

HISTORIC MONUMENT RECOGNIZING NATIVE AMERICAN SERVICE MEMBERS UNVEILED

RIVERSIDE - The first-of-its-kind monument recognizing the contributions of Native American military service members throughout history was officially dedicated Saturday at Riverside National Cemetery, in a ceremony involving representatives from several tribes.

"The American Indian Veterans Memorial is a long-awaited and overdue tribute to Native veterans who have served and sacrificed for this country," according to a statement from the American Indian-Alaska Native Veterans Committee. "American Indians and Alaska Natives are estimated to serve in the United States Armed Forces at five times the national average and have fought with distinction in every major conflict for more than 200 years."

The monument features a Native American man draped in the Stars & Stripes, holding a commemorative medallion, bearing a few other distinctive features. According to the committee, of the 155 national cemeteries established nationwide, the only one now hosting a monument specifically recognizing Native Americans is Riverside National Cemetery.

It was funded by private individual contributions, nonprofits and donations from various tribes. The total cost of the monument wasn't specified, but the committee confirmed the effort to erect it had been underway since 2006.

Before his death last year, the committee's chairman, Bo Mazzetti, said sacrifices of American Indians in wartime and the high percentage who join the U.S. military to this day merited special recognition.

"The Indian people, whatever the differences in geography, languages, spiritual or cultural practices, there is one common value, and that is to protect one's home and people," Mazzetti said in 2025. "The warrior spirit is bred into Indians, and warriors are highly honored and respected. That's why we feel strongly that our veterans deserve ... a memorial to stand with the other sacred monuments dedicated to the heroes who have served our country."

Saturday's service featured bird singing and traditional dances to pay homage to fallen warriors.

States Across the Wildfire-Prone Western US Are Using AI for Early Detection

By DORANY PINEDA and BRITTANY PETERSON Associated Press

On a March afternoon, artificial intelligence detected something resembling smoke on a camera feed from Arizona's Coconino National Forest. Human analysts verified it wasn't a cloud or dust, then alerted the state's forest service and largest electric utility.

One of dozens of AI cameras installed for the utility Arizona Public Service had spotted early signs of what came to be known as the Diamond Fire. Firefighters raced to the scene and contained the blaze before it grew past 7 acres (2.8 hectares).

As record-breaking heat and an abysmal snowpack raise concerns about severe wildfires, states across the fire-prone West are adding AI to their wildfire detection toolbox, banking on the technology to help save lives and property.

Arizona Public Service has nearly 40 active AI smoke-detection cameras and plans to have 71 by summer's end, and the state's fire agency has deployed seven of its own. Another utility, Xcel Energy in Colorado, has installed 126 and aims to have cameras in seven of the eight states it serves by year's end.

"Earlier detection means we can launch aircraft and personnel to it and keep those fires as small as we can," said John Truett, fire management officer for the Arizona Department of Forestry and Fire Management.

Supes Bump Funding for Cal Fire Helicopter Water Station in Eastvale

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - The Board of Supervisors Tuesday authorized the Riverside County Flood Control & Water Conservation District to increase funding by almost 50% to construct so-called "heli-hydrants" for Cal Fire water-dropping helicopters in Eastvale and Jurupa Valley.

In a 4-0 vote without comment -- during which Supervisor Yxstian Gutierrez was absent -- on Tuesday, the board signed off on the district's plan to augment outlays for the "Heli-Hydrant Fire Protection System Phase 2 Project" from $513,000 to a total $754,000.

AI Wildfire

Human intervention keeps the risk of false positives low and trains the technology to become more accurate, said Neal Driscoll, geology and geophysics professor at the University of California, San Diego, and founder of ALERTCalifornia.

"The AI that's being run on the cameras is actually beating 911 calls," he said.

In Arizona, California and beyond, the technology is mostly used in high-risk areas that are sparsely populated, rural or remote, where a blaze might not be quickly spotted by human eyes.

"It's just the ones where we won't get a 911 call for a long time, it is extremely helpful to have that AI always monitoring that camera," said Brent Pascua, battalion chief for the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection, or Cal Fire. "In many cases, we've started a response before 911 was even called, and in a few cases, we've actually started a response, went there, put the fire out, and never received a 911 call."

A technology driven by worsening blazes

Pano AI, whose technology combines high-definition camera feeds, satellite data and AI monitoring, has seen a growing interest in its cameras since launching in 2020. They've been deployed in Australia, Canada and 17 U.S. states, including Oregon, Washington and Texas. Its customers include forestry operations, government agencies and utilities, including Arizona Public Service.

Last year, its technology detected 725 wildfires in the U.S., the company said.

"In many of these situations, we hear from stakeholders that the visual intelligence, the time, really, really gives them a head start and some of these could have taken off into hundreds if not thousands of acres," said Arvind Satyam, the company's co-founder and chief commercial officer.

Cindy Kobold, an Arizona Public Service meteorologist, said the technology notifies them about 45 minutes faster on average than the first 911 call.

