501.
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

T.S. No.: 24-11266 Loan No.: 3126
APN: 116-290-026 NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED 10/19/2022. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER.
A public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state will be held by the duly appointed trustee as shown below, of all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to a Deed of Trust described below. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, expressed or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale.
Trustor: ROBERTO MAS AND BEATRIZ MAS, HUSBAND AND WIFE AS JOINT TENANTS
Duly Appointed Trustee: Prestige Default Services, LLC
Recorded 10/24/2022 as Instrument No. 2022-0440460 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of Riverside County, California,
Date of Sale: 3/3/2026 at 9:00 AM
Place of Sale: At the front entrance of the former Corona Police Department at 849 W. Sixth Street, Corona, CA 92882
Amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $1,379,030.31
Street Address or other common designation of real property: 976 RANDALL RANCH ROAD
CORONA, CALIFORNIA 92881
A.P.N.: 116-290-026 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale.
NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. All checks payable to Prestige Default Services, LLC.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (949) 776-4697 or visit this Internet Website https://prestigepostandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 24-11266. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.
NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (949) 776-4697, or visit this internet website https://prestigepostandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 24-11266 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF Frank Felix
Case No. PRRI2600222

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Frank Felix.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Roy C. Aparicio in the Superior Court of California, County of Riverside.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Roy C. Aparicio be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 3/13/2026 at 8:30am in Department 8 located at 4050 Main St, Riverside, CA 92501.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

PUBLIC NOTICE

This is a public notice that the City of Corona's Planning and Housing Commission will conduct a public hearing in the City Council Chambers at 400 S. Vicentia Ave., on Monday, February 23, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. or thereafter upon the following:

ARC2024-0001: Architectural Review for a 3,560 square foot outpatient surgery medical building on 0.32 acres located at 428 W. Grand Blvd. (APN: 117-340-019) in the Community Services District of the Downtown Revitalization Specific Plan.

V2024-0001: Variance from Corona Municipal Code § 17.86.020(C) to allow parking for a proposed 3,560-squarefoot outpatient surgery medical building (ARC2024-0001) to be located between the Grand Boulevard rightofway line and the building.

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) – The project qualifies as a Class 32 (Infill Development Projects) categorical exemption per Section 15332 of the State Guidelines for Implementing the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). The project consists of the construction of a 3,560-squarefoot outpatient surgery medical building on a parcel that is less than five acres surrounded by urban uses. The proposed use is consistent with the General Plan and Zoning, and implementation of the project would not result in any significant traffic, noise, air quality, or water quality impacts. Moreover, none of the exceptions to the Categorical Exemptions listed under Section 15300.2 of the CEQA State Guidelines apply, as the project will not result in a significant cumulative impact of successive projects of the same type in the same place over time or have a significant effect on the environment due to unusual circumstances, or damage a scenic highway or scenic resources within a state scenic highway. The site is not located on a hazardous waste site and will not cause a substantial adverse change in the significance of a historical resource.

(Applicant: Shar Alikhani, M.D. for MobiSurg Inc.)

This is a public hearing, and you are invited to attend and comment on the applications described above. If you challenge any portion of this project in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered at, or prior to, the public hearing. If you have written comments that you wish to be included in the staff report, please deliver them to the Planning and Housing Commission Secretary, on or before the Wednesday prior to the meeting. If you have questions about this notice or the application to be heard, please call Rocio Lopez, Senior Planner in the Planning and Development Department at (951) 736-2262 or via email at rocio.lopez@coronaca.gov.