Satyam said development of the technology was driven by the lack of hardened solutions to combat worsening wildfires. Climate change — caused by burning oil, gas and coal — is warming the planet and fueling dry conditions that supercharge infernos, making them burn hotter, faster and more frequently. The technology helps firefighters to safely and effectively respond while protecting communities and infrastructure, he said.

Challenges and limitations

One of the biggest obstacles to implementation is the price tag; Pano AI, for instance, charges around $50,000 annually per camera. The cost also includes fire risk analysis and 24/7 intelligence center.

False alarms present a challenge, which can be costly in terms of time and attention, said Patrick Roberts, a senior researcher with the nonprofit research group RAND who recently finished a project on accelerating innovation in wildfire management.

And when the AI accurately detects a fire, it doesn't tell stakeholders the best course of action.

"Do you send help right away? Do you monitor? Should you worry about it? Where do you send help? Do you think about evacuation? All this still requires people and decision support systems," said Roberts.

In highly populated areas, people tend to spot and call in fires pretty quickly, and the tech is not so useful when extreme weather events, such as hurricane-force winds, intensify and rapidly shift the flames, as happened in Los

County Firefighter Charged with Sexually Assaulting Three Women

MURRIETA (CNS) - A crimes.

51-year-old Riverside County firefighter accused of sexually assaulting three women -- including while he was on duty in Temecula -- was charged today with a dozen felony and misdemeanor offenses, including forcible rape and kidnapping to commit rape.

David Renteria III of Placentia was originally arrested last month following a Riverside County Sheriff's Department investigation initiated in the fall.

Renteria is charged with four counts of forcible rape, two counts of sodomy and one count each of kidnapping to commit rape, forcible oral copulation, assault with intent to commit rape, false imprisonment, sexual battery and indecent exposure, with sentence-enhancing allegations of targeting multiple individuals in sex

The defendant, who is being held in lieu of $5 million bail at the Byrd Detention Center, was slated to make his initial court appearance Wednesday afternoon at the Southwest Justice Center in Murrieta.

Renteria was first taken into custody on April 24 and posted an unspecified bond, after which he was released. Jail records indicated, however, that he was re-arrested at his residence on Magnolia Avenue by sheriff's deputies on Saturday.

Since Jan. 4, the defendant has been on indefinite leave from his job as a firefighter-paramedic with Cal Fire, which has long contracted with Riverside County for fire protection services. It was unclear whether he was still drawing a salary Angeles last year.

Pascua says the technology complements Cal Fire's work.

"As the fire moves and shifts around, that's where the human factor comes in and decides which tactics are best in fighting the fire. AI can only do so much," he said. "It just provides that real time information where we can make better decisions on the fire ground."

AI firefighting assistance is not limited to detection

AI can also be employed to identify the best places to thin vegetation and burn cool fires, and even to monitor air quality for signs of smoke, just like your home's carbon monoxide sensor, said Roberts, but "1,000 times more sensitive."

At George Mason University in Virginia, professor Chao-wei "Phil" Yang is working with researchers from California State University of Los Angeles, the city of LA and NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory to create a system that forecasts where a fire will burn and which communities will be hardest hit by smoke pollution.

The idea is to give agencies real-time maps so they can make quick, life-saving decisions about evacuations, school and road closures, and send out early air quality warnings. Yang said they hope the technology will be operational in three years.

"AI in wildfires, it's no longer just speculative. It's really being used," said Roberts, and it's use will only continue to grow.

"The future is AI everywhere," he said, "and the lines will blur between AI wildfire detection and just wildfire detection as the lines will blur in other areas of our life."

Property Owners Reminded to File Tax Reduction Requests ASAP

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Riverside County property owners who believe their home, business or other fixed asset fell in value in the last year -- and therefore should be taxed less -- were encouraged Tuesday to apply for assessment reductions as soon as possible.

"Our office reviews market conditions each year to determine where adjustments are warranted under Proposition 8," county Assessor-Clerk-Recorder Peter Aldana said. "For property owners who believe their value needs additional review, the request for review provides a direct way for us to take a closer look."

Property tax assessments for the most recent tax year are valued as of Jan. 1.

Aldana said that, ideally, reduction requests should be submitted by May 15 to give the office more than enough time to conduct research and set a date for a hearing, if necessary. However, under state law, owners are free to file requests until Nov. 1.

That provision paves the way for hearings before Assessment Appeals officers and boards if reductions are not approved after the initial filing.

Prop 8 followed voter approval nearly five decades ago of Proposition 13. That statewide property tax mitigation measure, spearheaded by Howard Jarvis, resulted in inflation controls specifying that taxes can only go up on an additional 2% of tax increment each year, though there are exceptions.

Details on how to file Prop 8 review requests can be found at rivcoacr.org/decline-in-value-proposition-8.

Riverside County's Jobless Rate Falls in March

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - The unemployment rate in Riverside County dropped in March as payroll gains topped losses throughout the regional economy, according to figures released Friday by the California Employment Development Department.

The countywide jobless rate in March, based on preliminary EDD estimates, was 5.1%, compared to 5.4% in February.

According to figures, the March rate equaled the year-ago level, when countywide unemployment also stood at 5.1%.

EDD posted its most recent data outside of the agency's usual schedule due to an annual statistical revision process done in concert with the U.S. Department of Labor known as "benchmarking," which is intended to improve accuracy of results. The process will wrap up this month, at which point jobless numbers for the last year will be fully updated and available.

The latest agency estimates indicated that Cherry Valley had the highest unemployment rate within the county during March at 9.5%, followed by Blythe at 9.4%, Coachella at 7.7%, Rancho Mirage and March Air Reserve Base, each at 7.5%, and Cabazon and Hemet, each at 7.1%.

The combined unemployment rate for Riverside and San Bernardino counties

-- the Inland Empire -- was also 5.1%, down from 5.3% in February, the EDD said.

Bi-county data indicated that payrolls expanded by the widest margin in health-care services, where 6,400 positions were added in March.

Additional gains were recorded in the agricultural, construction, information technology and public sectors, which altogether grew by an aggregate 3,500 positions, figures showed. Miscellaneous unclassified industries similarly posted an increase of 200 jobs.

Payrolls declined by the largest amount in the broad category designated trade, transportation and utilities, where an estimated 2,600

See Something, Say Something. New Ways to Report Fraud, Waste or Abuse by County Agencies

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Riverside County government employees, as well as those who contract with the county for any type of business, with knowledge of "fraud, waste and abuse" occurring in any agency now have new resources available to anonymously report violations online or via telephone.

In a 4-0 vote without comment Tuesday, the county Board of Supervisors formally approved the Executive Office's revised "anonymous incident reporting system."

Anyone associated with county government who has witnessed or become aware of alleged acts that conflict with the county's Code of Ethics can file reports via auditorcontroller.org, or 833-590-0004.

The phone number features prompts, while the website directs visitors to a site listed at the top of the home page designated "Report Fraud, Waste and Abuse 24/7."

Previously, there were other online and telephonic reporting methods available, but they've been deactivated. "It is the duty of every employee to report any known violation of this (ethical conduct) policy, or what would appear to a reasonable person to be a violation of this policy," according to board Policy C-35. "Examples of reportable offenses include theft, conflicts of interest, misuse of county equipment or vehicles, embezzlement, bribes and kickbacks, abuse of work hours (and) inappropriate use of county credit cards."

Policy C-35 was first implemented in January 1991 and later underwent revisions based on the California Citizen Complaint Act of 1997 and related legislation.

The county's auditor-controller, currently Ben Benoit, is recognized as the initial processor of fraud, waste and abuse complaints, which are then assigned to the appropriate investigating agency, inside or outside the county.

"County employees shall adhere to and uphold the county's Code of Ethics both in practice and in spirit," according to the policy. "It is expected that employees act in the public's interest first and not their own. It is further expected that their behavior, both on the job and off, reflects positively on the county, its reputation and its employees."

jobs were lost in March, mainly in warehousing. The financial services, hospitality, manufacturing and professional business services sectors sank by a total 2,500 positions, according to EDD.

The mining sector was unchanged.

The statewide non-seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate in March was 5.2%.

Election Observer Tours Now Available at Registrar's Office

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - Beginning this past Tuesday and continuing to the day of the primary election, Riverside County residents interested in seeing how the Office of the Registrar of Voters processes vote-by-mail ballots and coordinates other tasks are welcome to have a look.

"Election Observer Tours" will be held every Tuesday and Thursday until June 2, according to officials.

"We invite community members to engage with the democratic process and learn how their votes are counted," Registrar of Voters Art Tinoco said. "Together, let's ensure a fair, accurate and transparent election for all."

The tours, which will facilitate a maximum of 20 people at a time, will be held at the agency's headquarters at 2720 Gateway Drive in Riverside, generally from 11 a.m. to noon, or 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The Office of the Registrar of Voters has been a lightning rod of debate for the past two decades, struggling to counter accusations of negligent chain-of-custody policies, inaccurate voter rolls and unsecured electronic ballot tabulations.

The office has also contended with re-occurring red ink on its budget and from time to time has been called out for laggard vote counts, running sometimes weeks after election day.

Tinoco is the fourth registrar at the helm since 2006. He has made transparency one of his priorities during election cycles, starting in 2024.

For more information on observer tours, residents were asked to make reservations by calling 951-486-7200.

Information regarding where to vote early and other considerations can be found at <https://voteinfo.net>.

How a Weaker Dollar Is Quietly Making Life More Expensive

By MATT SEDENSKY AP National Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A hidden force is quietly pushing up costs for everything from your summer vacation to your weekly grocery bills: a weaker U.S. dollar.

The dollar has fallen about 10% against other major currencies since President Donald Trump returned to the White House, a pullback potentially playing a role in Americans' concerns about affordability.

"It's kind of a hidden tax," says economist Thomas Savidge of the conservative-leaning American Institute for Economic Research. "What your dollar is going to be able to buy is going to shrink."

A look at where the dollar stands and what it means for you:

Historic dollar decline

The U.S. Dollar Index, which measures the greenback against other major currencies, logged its steepest six-month drop in more than 50 years in the first half of 2025. Though the decline hasn't deepened, the dollar index is still about 10% lower than the start of Trump's term.

A strong dollar makes imports cheaper and can help keep inflation in check. A weak one can increase prices on foreign goods but boost American exports.

U.S. presidents have long voiced support for a strong dollar even as they pursued policies that, at times, pushed the currency lower. Trump has suggested a strong dollar puts the U.S. at a disadvantage and that a weak dollar helps American industry. And as with most things with Trump, he's been blunter in his messaging.

"You make a hell of a lot more money with a weaker dollar," he said last year, one of a number of public statements showing his preference for seeing the dollar decline.

Big multinationals benefit

Trump isn't alone in seeing benefits of a weaker buck.

In recent months, corporate earnings calls have been peppered with talk of how a weaker dollar has helped companies from Philip Morris to Coca-Cola, with executives pulling out C-suite phrases like "favorable currency impact" to note how the dip brought tailwinds outside the U.S. that added to bottom lines.

"In many cases, we've got a weaker dollar, which is not unhelpful," Elie Maalouf, the CEO of InterContinental Hotels, said on a February call as the company announced higher profits and revenues.

For big multinational companies that do business overseas, it's a different story, particularly if they are reliant on importing goods.

Travis Madeira, a fourth-generation lobsterman who founded the lobster-shipping business LobsterBoys with his brother, makes about 80% of his sales to Americans, unlike some competitors who primarily export.

"The exporters are gonna have the advantage when it comes to the dollar weakening," says Madeira, who is paying more to import bait and buy Canadian lobsters. "These guys are gonna have a little bit of a lever on us."

Smaller companies hurt

Even among companies that do have a presence outside the U.S., the dollar's fall can have an impact. While many big companies hedge currency to try and insulate themselves or push more sales overseas, smaller businesses are often more susceptible to the turbulence.

David Navazio, CEO of fallen, increasing Gentell's costs.

Gentell has had to raise some prices to reflect the currency fluctuation, which stacks on top of other challenges, including tariffs and war-related spikes to fuel costs.

"A year ago, none of these were concerns," he says. "And it always hurts the consumer."

Other currencies rise

For the American consumer, the reality of a declining dollar is most obvious during foreign travel or when making a purchase directly from an international seller.

Cross the border into Mexico, the top foreign destination of Americans, and your dollar is about 16% weaker versus the peso compared with early 2025. Declines of about 10% to 17% have been recorded elsewhere, including against the Swiss franc, South African rand, Danish krone, Swedish krona and the Euro.

of a currency dip is passed on to consumers.

But they are an added stress when prices are already affected by other factors.

Take coffee, one of the grocery items that has seen the biggest price hike in the past year. Brazil is the biggest source of coffee for the U.S. and the dollar has fallen around 13% versus its real. Currency fluctuations can hit harder in developing economies and, while only a fraction of the change may feed into coffee's ballooning price, every bit can pile up. Coffee prices are up nearly 19% in the U.S. in the past year, according to government data.

Expect more movement

Currency values are constantly moving and, while the dollar's recent fall is notable, it has reached lower levels at points in the presidencies of each of Trump's predecessors, back through the creation of the Dollar Index in 1973, when Richard Nixon was at the helm.

Kenneth Rogoff, a Harvard University economist and former chief economist at the International Monetary Fund, says while "a lot of policies that Trump is doing are something of a cancer for the dollar," he believes that it was destined to fall no matter who was in charge.

"The dollar had been on a 15-year bull run," he said. "I would argue the dollar is still wildly overvalued, and over the next maybe five or six years, it might fall 15%."

What does that mean for American consumers? Rogoff says

Legendary Memorial Day Motorcycle Ride Returns to Riverside

RIVERSIDE (CNS) - A Memorial Day motorcycle ride through Riverside intended to honor members of the U.S. Armed Services is set to go again three weeks from Monday, featuring various stops, including Riverside National Cemetery, and ending with a concert.

"West Coast Thunder" is scheduled to roar to life on the morning of May 25.

Riverside Harley-Davidson always hosts the event, which began in 2000 when the dealership belonged to Skip Fordyce and operated under that banner.

More than 7,500 motorcycle enthusiasts are expected to take part in this year's ride.

The event returned in May 2023 following a three-year hiatus, initially stemming from the COVID lockdowns, then ongoing concerns that led to further cancellations.

This year's event will get underway in front of the dealership at 7688 Indiana Ave., with motorcyclists bearing American flags and other ensigns starting to assemble about 6 a.m. on May 25. They'll leave the location at 9:11 a.m., under escort by Riverside police officers, Riverside County sheriff's deputies and other law enforcement personnel, proceeding up Alessandro Boulevard to south Riverside, where residents regularly gather on sidewalks to wave and show support.

The ride will then transition to Van Buren Boulevard, where some participants will peel off to Riverside National Cemetery to pay their respects, while others will loop back to downtown Riverside via area freeways, making a wide sweep that will conclude near the Riverside Municipal Auditorium.

The exact route had not been announced as of Monday. However, West Coast Thunder Foundation Director Jackson Dodd said two local bands, The New Originals and Travis Humble Heritage Harmonic, had been confirmed to perform for riders and other celebrants in the Historic Downtown space, beginning in the early afternoon of May 25.

"There is a unique synergy between the rumble of a motorcycle engine and the rhythm of live rock and roll," Dodd said. "Bringing The New Originals and Travis Humble into the fold allows us to celebrate our local culture while maintaining our focus on honoring those who have served."

There will be a beer garden and other activities during the afternoon entertainment.

In previous years, the rides traveled farther east to San Jacinto, or farther south into the Temecula Valley.

A large share of proceeds raised from the rides and musical shows are donated to the Riverside National Cemetery Support Committee, which relies on contributions to build monuments and make other improvements at the hallowed grounds, where over 250,000 U.S. military veterans, police officers, firefighters and others are interred.

More than $1 million has been generated over the past two decades, and even when the rides weren't held, the West Coast Thunder Foundation continued donation drives to support the cemetery.

More information about the rides is available at <https://www.westcoastthunder.com/>.

A Lawmaker Pushes Lowrider License Plate Proposal

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - A Los Angeles lawmaker Tuesday announced a proposal to create California license plates honoring lowrider culture -- with proceeds funding community programs -- as the measure advances in the state legislature.

Assemblymember Mark González, D-Los Angeles has introduced a bill to honor the history of California lowriders on state license plates.

The proposal, Assembly Bill 2541, was introduced by Assemblymember Mark González, D-Los Angeles.

Under the measure, funds generated from the sale of the plates would be directed to programs and nonprofit organizations supporting lowrider culture across California.

"As California once again looks to uplift our lowrider community, we must center ourselves and remind each historical significance of lowriding, which originated in California decades ago as a form of artistic and social expression, particularly within Latino communities.

"Low riders are an important expression of culture, values, and creativity," said state Sen. Susan Rubio, D-West Covina. "We should not shrink our culture or our identity. This bill is crucial for preserving this art form, along with finances that advocates said disproportionately targeted the community.

Backers of the bill said the license plate program would provide a dedicated funding stream to preserve the tradition and support future generations.

The measure must clear additional legislative steps before it can be sent to the governor for consideration.

A Tangy Dressing Flavors This Recipe for MEX-ITALIAN CHICKEN THIGHS With Roasted Tomatillos

By MARCELA VALLADOLID Voracious

My kids love this dish from my cookbook "Familia" because of the crispy chicken skin. You are essentially creating a confit where the chicken cooks in its own fat.

The flavor comes from the smoky and tangy dressing, which you don't have to make in a molcajete, but if you have one please use it. The magic of the molcajete, a pre-Hispanic mortar and pestle, is its ability to extract oils in a way the blades of a food processor can't. With the molcajete, flavors are deeper and richer, and the texture is superior as well.

The roasted tomatillos are the perfect counterpoint to the succulent and juicy chicken. When picking your tomatillos, go for a medium size and look for smooth pieces with no cracks or bruises. The bigger ones are too bitter, and the smaller ones burn quickly.

Mex-Italian Chicken Thighs with Roasted Tomatillos
Serves 4 to 6

Ingredients

6 bone-in chicken thighs with skin
3/4 cup Mex-Italian Dressing, or purchased Italian dressing
2 pounds medium tomatillos, husks removed, very well rinsed
1 tablespoon extra-virgin olive oil
1 teaspoon any garlicky-citrusy seasoning you like Flaky sea salt and freshly ground black pepper

Directions

Place the chicken thighs in a large resealable plastic bag, add the dressing, and toss to coat. Let stand at room temperature for an hour, moving the thighs occasionally to make sure they are evenly covered in the marinade.

Preheat the oven to 475°F. Toss the tomatillos with the olive oil, seasoning, salt, and pepper and transfer to a large rimmed baking sheet. Roast until browned and caramelized, about 30 minutes.

Heat a large cast-iron skillet over high heat. Remove the thighs from their bag, shaking off as much of the marinade as possible. Add all the thighs to the skillet, skin side down, and cook until browned, about 12 minutes. It's important that the thighs are snug as a bug as they will create steam and moisture and won't brown too much. Transfer the skillet to the oven and continue to cook, skin side down, 7 minutes longer. Remove the skillet from the oven and carefully flip the chicken skin side up. Return the skillet to the oven and continue to cook for 10 minutes, or until fully cooked.

Let stand for 10 minutes before serving. Transfer to a platter, surround with the roasted tomatillos, and serve.

Mex-Italian Dressing
Makes 1 ½ cups
Ingredients

5 garlic cloves, unpeeled
2 dried guajillo chiles, stems and seeds removed ½ teaspoon black peppercorns
½ teaspoon coriander seeds
Flaky sea salt
1 teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon dried oregano
1 teaspoon dried parsley
1 teaspoon dried basil

1 teaspoon onion powder
1 cup extra-virgin olive oil
½ cup red wine vinegar
Freshly ground black pepper

Directions

Heat a comal or large cast-iron skillet over very high heat. Add the unpeeled garlic and toast until blackened, about 5 minutes. Add the guajillos, peppercorns, and coriander seeds and toast until fragrant, about 2 minutes, moving them constantly.

Peel the garlic and place in a molcajete. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and mash to a paste. It will seem like it's all stuck to the walls of the molcajete, but that's OK! Add the toasted peppercorns and coriander, then mash. Add the toasted chiles and mash them against the walls of the molcajete until disintegrated. Add all the remaining ingredients, except the olive oil, vinegar, and black pepper, and mash into the paste.

Add 1/3 cup of the olive oil and stir/mash to slowly create a dressing. Gradually add the remaining oil. Scrape into a bowl and whisk in the vinegar. Season to taste with additional salt and black pepper.

Pineapple Slaw

By Connor Forbes

I can hear you thinking already. Oh, come on, is this another garden recipe and what in the heck is pineapple slaw. Lucky for you, I am here to answer your questions and make cooking easier.

First question, yes and no. I did grow the cabbage in my yard, but I did not grow the pineapple. Though you totally can grow pineapple in your yard in Southern California. I do not. I don't have the space or patience they require.

Second question, pineapple slaw is coleslaw with pineapple. Don't overthink it. It's bomb.

Ingredients

• ½ cabbage sliced as thin as possible

- 1 cup diced pineapple
- 2 tbsp seasoned rice vinegar
- 1 tbsp mayo
- 1 tbsp diced cilantro
- 1 tbsp diced basil

To Make

Combine all ingredients in a bowl and mix. Eat immediately or chill and eat later. Serve with grilled meats, pulled pork, or by itself as a side to any dish.

THE DEVIL WEARS PRADA 2

By JAKE COYLE AP Film Writer

Fashion trends are notoriously fickle but some things, like Meryl Streep and Stanley Tucci, never go out of style.

So you can see why making “The Devil Wears Prada 2,” two decades after the original, was hard to resist. The cast, led by Anne Hathaway, have hardly aged. The then-little-known Emily Blunt has turned into a star. Throw in some stiletto heels and a few T.J. Maxx quips and the thing practically writes itself.

Yet time has worn on “The Devil Wears Prada 2,” a fitfully functional sequel that doesn’t fit its cast nearly as snugly as the 2006 original did. Nostalgia, haute couture and the sheer appeal of Streep and Tucci will be enough for some to celebrate this 20-year reunion. The actors all don their old roles seamlessly. But the trouble with “The Devil Wears Prada 2” isn’t its winning cast. It’s that everything else has changed. The sequel, which returns director David Frankel and screenwriter Aline Brosh McKenna, valiantly tries to catch up to the times, but the result is enough to make you wish they had said “That’s all” after the first one.

The sequel takes place in a very different media ecosystem. In the opening scenes of the new film, Andrea Sachs (Hathaway) receives an award for her investigative journalism for a newspaper called The Vanguard only to, moments before her speech, find out that she and her colleagues have been laid off. If Chanel-styled escapism is part of the promise of “The Devil Wears Prada,” reporters will likely find it soberly realistic. There is, for better and worse, an awful lot of Hathaway preaching about the power of journalism here.

Things at Runway aren’t much better, either. The magazine is more digital than glossy now; going viral matters more than shaping fashion trends. After the magazine unwittingly publishes a laudatory profile of a label soon after revealed to be a sweatshop, Runway chair Irv Ravitz (Tibor Feldman), in PR crisis mode, hires Andrea to run the features department.

So it takes quite a bit of narrative cross stitching to, 20 years later, make Miranda Priestly (Streep) Andrea’s boss again. At their reunion, an overexcited Andy is met by a typically cool Miranda, who characteristically doesn’t even remember her. Their task of reviving the reputation of Runway gets significantly more difficult when Irv’s tech bro son (B.J. Novak) takes over ownership. Further corporate jeopardy follows when other players — including Blunt’s Emily Charlton, now a Dior executive, and her wealthy boyfriend, Benji Barnes (Justin Theroux) — join the mix.

The second “Devil Wears Prada” plays out a bit like a fashion world “Succession,” with better clothes and a lot less cursing. While these shifting power dynamics make for some dramatic reversals, they don’t get near the pure enjoyment of the novice assistant-tyrannical boss relationship that defined the original.

That might be the real rub of “The Devil Wears Prada 2”: Mid-life career changes aren’t nearly as compelling or relatable as a newbie assistant thrown into the high-fashion fire. All we really want is to see Meryl Streep say cutting things to Anne Hathaway, with a few zingers from a well-tailored Tucci on the side.

The sequel delivers a little of that, but it mostly tries to cover its narrative issues with trips to the Hamptons and Milan, and a long list of cameos, from Karl-Anthony Towns (go Knicks) to Kara Swisher.

What else has gone by the wayside? The cruel boss. “The Devil Wears Prada” might have very well had Miranda, in the intervening years, be canceled and have to claw back her seat of power. Instead, she has two assistants. One, played by Simone Ashley, is a sharp-elbowed heir to Blunt’s character. The other, played by Caleb Hearon, is smiley and chipper. Andy has an assistant (Helen J. Shen) too, but they get along terrifically.

In the workplace, this would be called progress. On the screen, it’s a setback. Everyone, even Miranda, is a bit too, well, nice in “The Devil Wears Prada 2.” We should relish every Streep performance. It’s been five years since she had a major role in a movie; a once constant joy of moviegoing has turned infrequent. I wouldn’t begrudge anyone who just wants to see her and these actors together again. But the movie, well stocked in Prada, could have used a bit more of Streep’s unflappable devil.

‘The Devil Wears Prada 2’ Opens with $77 Million to Lead Box Office

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - “The Devil Wears Prada 2” opened with $77 million this weekend to lead all films in North America, according to industry estimates released Sunday.

The sequel to 2006’s comedic drama about the fashion industry, in which Meryl Streep plays a character loosely based on longtime Vogue editor Anna Wintour, was directed by David Frankel, who also helmed the first film.

“Michael,” the biopic about Michael Jackson starring the late pop superstar’s nephew Jaafar Jeremiah Jackson in the title role, grossed $54 million in its second weekend, Comscore reported.

“The Super Mario Galaxy Movie” was third with $12.1 million Friday through Sunday in its fifth weekend in theaters in the United States and Canada.

“Project Hail Mary” was fourth with $8.5 million in its seventh week, followed by the horror film “Hokum,” which opened with $6.4 million.

“Animal Farm,” an animated version of George Orwell’s 1945 novel directed by Andy Serkis, opened in sixth place with $3.4 million.

Rounding out the top 10 releases were “Lee Cronin’s The Mummy” ($2.2 million), “Deep Water” ($2.1 million), “That Time I Got Reincarnated as a Slime the Movie: Tears of the Azure Sea 2026” ($1 million) and “The Drama” ($908,303).

This weekend’s overall three-day box office haul was estimated at $172.5 million. The year-to-date total is $2.794 billion -- up 14% from the figure at this time last year, according to Comscore.

Whether your mom enjoys champagne, wine, or even sparkling cider, this floral centerpiece will keep people talking for years to come.

What you need

- Four Styrofoam or floral foam blocks
- Three artificial flower bouquet arrangements (variety)
- Two-leaf filler picks
- Two artificial flower picks (same type)
- One bottle of something bubbly
- Eight toothpicks

Scissors

How to Make it

Step 1: Unwrap the floral foam and arrange it in a square.

Step 2: Remove the tags from all the bouquets.

Step 3: Insert two toothpicks into the right-facing side of the bottom-left foam block at an angle, with the points facing you.

Step 4: Take the bottom-right block and press it onto the toothpicks to connect the blocks without tape or glue.

Step 5: Repeat the process with the top-left block. Insert toothpicks into the front-facing side of the bottom-left block, angling them diagonally to the right.

How to Get Perfect Paint Lines Every Time: 5 Pro Tips for Clean Edges

Spring is prime time for home painting projects—from refreshing walls to tackling trim, doors and cabinets. While a new coat of paint can transform a room, the difference between professional-looking results and a frustrating DIY experience can come down to one detail: clean, crisp edges.

Paint bleed, uneven lines and messy corners are some of the most common challenges homeowners face—but they're also avoidable. Here are five science-backed tips to make your spring painting projects look like they were done by a pro.

1. Understand Why Paint Bleeds

If you've ever removed painter's tape and found uneven lines underneath, you're not alone. Paint bleed happens when liquid paint slips into tiny gaps between the tape and the surface—a common issue on textured walls, wood and trim. Even if the tape looks firmly in place, small imperfections can allow paint to creep underneath, resulting in jagged edges.

The good news? Once you understand what causes paint to bleed, it's much easier to prevent it—and get the results you want.

2. Block Paint Bleed Before It Starts

The secret to sharp paint edges isn't just technique—it's using the proper tool for the task. Premium performance painter's tapes, like FrogTape, do more than just stick to the surface. Its PaintBlock Technology is a super-absorbent polymer that reacts with the water in latex paint to form a micro-barrier along the tape's edge. This creates a gel-like seal that helps block paint from seeping underneath—preventing paint bleed before it even starts.

Similar super-absorbent technology has been used for years in everyday products (like baby diapers), where locking in moisture is key. Here, it's what helps keep your paint lines clean and precise.

3. Match the Tape to Your Surface

Don't use the same tape for every project. One of the most effective ways to get sharp paint lines is to pick the perfect tape for the unique surface you're working on to ensure a

Step 8: Push the top-right block onto the exposed toothpicks from both blocks.

Step 9: Once all four blocks are secured, cut one flower stem at a time and insert it into the foam. Start with larger flowers, then fill in with smaller flowers and greenery.

Step 10: Leave a small opening in the top center of the foam to hold your bottle of bubbly.

Step 11: Continue adding flowers until no foam is visible.

Step 12: You're done.

Tip: Insert flowers behind the bottle to add height to the centerpiece.

Perfect Paint

strong seal. Here are two options to choose from to help achieve better results, reduce touch-ups and protect surfaces:

- Multi-surface painter’s tape: Perfect for wood trim, glass, metal and walls, where a stronger hold helps create crisp lines

- Delicate surface painter’s tape: Designed for use on freshly painted surfaces, wallpaper or decorative projects where you need lower adhesion to prevent surface damage

4. Use Tape That Bends Without Breaking

For challenging contours or curves, like arched doorways or mantels, high-quality material matters. An ultra-premium painter’s tape, like FrogTape Advanced Painter’s Tape, offers elevated performance when it comes to super sharp paint lines. The tape’s thin, yet strong washi paper backing is two times stronger than traditional crepe paper painter’s tape, allowing the tape to lay flat and bend around curves, so it peels off in one clean piece rather than shredding and leaving residue behind.

5. Remove Tape at the Right Time and Angle

Even the best taping technique can fall short if removal isn’t done correctly. For the cleanest lines, remove tape slowly at a 45-degree angle while the paint is still slightly wet.

If the paint fully dries, it can form a bond between the tape and the surface. When the tape is pulled away, that bond may cause chipping or uneven edges—undoing the crisp lines you’ve worked to achieve.

By combining the right approach and tape, with proper application and careful removal, you can consistently achieve sharp-looking paint lines on every project. (StatePoint)

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS:
If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on this property.

Please be advised that the trustee may require entity or trust bidders at this trustee's sale to provide information, documentation and/or certification of the vesting instructions and the data required to be reported pursuant to FinCEN regulations effective for transfers of residential real property to covered transferees on or after March 1, 2026. The required information must be provided to the trustee before a trustee's deed upon sale will be issued for covered transfers. Additional information regarding these regulations and the required transferee information and certifications can be found at <https://www.federalregister.gov/documents/2024/08/29/2024-19198/anti-moneylaunderingregulationsforresidential-realestatetransfers> and https://www.fincen.gov/rrefaqs#d_5

AN ANCILLARY PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by RONALD KEITH MCDEARMON in the Superior Court of California, County of RIVERSIDE.

(This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Mark Miller aka Mark Vincent Miller.
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Tierra Anice-Marie Miller-Johnson in the Superior Court of California, County of Riverside.
THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Tierra Anice-Marie Miller-Johnson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.
THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A HEARING on the petition will be held on 7/1/2026 at 8:30am in Department 8 located at 4050 Main St, Riverside, CA 92501.
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 702-659-7766 or visit this Internet Web site www.insourcelogic.com, using the file number assigned to this case 26-103. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site www.insourcelogic.com. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 702-659-7766, or visit this internet website www.insourcelogic.com, using the file number assigned to this case 26-103 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. The undersigned mortgagee, beneficiary or authorized agent for the mortgagee or beneficiary pursuant to California Civil Code 2923.5(b) declares that the mortgagee, beneficiary or the mortgagee's or beneficiary's authorized agent has either contacted the borrower or tried with due diligence to contact the borrower as required by California Civil Code 2923.5. 2923.54. PUBLIC NOTICE

This is a public notice that the City of Corona's Planning and Housing Commission will conduct a public hearing in the City Council Chambers at 400 S. Vicentia Avenue, on Wednesday, May 27, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. or thereafter upon the following:

ZTA2026-0002: A request for a Zone Text Amendment to Section 17.44.030 of Chapter 17.44 (Industrial Zones) to allow "Religious Facilities not exceeding an overall combined floor area of 10,000 square feet" as a conditionally permitted use within the M-4 (Industrial Park) Zone, and amend other sections in Title 17 (Zoning) to replace the term "Church" with "Religious Facilities."

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) – Per Section 15061(b)(3) of the State Guidelines for Implementing the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) and Section 3.06 of the City's Local CEQA Guidelines, a Notice of Exemption has been prepared for this project. Section 15061(b)(3), commonly referred to as the common sense exemption, provides that CEQA applies only to projects that have the potential for causing a significant effect on the environment. Where it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility that the activity in question may have a significant effect on the environment, the activity is not subject to CEQA. The proposed amendment involves text revisions to the Industrial Zones Land Use Table and other sections of the Corona Municipal Code which in and of itself would not result in a significant effect on the environment and therefore qualifies for exemption.

(Applicant: Bruce Rouman, Congregation Beth Shalom)

This is a public hearing, and you are invited to attend and comment on the applications described above. If you challenge any portion of this project in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered at, or prior to, the public hearing. If you have written comments that you wish to be included in the staff report, please deliver them to the Planning and Housing Commission Secretary, on or before the Wednesday prior to the meeting. If you have questions about this notice or the application to be heard, please call Associate Planner, Brendan Dalde, in the Planning and Development Department at (951) 736-2262.

The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the County where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916)939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2500292797 Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916)939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://search.nationwideposting.com/propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2500292797 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney.
